EISENHOWER ARRIVES IN HAWAII

Truman Slams Door On Talk With Ike, Mac

President Is Terse, Angry In Statement

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP) — President Truman today denounced President - elect Dwight D. Eisenhower's trip to Korea as a piece of demagoguery and said he doubts that Gen. Douglas MacArthur has any new solution to end the Korean War.

Virtually slamming the door on proposals for a White House meeting with Eisenhower and MacArthur, the President told his news conference he believes such a conference would serve no useful purpose.

Congressmen Make Proposals

The proposals had been made by members of Congress. Truman said that as a matter of courtesy he would be glad to see Eisenhower and MacArthur at any time if they have anything to discuss. But he made it clear the initiative would have to come from them.

The President also made it plain that although he considers it MacArthur's duty as a soldier to come forward if he has any solution for the war—and to present it through military channels—Truman does not plan to force the general's hand.

It is a little late for that now, the President said.

In scornful tones, Truman said he doubts that MacArthur has anything new to offer beyond the proposals made last year and rejected by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

And he accused MacArthur of giving him what he termed a lot of misinformation about events in Korea when they met on Wake Island to discuss the Far East situation on Oct. 14, 1950.

The President said that during the campaign he himself had been urged to announce that he would go to Korea and that the war would be over by Christmas. He turned the proposal down, he said.

Specifically, Truman said MacArthur told him at their historic meeting on Wake Island that —

1. The Chinese Communists would not enter the Korean War, as they did a few weeks later.

2. MacArthur was sure the war was over.

3. A division of U. S. troops could be spared from Korea for occupation duty in Germany by Jan. 1, 1951.

Doesn't Want Meeting

Truman fired MacArthur from his Far East command on April 11, 1951, six months after their mid-Pacific meeting.

Asked whether he thought the Joint Chiefs of Staff should ask MacArthur to come to Washington and spell out his views on the Korean conflict, Truman said he thinks the joint chiefs know all about what is in MacArthur's mind.

He said dryly if the joint chiefs want to hear it again, that is all right with him.

Capping a series of terse, angry blasts at MacArthur, Truman declared at one point that he hasn't seen the general since their Wake Island meeting and doesn't want to see him.

Following his return to this country, MacArthur laid his views before the Senate Armed Services Committee at some length more than a year ago. Among other things, he advocated (1) bombing Communist bases in Manchuria, (2) a blockade of the Red China coast, and (3) use of Generalissimo

Ships Collide, 51 Are Rescued

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11 (AP) — A grinding collision at slow speed sent the 416-foot Norwegian ms. Fernstream to the bottom of San Francisco Bay today.

The crew of 40 and 11 passengers, including four children, were picked up safely by the coast guard and by commercial craft just before the combination freight and passenger vessel sank stern first, about midway between Golden Gate Bridge and Alcatraz Island prison.

The Fernstream was rammed amidship, on the port side, by the Matson freighter, Hawaiian Rancher. The Rancher, not damaged vitally, proceeded under her own steam to a shipyard for survey. She carried five passengers and a cargo of 8,000 tons of raw sugar and 2,000 tons of molasses from Hawaii.

The accident occurred about 7:30 a. m. in a dense, murky drizzle. The surface of the bay was quite smooth. The Fernstream was outbound for Manila, Hong Kong and Yokohama. The Hawaiian Rancher had just crossed under Golden Gate Bridge to enter the bay.

NATO Military Heads Agree To Use Atomic Weapons For Defense

Mediterranean Naval Leader Chosen In Charge Of Strategic Plans

PARIS, Dec. 11 (AP)—The military leaders of the Atlantic Alliance said tonight they had agreed upon the use of atomic weapons in a revised strategic plan for the defense of Europe. The plan also included:

The possible use of West German and Yugoslav armed forces.

A new naval command in the Mediterranean.

Gen. Charles Foulkes of Canada, chairman of the military committee of the 14-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), made these points at a news conference.

Agree On Commander

He said the military chiefs also had agreed on the commander for the new Mediterranean setup — after a two-year deadlock between Britain and the United States—but refused to give his name.

Highly placed NATO sources said Adm. Lord Mountbatten, commander of Britain's Mediterranean fleet and a third cousin of the late king George VI, is slated for the job.

In disclosing that atomic weapons now figure in the allies' new strategic plans, Foulkes pointed out that the United States is required by law to withhold from other nations its information on atomic developments.

But this "does not interfere with making military plans," he said. "We don't need to know what's inside them to know what they will do as a military weapon."

Some of Europe's military men, feeling their financial resources would not permit NATO to meet its target of 98 divisions by the end of 1954, as set at Lisbon early this year, have been casting an eye toward atomic weapons in the hope they might lighten the demands for armed manpower.

No Formal Alliance

Consideration of the use of West German and Yugoslav armed forces apparently is in the same pattern. Yugoslavia has no formal alliance with the western nations, and West Germany's manpower has not yet been committed by ratification of the six-nation European army pact.

Foulkes said no special significance should be attached to the mention of Yugoslavia and West Germany because the conference here "covered the whole field of intelligence and planning."

He announced also that the military committee had approved a vast military building program for 1953, reported to include 35 more air fields at a cost of 400 million dollars.

Wiley Charges U. N. Security Is "Inadequate"

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 11 (AP)—Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis) charged tonight the system worked out by the State Department and the United Nations for running down subversives in the U. N. is "hopelessly inadequate." He said the next Congress will consider barring funds for the U. N. and its agencies unless effective security is established quickly.

Wiley issued a statement as a senator and not as a U. N. delegate. At the same time the U. N. disclosed Secretary General Trygve Lie has fired Irving Schiller, an American archivist employed at the U. N. office in Geneva.

Still On Payroll

State Department officials yesterday told the McCarran committee, investigating subversives in the U. N., that 12 out of 40 Americans judged to be bad security risks by the department were still on the U. N. payroll. They also told of a confidential arrangement worked out by the department and Lie in 1949 for the ouster of American Communists or potential Communists from the U. N.

Wiley blistered this arrangement in one of the strongest statements he has yet issued in the investigation of subversives here. He said Lie was specifically authorized to receive confidential information from the State Department, but that the department has failed to give such communications to back up estimates of individuals reported to Lie.

He stated that no loyal U. N. employe need fear the investigation. He said the committee has done a conscientious job.

Schiller was called home from Geneva recently to appear before the McCarran committee. Schiller testified he is not now a Communist, but invoked the Fifth Amendment of the Constitution in refusing to say whether he ever had been a Communist or a member of a subversive organization.

19 Americans Dismissed

A U. N. source said Schiller's dismissal brought to 19 the number of Americans fired for refusing to answer questions of the McCarran committee and to 29 the number whose connections with the U. N. have been ended in one way or another on the basis of adverse security information. Lie has about a dozen other cases under review.

Two former members of the U. N. family refused today to tell the McCarran group whether they ever had been members of the Communist party. They were Benjamin Wermiel, who resigned from the United Nations Educational, Social and Cultural Organization and Miss Alfreda Abell, who was discharged from the U. N. Secretariat last June.

Tobacco Heir Weds Descendant Of Grandee

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 11 (AP)—The United States' youngest ambassador, Angier Biddle Duke, was married in a private Roman Catholic ceremony today to the dark-eyed grand-daughter of a Spanish grandee.

Duke, 37, heir to a tobacco fortune and a descendant of banker Nicholas Biddle, met his 29-year-old bride, Maria Lusia de Arana of Bilbao, while in the diplomatic service in Madrid. He is now ambassador to El Salvador. She is the granddaughter of the 10th Marques de Camporeal.

Approves Program

BRUSSELLS, Belgium, Dec. 11 (AP)—The House of Representatives today approved a military program giving Belgium 180,000 men in the armed forces next year in addition to 30,000 in anti-aircraft defense.

Christine Jorgensen Meets Press, Plans Photo Career

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Dec. 11 (AP) — Christine Jorgensen held her first formal news conference today since word of her change from a man into a woman broke into public print. She said she has no Hollywood ambitions as an actress and no intention to profit commercially from her situation.

Christine wore a dark tailored outfit with a white blouse and veiled hat in matching color. She had on a pearl cluster brooch, long dark gloves and high heeled blue suede shoes.

The 50 reporters and photographers were visibly impressed when Christine walked through their ranks, leaving a faint scent of perfume. Her attire fitted her tall slender body beautifully.

Miss Jorgensen, 27, is the former George Jorgensen of New York City's Bronx. In her past is a short hitch as a GI. She is now a woman —after two years of hormone treatment and surgery at Rigs Hospital.

Miss Jorgensen confirmed again that she had received offers from Al Rosen, an independent Hollywood producer, but added "I am not going to accept the offer. I have no Hollywood ambitions at all."

She is going to pursue a career as a movie photographer, with her first venture the release of color films on Denmark she has taken during her stay in this country.

Asked if she realized people might attend to see her rather than the picture, she replied:

"I have thought of that. It is partly the reason why it was a shock to me when the story of my case came out. I had hoped that people would like my film because it was good. Now I will never know why I am successful—or if I am successful."

New Steel Plant Opened

Fairless (left), chairman of the board and president of United States Steel, watches solemnly along with her sister, Carol, 5, as flames race along a sparkler-fuse she lit to fire the first blast furnace in a christening ceremony in Morrisville, Pa., yesterday marking the opening of the new $400,000,000 steel plant, the Fairless Works. French Beat 2,000 Morocco Demonstrators

RABAT, French Morocco, Dec. 11 (AP)—French colonial police and soldiers today beat back 2,000 angry Moroccan demonstrators marching on the European Quarter here today and jailed 300 of them.

The mob charged, throwing stones, but the police scattered them with clubs. It was the major outbreak of a fifth day of riots and demonstrations, apparently protesting the wholesale arrest of Nationalist leaders by the French.

One Arab was killed and two others were seriously wounded when occupants of an automobile opened fire in Rabat's Douar Akkari section. The car sped away. The victims were passersby, and there was no immediate explanation of the incident, authorities said.

Riotous demonstrations centering in Casablanca already have led to the deaths of seven or eight Europeans and many Moraccans this week.

French officials, trying to break the back of the demonstrations, today banned the Communist and Moroccan Independence Istiqlal parties. The ban followed by only a few hours a midnight roundup of 26 top-level Independence party leaders.

Morrocan Communists were rounded up, hustled into planes and flown to France, while the Arab Nationalists were confined in police-guarded quarters in Morocco's southern desert.

Among those flown to France was a citizen of Russia, Madame Tamara Ouss, who has been working for the Moroccan Railway.

Pay Red Cross Dues With Coffee Beans

GENEVA, Switzerland, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Executive Committee of the League of Red Cross Societies agreed today to permit the Brazilian Red Cross to pay its 1951 and 1952 contributions to the society in coffee beans. Brazilian currency restrictions prevented the 20,000-franc ($4,700) annual contribution being paid in cash.

Eighteen Red Cross societies were represented at the opening of the Executive Committee's annual meeting today, including the Red Cross societies of the Soviet Union and Communist China. The committee approved a budget of 1,300,000 francs ($300,000) for 1953.

Visits Air Base

LAON, France, Dec. 11 (AP)—U. S. Defense Secretary Robert A. Lovett today visited a U. S. air base near here. Lovett, is in France for a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) convening Monday in Paris.

Today's Chuckle

Truman Says WSB Problem Beaten; New Panel To Be Named; DiSalle May Head It

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—President Truman and his economic stabilizer said today they have licked the problem of getting business men back on the Wage Stabilization Board.

Truman told a news conference he expects to have the crippled board back on its feet before the end of this week, with a whole new panel of industry representatives.

The board fell apart last Saturday when all seven of its industry members quit en masse with a bitter blast at Truman's intervention in the soft coal miners' wage case. They said Truman's overruling of a board decision in the case made the controls program a "mockery."

Pressure Builds Up

Pressure immediately began building up from business organizations and at least one big labor organization—the CIO—for a junking of controls.

But Truman said today he would have plenty of volunteers from industry's ranks for the vacant wage board seats before the week is out. Good men too, he added. He said he also expects to have a new Economic Stabilization Administrator when Roger Putnam steps out of that post on Jan. 1.

Truman verified reports that Michael V. DiSalle, the former price administrator who made an unsuccessful bid for a U. S. Senate seat from Ohio last month, is under consideration for Putnam's job. Both Putnam and Henry Fowler, mobilization chief, have expressed a desire to return to private life.

Plans To Keep Controls

Truman underscored his determination to keep wage-price controls in effect by declaring they should be extended beyond April 30, the date set by the last Congress for their expiration.

Meanwhile the backlog of more than 12,000 applications for approval of wage increases, is growing.

Chapman Gets Suspended Term

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP) — Wealthy dress manufacturer Samuel Chapman was found guilty today on seven counts of a charge he procured pretty models for prostitution.

Chapman was given a suspended sentence of 210 days in jail.

The court said sentence was suspended because Chapman had never before been convicted of any crime.

He could have received a maximum sentence of three and a half years imprisonment — up to six months for each offense. The suspended sentence was 30 days for each count.

Magistrate Hyman Bushnell announced his verdict in Mid-Manhattan Court.

All seven counts on which Chapman was found guilty dealt with model Jerri Maxwell, also known as Jerri Barrett.

Chapman was not accused of profiting in his procuring of girls but of supplying them to business acquaintances.

Says Circus Mass

PARIS, Dec. 11 (AP)—Msgr. Paul Louis Touze, auxiliary bishop of Paris, said a mass today in a circus ring.

The occasion was the 100th anniversary of the Cirque d'Hiver, Paris' winter circus. Roustabouts and performers in full costume gathered around the altar.

Fairless Opens New Steel Plant

MORRISVILLE, Pa., Dec. 11 (AP) — Two wide-eyed little sisters stopped gaping long enough today to produce the first steel ingot as the U. S. Steel Co., officially opened its 400 million dollar Fairless Works, largest project of its type in history.

Nancy and Carol Fairless, making their first trip to a steel mill, started the production wheels moving at the works named after their grandfather, 62-year-old Benjamin F. Fairless, chairman of the board of U. S. Steel.

The works, scheduled for completion by the middle of next summer, can produce 1,800,000 ingot tons of steel annually and at this rate would boost the national capacity by two per cent. There will also be facilities here to produce some 979,000 tons annually of allied steel products.

The two girls' grandmother, Mrs. Hazel Hatfield Fairless, started the commemorative ceremonies by smashing a bottle of champagne against the side of a blast furnace.

Then red - haired Nancy and Carol, seven and five, took over the program. Nancy lighted a six-foot fuse which burned its way into the blast furnace named for her and ignited the raw materials from which steel is produced. A few minutes later Carol pushed a button which blasted a rocket from the open hearth christened in her name and a flow of molten steel flowed forth.

Physician, Three Sons, Die In Crash

NEWBURY, Vt., Dec. 11 (AP)—A 32-year-old physician and his three young sons were killed today when a mail and passenger train struck their automobile at a grade crossing during a heavy rainstorm.

Dr. Stanley Dwinnell and the children, Peter, 5, James, 4, and Jonathan, 2, were crushed in the demolished automobile.

South Koreans Battle Reds, Fog To Gain Heights

SEOUL, Friday, Dec. 12 (AP)—South Korean infantrymen struck through heavy fog and haze today in efforts to win back one of two hills lost to Chinese Reds yesterday on the northern invasion route to Seoul.

Nearly 3,000 Reds had charged recklessly through their own artillery fire Thursday in winning the heights—Big Nori and Little Nori.

Associated Press Correspondent Milo Farneti reported from the Western Front that the Reds have pumped about 15,000 rounds of artillery and mortar fire at South Korean positions in the area since the battle started.

He called the fight the hottest since the Sniper Ridge battle slowed down last month in Central Korea.

The Reds struck from positions they already held on the north slope of Big Nori, about 40 miles due north of Seoul. They quickly hurled Republic of Korea troops off the south slope.

The fight for nearby Little Nori was more bitter. The South Koreans were shoved off at the onset of the Red attack in the early hours of Thursday, but counter-attacked and re-won it.

After hand - to - hand battling in caves, the Chinese threw in reinforcements. At dusk Thursday the exhausted South Koreans pulled back, leaving Little Nori in Red hands.

South Korean counterattacks at 3 and 4 a. m. today reached the crest of Little Nori, but each time Chinese grenade and rifle fire drove the ROKs back.

The ROK troopers launched a third counterattack at 8 a. m. today, behind thunderous tank and artillery fire.

Mine Workers Union Signs Wage Pact

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 11 (AP)—The Progressive Mine Workers of America announced today that a contract for a $1.90 daily wage increase, approved by the Wage Stabilization Board, has been signed with the Coal Producers Association.

George Baima, president of the independent coal diggers union, said the increase is retroactive to Oct. 1. On that date the producers started paying $1.50 more in daily wages, the maximum first allowed by WSB.

Russia Rejects U. S. Note For Return Of Cargo Plane

LONDON, Dec. 11. (AP)—"Wrong address" is Russia's answer to the American note to Moscow demanding return of the cargo plane forced down in Hungary 13 months ago.

The Moscow radio tonight said Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik received the note yesterday from U. S. charge d'affaires Elim O'Shaughnessy and returned it to the American diplomat with this memo:

"I return herewith your note No. 473 of 10th December as wrongly addressed since it deals with an American C-47 transport aircraft which in November, 1951, violated the frontiers of the Hungarian Peoples' Republic and which was confiscated by Hungarian authorities together with all its contents in accordance with the decision of the Budapest military tribunal."

Soviet fighters forced the plane and its four-man crew down in Hungary when it got lost on a routine flight from Germany to Yugoslavia.

It was about two weeks before the United States learned what had happened to the plane and crew. Then Russia broke the news that they were being held in Hungary because the plane's equipment indicated they were trying to parachute spies and agents behind the iron curtain.

The four fliers were released Dec. 28, 1951, after the U. S. government paid, under protest, their fine of $123,605.

In notes to Hungary and Russia yesterday the United States demanded return of the plane and its contents, or the payment of its $98,779 estimated value.

Ike Receives Big Welcome From Crowds

Will Conclude Top Level Conferences

HONOLULU, Dec. 11 (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower came from the frozen desolation of the Korean War into the brilliant beauty of Hawaii today where he will conclude top-level policy talks before returning to New York Sunday.

He stepped from the cruiser Helena at Pearl Harbor at 9:12 a. m. (2:12 p. m., EST) and with close advisers rode through Honolulu for an ovation from cheering crowds along the parade route estimated by Naval authorities at 100,000.

The arrival ended nine fateful days in the making of future American history—three of them spent in studying the Korean situation and the rest in conferences which fixed the broad outlines of Far East policy for the new Republican administration.

In Hawaii Two Days

Eisenhower was taken to the Marine Corps air station at Kanohe, on the windward side of Oahu Island opposite Honolulu. There he will make his headquarters for two days.

Eisenhower indicated he intends to spend as much time on the golf course in those two days as he does in winding up the tag ends of his talks with advisers and future Cabinet members.

Before lunch, Eisenhower told Maj. Gen. Roger Ramey, Air Force director of operations, that he wanted to leave Hawaii at noon Saturday. That would put him into New York about noon Sunday.

Whether he knew it or not as he came ashore, he was heading into a fresh controversy involving himself, President Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Truman took a dim view at a news conference in Washington today of both Eisenhower's trip and MacArthur's statement last week that there was "a clear and definite solution to the Korean conflict."

It was not known whether Eisenhower was advised of the President's remarks. But there was no question that the President-elect considered the tour and the conferences that followed aboard the Helena well worth the hazards involved.

Outlines Program

For one thing, the broad outlines of the administration's program, as it will affect operations both at home and abroad were worked out in the five days of conferences with key advisers on the Helena.

The Eisenhower program, in the words of John Foster Dulles, the next secretary of state, reaches "into every part of the government's operations at home and abroad."

With the President-elect on the deck of the cruiser when it docked were four of his designated Cabinet members.

They were Dulles, Brownell, George M. Humphrey, next secretary of the Treasury and Gov.

Government Sues Soap Companies

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 11 (AP)—The government today filed an anti-trust suit against the three giants of the multimillion dollar soap industry.

Procter and Gamble Company, Cincinnati, O.; Colgate-Palmolive Peet Company, Jersey City; and Lever Brothers Company, New York, were accused of cornering at least 75 per cent of the household soap market and about 90 per cent of the relatively newer detergent business.

"If competition is to be restored to this industry, the defendants' power over the market must be eliminated," Atty. Gen. McGranery said in announcing the suits in Washington.

Federal District Court here, where the complaint was filed, was asked to break up the three companies "into separate independent organizations."

Neil McElroy, president of Proctor and Gamble, said in Cincinnati his firm was "astonished at the unfairness of this action."

The complaint also named as a defendant the Association of American Soap and Glycerine Producers, Inc., a New York trade association. It was accused of assisting the "big three" in achieving and maintaining their restraints and monopolization."

The Justice Department said soaps and detergents returned about 710 million dollars last year.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Dec. 11 (AP) — Christine Jorgensen held her first formal news conference today since word of her change from a man into a woman broke into public print. She said she has no Hollywood ambitions as an actress and no intention to profit commercially from her situation.

Christine wore a dark tailored outfit with a white blouse and veiled hat in matching color. She had on a pearl cluster brooch, long dark gloves and high heeled blue suede shoes.

The 50 reporters and photographers were visibly impressed when Christine walked through their ranks, leaving a faint scent of perfume. Her attire fitted her tall slender body beautifully.

Miss Jorgensen, 27, is the former George Jorgensen of New York City's Bronx. In her past is a short hitch as a GI. She is now a woman —after two years of hormone treatment and surgery at Rigs Hospital.

Miss Jorgensen confirmed again that she had received offers from Al Rosen, an independent Hollywood producer, but added "I am not going to accept the offer. I have no Hollywood ambitions at all."

She is going to pursue a career as a movie photographer, with her first venture the release of color films on Denmark she has taken during her stay in this country.

Asked if she realized people might attend to see her rather than the picture, she replied:

"I have thought of that. It is partly the reason why it was a shock to me when the story of my case came out. I had hoped that people would like my film because it was good. Now I will never know why I am successful—or if I am successful."

French Beat 2,000 Moroccо Demonstrators

RABAT, French Morocco, Dec. 11 (AP)—French colonial police and soldiers today beat back 2,000 angry Moroccan demonstrators marching on the European Quarter here today and jailed 300 of them.

The mob charged, throwing stones, but the police scattered them with clubs. It was the major outbreak of a fifth day of riots and demonstrations, apparently protesting the wholesale arrest of Nationalist leaders by the French.

One Arab was killed and two others were seriously wounded when occupants of an automobile opened fire in Rabat's Douar Akkari section. The car sped away. The victims were passersby, and there was no immediate explanation of the incident, authorities said.

Riotous demonstrations centering in Casablanca already have led to the deaths of seven or eight Europeans and many Moraccans this week.

French officials, trying to break the back of the demonstrations, today banned the Communist and Moroccan Independence Istiqlal parties. The ban followed by only a few hours a midnight roundup of 26 top-level Independence party leaders.

Morrocan Communists were rounded up, hustled into planes and flown to France, while the Arab Nationalists were confined in police-guarded quarters in Morocco's southern desert.

Among those flown to France was a citizen of Russia, Madame Tamara Ouss, who has been working for the Moroccan Railway.

Pay Red Cross Dues With Coffee Beans

GENEVA, Switzerland, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Executive Committee of the League of Red Cross Societies agreed today to permit the Brazilian Red Cross to pay its 1951 and 1952 contributions to the society in coffee beans. Brazilian currency restrictions prevented the 20,000-franc ($4,700) annual contribution being paid in cash.

Eighteen Red Cross societies were represented at the opening of the Executive Committee's annual meeting today, including the Red Cross societies of the Soviet Union and Communist China. The committee approved a budget of 1,300,000 francs ($300,000) for 1953.

Truman Says WSB Problem Beaten; New Panel To Be Named; DiSalle May Head It

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—President Truman and his economic stabilizer said today they have licked the problem of getting business men back on the Wage Stabilization Board.

Truman told a news conference he expects to have the crippled board back on its feet before the end of this week, with a whole new panel of industry representatives.

The board fell apart last Saturday when all seven of its industry members quit en masse with a bitter blast at Truman's intervention in the soft coal miners' wage case. They said Truman's overruling of a board decision in the case made the controls program a "mockery."

Pressure Builds Up

Pressure immediately began building up from business organizations and at least one big labor organization—the CIO—for a junking of controls.

But Truman said today he would have plenty of volunteers from industry's ranks for the vacant wage board seats before the week is out. Good men too, he added. He said he also expects to have a new Economic Stabilization Administrator when Roger Putnam steps out of that post on Jan. 1.

Truman verified reports that Michael V. DiSalle, the former price administrator who made an unsuccessful bid for a U. S. Senate seat from Ohio last month, is under consideration for Putnam's job. Both Putnam and Henry Fowler, mobilization chief, have expressed a desire to return to private life.

Plans To Keep Controls

Truman underscored his determination to keep wage-price controls in effect by declaring they should be extended beyond April 30, the date set by the last Congress for their expiration.

Meanwhile the backlog of more than 12,000 applications for approval of wage increases, is growing.

Chapman Gets Suspended Term

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP) — Wealthy dress manufacturer Samuel Chapman was found guilty today on seven counts of a charge he procured pretty models for prostitution.

Chapman was given a suspended sentence of 210 days in jail.

The court said sentence was suspended because Chapman had never before been convicted of any crime.

He could have received a maximum sentence of three and a half years imprisonment — up to six months for each offense. The suspended sentence was 30 days for each count.

Magistrate Hyman Bushnell announced his verdict in Mid-Manhattan Court.

All seven counts on which Chapman was found guilty dealt with model Jerri Maxwell, also known as Jerri Barrett.

Chapman was not accused of profiting in his procuring of girls but of supplying them to business acquaintances.

Says Circus Mass

PARIS, Dec. 11 (AP)—Msgr. Paul Louis Touze, auxiliary bishop of Paris, said a mass today in a circus ring.

The occasion was the 100th anniversary of the Cirque d'Hiver, Paris' winter circus. Roustabouts and performers in full costume gathered around the altar.

Fairless Opens New Steel Plant

MORRISVILLE, Pa., Dec. 11 (AP) — Two wide-eyed little sisters stopped gaping long enough today to produce the first steel ingot as the U. S. Steel Co., officially opened its 400 million dollar Fairless Works, largest project of its type in history.

Nancy and Carol Fairless, making their first trip to a steel mill, started the production wheels moving at the works named after their grandfather, 62-year-old Benjamin F. Fairless, chairman of the board of U. S. Steel.

The works, scheduled for completion by the middle of next summer, can produce 1,800,000 ingot tons of steel annually and at this rate would boost the national capacity by two per cent. There will also be facilities here to produce some 979,000 tons annually of allied steel products.

The two girls' grandmother, Mrs. Hazel Hatfield Fairless, started the commemorative ceremonies by smashing a bottle of champagne against the side of a blast furnace.

Then red - haired Nancy and Carol, seven and five, took over the program. Nancy lighted a six-foot fuse which burned its way into the blast furnace named for her and ignited the raw materials from which steel is produced. A few minutes later Carol pushed a button which blasted a rocket from the open hearth christened in her name and a flow of molten steel flowed forth.

Physician, Three Sons, Die In Crash

NEWBURY, Vt., Dec. 11 (AP)—A 32-year-old physician and his three young sons were killed today when a mail and passenger train struck their automobile at a grade crossing during a heavy rainstorm.

Dr. Stanley Dwinnell and the children, Peter, 5, James, 4, and Jonathan, 2, were crushed in the demolished automobile.

South Koreans Battle Reds, Fog To Gain Heights

SEOUL, Friday, Dec. 12 (AP)—South Korean infantrymen struck through heavy fog and haze today in efforts to win back one of two hills lost to Chinese Reds yesterday on the northern invasion route to Seoul.

Nearly 3,000 Reds had charged recklessly through their own artillery fire Thursday in winning the heights—Big Nori and Little Nori.

Associated Press Correspondent Milo Farneti reported from the Western Front that the Reds have pumped about 15,000 rounds of artillery and mortar fire at South Korean positions in the area since the battle started.

He called the fight the hottest since the Sniper Ridge battle slowed down last month in Central Korea.

The Reds struck from positions they already held on the north slope of Big Nori, about 40 miles due north of Seoul. They quickly hurled Republic of Korea troops off the south slope.

The fight for nearby Little Nori was more bitter. The South Koreans were shoved off at the onset of the Red attack in the early hours of Thursday, but counter-attacked and re-won it.

After hand - to - hand battling in caves, the Chinese threw in reinforcements. At dusk Thursday the exhausted South Koreans pulled back, leaving Little Nori in Red hands.

South Korean counterattacks at 3 and 4 a. m. today reached the crest of Little Nori, but each time Chinese grenade and rifle fire drove the ROKs back.

The ROK troopers launched a third counterattack at 8 a. m. today, behind thunderous tank and artillery fire.

Mine Workers Union Signs Wage Pact

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 11 (AP)—The Progressive Mine Workers of America announced today that a contract for a $1.90 daily wage increase, approved by the Wage Stabilization Board, has been signed with the Coal Producers Association.

George Baima, president of the independent coal diggers union, said the increase is retroactive to Oct. 1. On that date the producers started paying $1.50 more in daily wages, the maximum first allowed by WSB.

Russia Rejects U. S. Note For Return Of Cargo Plane

LONDON, Dec. 11. (AP)—"Wrong address" is Russia's answer to the American note to Moscow demanding return of the cargo plane forced down in Hungary 13 months ago.

The Moscow radio tonight said Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik received the note yesterday from U. S. charge d'affaires Elim O'Shaughnessy and returned it to the American diplomat with this memo:

"I return herewith your note No. 473 of 10th December as wrongly addressed since it deals with an American C-47 transport aircraft which in November, 1951, violated the frontiers of the Hungarian Peoples' Republic and which was confiscated by Hungarian authorities together with all its contents in accordance with the decision of the Budapest military tribunal."

Soviet fighters forced the plane and its four-man crew down in Hungary when it got lost on a routine flight from Germany to Yugoslavia.

It was about two weeks before the United States learned what had happened to the plane and crew. Then Russia broke the news that they were being held in Hungary because the plane's equipment indicated they were trying to parachute spies and agents behind the iron curtain.

The four fliers were released Dec. 28, 1951, after the U. S. government paid, under protest, their fine of $123,605.

In notes to Hungary and Russia yesterday the United States demanded return of the plane and its contents, or the payment of its $98,779 estimated value.

Ike Receives Big Welcome From Crowds

Will Conclude Top Level Conferences

HONOLULU, Dec. 11 (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower came from the frozen desolation of the Korean War into the brilliant beauty of Hawaii today where he will conclude top-level policy talks before returning to New York Sunday.

He stepped from the cruiser Helena at Pearl Harbor at 9:12 a. m. (2:12 p. m., EST) and with close advisers rode through Honolulu for an ovation from cheering crowds along the parade route estimated by Naval authorities at 100,000.

The arrival ended nine fateful days in the making of future American history—three of them spent in studying the Korean situation and the rest in conferences which fixed the broad outlines of Far East policy for the new Republican administration.

In Hawaii Two Days

Eisenhower was taken to the Marine Corps air station at Kanohe, on the windward side of Oahu Island opposite Honolulu. There he will make his headquarters for two days.

Eisenhower indicated he intends to spend as much time on the golf course in those two days as he does in winding up the tag ends of his talks with advisers and future Cabinet members.

Before lunch, Eisenhower told Maj. Gen. Roger Ramey, Air Force director of operations, that he wanted to leave Hawaii at noon Saturday. That would put him into New York about noon Sunday.

Whether he knew it or not as he came ashore, he was heading into a fresh controversy involving himself, President Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Truman took a dim view at a news conference in Washington today of both Eisenhower's trip and MacArthur's statement last week that there was "a clear and definite solution to the Korean conflict."

It was not known whether Eisenhower was advised of the President's remarks. But there was no question that the President-elect considered the tour and the conferences that followed aboard the Helena well worth the hazards involved.

Outlines Program

For one thing, the broad outlines of the administration's program, as it will affect operations both at home and abroad were worked out in the five days of conferences with key advisers on the Helena.

The Eisenhower program, in the words of John Foster Dulles, the next secretary of state, reaches "into every part of the government's operations at home and abroad."

With the President-elect on the deck of the cruiser when it docked were four of his designated Cabinet members.

They were Dulles, Brownell, George M. Humphrey, next secretary of the Treasury and Gov.

Government Sues Soap Companies

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 11 (AP)—The government today filed an anti-trust suit against the three giants of the multimillion dollar soap industry.

Procter and Gamble Company, Cincinnati, O.; Colgate-Palmolive Peet Company, Jersey City; and Lever Brothers Company, New York, were accused of cornering at least 75 per cent of the household soap market and about 90 per cent of the relatively newer detergent business.

"If competition is to be restored to this industry, the defendants' power over the market must be eliminated," Atty. Gen. McGranery said in announcing the suits in Washington.

Federal District Court here, where the complaint was filed, was asked to break up the three companies "into separate independent organizations."

Neil McElroy, president of Proctor and Gamble, said in Cincinnati his firm was "astonished at the unfairness of this action."

The complaint also named as a defendant the Association of American Soap and Glycerine Producers, Inc., a New York trade association. It was accused of assisting the "big three" in achieving and maintaining their restraints and monopolization."

The Justice Department said soaps and detergents returned about 710 million dollars last year.

Dulles Claims GOP Can End World Peril

DENVER, Dec. 11 (AP) — John Foster Dulles said tonight something has "gone wrong" with American environment, and he urged a re-kindled "faith in freedom" to shatter "the hypnotic spell of tyranny around the world."

The incoming secretary of state said that "our people are not imbued with the righteous and dynamic faith which gives them a sense of mission and purpose," and he said "the essential need is to recreate that."

Will Break Spell

When it is done, he added, "The edifice of despotism will surely crumble, because free men will have broken the hypnotic spell by which the despots hold their masses."

Dulles, in a tape-recorded address, his first major speech since he was named secretary of state, told the General Assembly of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA:

1. That "Christian people have too long seemed half-hearted in their determination to end un-Christian discrimination. They have too much tried to shift the responsibility to government."

2. That Americans should "intensify their determination to perfect" the United Nations, and not lose confidence in international organization for world order because of disappointments or because the novelty has worn off."

3. That private individuals and groups should increase aid to peoples "materially less fortunate." He added that "nothing has been more disastrous to the cause of freedom than our growing assumption that nothing happens unless government does it."

Can End Peril, Insecurity

Dulles said the new administration of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower "can do much" to "end the conditions of peril and insecurity which now afflict the world." He added: "I expect that it will."

Although Dulles, a Presbyterian and a leading figure in the development of inter-church cooperation, had planned to deliver in person his first message since his appointment, this was prevented when he was summoned along with other Cabinet officers to conferences with Eisenhower in the Pacific.

The President's blistering attack on MacArthur and his demagoguery crack at Eisenhower drew expressions of astonishment from Republican members of Congress.

New Atom Subs To Be Navy's Most Stealthy, Deadly Ships

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—The new atomic submarines will be the most stealthy and deadly ships of the Navy.

Rear Adm. Homer N. Wallin, chief of the Bureau of Ships, disclosed this today in an article written for Collier's magazine. Wallin had this to say of the commander of the USS Nautilus, one of two nuclear powered undersea boats being built:

"He will be able to cruise so deep and silently that an enemy will have great difficulty locating him, and even greater difficulty damaging him. There will be no throbbing of engines, no exhaust bubbles, no surface wakes to disclose his whereabouts. If necessary this vessel can lie utterly still for long periods of time; longer, certainly, than any enemy surface ships are likely to cruise around exposing themselves to the Nautilus' acoustic sound-tracking torpedoes."

The Navy is working on devices to enable the crew, like the atomic submarine, to stay underwater for long periods, Wallin said. In addition to the storing of oxygen in high-pressure bottles, the Bureau of Ships "is working on a device to take oxygen from water" and this may be ready in time for installation in the Nautilus. Carbon dioxide will be absorbed by chemicals. The atomic sub will have even a special tube for getting rid of garbage, a problem in present day conventional submersibles.

Wallin also reported the Nautilus will have three power systems: her main, atomic engine which will operate on a steam turbine principle with heat generated by the atomic furnace; conventional Diesel engines; the electric power from batteries.

Boy, 2, Has Toy Axle Taken From Head By Surgeon

SALISBURY, Dec. 11 (AP) — A 22-month-old boy at Peninsula General Hospital was given a good chance to live today after a 2½ hour operation for removal of a toy tractor axle jammed into his head.

The operation was performed on Benjamin Lawrence White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert White of Pittsville. The operating surgeon, who asked not to be identified, said he had an excellent chance to survive.

The doctor said the piece of metal was jammed through the boy's skull to the brain. A knob on the axle had hooked on the skull, he said.

The baby fell on the toy at his home.

Meany Doubts If Merger Due Soon

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP) — George Meany, new president of the AFL, said today the odds are about eight to five against a merger of the AFL and CIO.

He said that "bitterness" between the two big labor organizations has "more or less faded away over the years" but that the job of getting the two together again was still "a very tough one."

Addressing a National Press Club luncheon, Meany said he does not expect "a crackdown on labor from the Eisenhower administration."

Ike To Speak Before Columbia University Group

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower will make a speech before a Columbia University group on Jan. 16, four days prior to his inauguration, Columbia said today.

Eisenhower will speak at a testimonial dinner in the Hotel Astor to Young B. Smith, who retired last month as dean of the Columbia University School of Law, a post he held 25 years.

Eisenhower is on leave as president of Columbia University, a position he will relinquish when he is inaugurated.

Negro Is Sentenced

CAMBRIDGE, Md., Dec. 11 (AP)—Paul Guenther, 27-year-old Somerset County Negro, today was sentenced to 18 months in prison for an assault on Irene Hill, 23-year-old Salisbury white woman.

He was acquitted of the more serious charges of rape and assault with intent to commit rape.

All three judges of the First Judicial Circuit heard the testimony, since Guenther faced a possible death penalty. There was no jury.

Supreme Court Ends Hearings On Race Issue

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP) — A fervent plea to erase racial segregation in public school on grounds it "brands negro citizens with inequality" brought to an end today three days of momentous arguments before the Supreme Court.

Now it is up to the high tribunal to decide, probably after weeks of pondering, whether separate schools for white and negro children violate constitutional guarantees of equal treatment for all persons. School systems in 21 states and the District of Columbia are involved.

Arguments Are Concluded

The arguments themselves wound up with dramatic, conflicting bids to the highest tribunal both to uphold and to rule out segregation in the national capital and in the state of Delaware.

James M. Nabrit, Jr., a negro attorney educated in Washington's public, segregated schools, told the court:

"When liberty is interfered with by the state, it has to be justified x x x. We submit that in the capital of the nation, in the capital of the free world, there is no place for a segregated school system.

"The Constitution does not permit it and the statutes do not authorize it."

But Milton D. Korman, assistant corporation counsel for the District of Columbia, said it isn't a constitutional argument to say that "Washington is the window through which the world looks at us."

Korman said it should be left to Congress, which passes the laws for Washington, to determine whether there should be separate schools here as there have been for nearly a century.

From Louis L. Redding, Wilmington, Del., negro attorney, came a plea for the Supreme Court to declare that:

"Segregation of itself inflicts inequality of educational opportunity, so that no matter what steps are taken x x x to eliminate inequality of facilities, there still will be inequality of opportunity."

No Time To Equalize

H. Albert Young, attorney general of Delaware, trained his legal guns on a Delaware Supreme Court decision ordering negroes admitted immediately to two public schools for white children. He said the court acted on the ground that the negro school facilities were not equal, but he objected that the court did not give authorities a reasonable time to equalize the facilities.

Arguments in the District of Columbia and Delaware cases were the last in a series of five to unfold before the court. Yesterday and the day before, the tribunal heard arguments in school segregation cases from Kansas, South Carolina and Virginia.

Eisenhower is on leave as president of Columbia University, a position he will relinquish when he is inaugurated.

Negro Is Sentenced

CAMBRIDGE, Md., Dec. 11 (AP)—Paul Guenther, 27-year-old Somerset County Negro, today was sentenced to 18 months in prison for an assault on Irene Hill, 23-year-old Salisbury white woman.

He was acquitted of the more serious charges of rape and assault with intent to commit rape.

All three judges of the First Judicial Circuit heard the testimony, since Guenther faced a possible death penalty. There was no jury.

Waiting at the dock besides various civic officials were Charles E. Wilson, the next secretary of defense, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Adm. Arthur Radford, Navy commander in the Pacific. They had been with Eisenhower in Korea but flew to Hawaii ahead of him.

Supreme Court Ends Hearings On Race Issue

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP) — A fervent plea to erase racial segregation in public school on grounds it "brands negro citizens with inequality" brought to an end today three days of momentous arguments before the Supreme Court.

Now it is up to the high tribunal to decide, probably after weeks of pondering, whether separate schools for white and negro children violate constitutional guarantees of equal treatment for all persons. School systems in 21 states and the District of Columbia are involved.

Arguments Are Concluded

The arguments themselves wound up with dramatic, conflicting bids to the highest tribunal both to uphold and to rule out segregation in the national capital and in the state of Delaware.

James M. Nabrit, Jr., a negro attorney educated in Washington's public, segregated schools, told the court:

"When liberty is interfered with by the state, it has to be justified x x x. We submit that in the capital of the nation, in the capital of the free world, there is no place for a segregated school system.

"The Constitution does not permit it and the statutes do not authorize it."

But Milton D. Korman, assistant corporation counsel for the District of Columbia, said it isn't a constitutional argument to say that "Washington is the window through which the world looks at us."

Korman said it should be left to Congress, which passes the laws for Washington, to determine whether there should be separate schools here as there have been for nearly a century.

From Louis L. Redding, Wilmington, Del., negro attorney, came a plea for the Supreme Court to declare that:

"Segregation of itself inflicts inequality of educational opportunity, so that no matter what steps are taken x x x to eliminate inequality of facilities, there still will be inequality of opportunity."

No Time To Equalize

H. Albert Young, attorney general of Delaware, trained his legal guns on a Delaware Supreme Court decision ordering negroes admitted immediately to two public schools for white children. He said the court acted on the ground that the negro school facilities were not equal, but he objected that the court did not give authorities a reasonable time to equalize the facilities.

Arguments in the District of Columbia and Delaware cases were the last in a series of five to unfold before the court. Yesterday and the day before, the tribunal heard arguments in school segregation cases from Kansas, South Carolina and Virginia.

STAG LINES for men

Shirt of a different stripe

Striped for Action

FASHION: Across-the-chest stripes are adding a new dash to this year's active men's sport shirts. Besides being colorful, they're flattering—they tend to make the wearer look huskier. One of the most popular designs is the three-color, seven-stripe model worn by Dick Moore (at left), now appearing in the film "Eight Iron Men."

Clothes Care: In public places park your hat upside down. That will keep the next fellow from nesting his hat on yours and discoloring the crown. . . . Most jacket or coat sleeves can stand a one-quarter-inch shortening without affecting the appearance. If the nap is worn on your sleeves, it can be concealed—and made to look like new—by your neighborhood tailor.

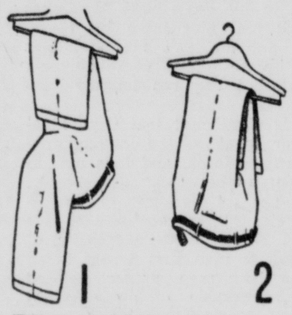
People: King Faisal II of Iraq purchased a real cowboy outfit and a Resistol ten-gallon hat before returning home from the U. S. . . . Wonder whether Yul ("The King and I") Brynner, appearing in ads for sport shirts, isn't the first bald-headed model in history!

Motor Hints: Drop a business card down the window of your car. If it's stolen and thoroughly camouflaged, you'll still be able to prove it's yours. . . . Note down your blood type on your license, in case of bad accident. . . . Experts claim that you see only half as much driving at 70 mph as you do at 40—and blame the cut-down vision for many accidents.

Good Ideas: Carry extra flints between layers of cotton batting in the fuel compartment of a Zippo lighter. . . . Save time when dictating by marking each letter to be answered with a numeral. Then, instead of spelling out names and addresses all you need say is, "Number 1—Dear Joe" . . .

Dress Tips: As you know, shoelaces always seem to break at inopportune moments and places, where no replacement is available. Friend of mine always carries one extra, neatly folded and taking little space, in his wallet. . . . If the end of a tie curls up, just give it a little stretch. This will straighten the loose thread and bias lining. . . . Try the same thing with collar points that curl up toward your throat.

Hanging Up: Here's a good way to store trousers so they can't slip off the hanger. They'll also wrinkle less. Place one leg of trousers over the bar about half way up on the inside seam (see drawing, 1). Then bring the other leg over on the opposite side, making sure that legs hang evenly (2). This method may be too much trouble to do nightly—but it's a fine idea for seasonal storage.



Pass the Cigars: This week to U. S. citizen, ex-Britisher Alistair Cooke, whose relaxed and likeable monitoring of the new Ford Foundation "Omnibus" show is just about the most pleasing performance that week-end television has yet provided.

Probing The Big Blow

To the ground bound residents of the lower latitudes, a hurricane presents one face. This is a gray mass of howling wind, water, and flying debris. To the scientist, calmly studying the blow with what is presumed to be detachment, the face is something else.

Hurricanes today have few secrets. The moment one starts making up in the closest storm kitchen, the eastern Caribbean, observers have it plotted, measured, and named. With long range radar, the speed and direction is figured with exquisite preciseness. Meanwhile hardy young men in hardy planes are making sewing motions in and out of the great revolving mass. They measure its width, the wind intensity, the condition of the middle "eye," and anything else of importance.

Sensitive and evocative men have described the feelings of a mere human when confronted by this natural phenomenon. Perhaps the senses are sharper when a man has deliberately placed himself at the mercy of this destructive beast so that others can know more about it.

It is known, for example, that the winds in the great whirling ring flatten the sea so that there is no perceptible wave trough or crest. The same winds put a hurricane hunter plane and crew to the cruelest sort of punishment. Anything not lashed down inside the craft becomes a darting missile. The plane groans and creaks; the wings seem to flap like a bird's. More often than not the tough paint film on the leading edges of the wings is worn completely away.

The contrast between the brute force of the winds and the calm of the "eye" in the center is almost a shock to the system. What does the "eye" look like? "It is a vast coliseum of clouds, 40 miles in diameter, whose walls rise like galleries in a great opera house to a height of 35,000 feet."

This is good writing, and better imagery. The young man who was among the few privileged to see the phenomenon has done a great service to bring the picture to life. On the same mission into the heart of the storm a companion plane disappeared and no trace of it has even been found. Nature's secrets aren't probed cheaply.

"One For The Road"

This being December, it's certainly not too early to start thinking about the problems connected with the holidays—including the parties which have been receiving increasing attention, during recent years. Which is just what the National Safety Council has been doing. And it has been thinking about those parties to good effect.

Stuart Little of the council recalls that the organization put on a campaign in a number of places last year that apparently helped cut the holiday mortality rate. It asked hosts and hostesses at Christmas and New Year parties to offer their guests one more drink before they left—but a drink of hot coffee, not liquor. That was to be the "one for the road."

In Boston Mayor Hynes made a special appeal that was given space in newspapers throughout New England. Hotels in a number of cities, including Boston, advertised that there would be a stirrup cup—of coffee—for guests at their parties. New Year's Eve and New Year's Day brought four fatilities in New England—but the year before there had been 13.

Maryland had a similar experience. Governor McKeldin with Paul E. Burke, director of the state Traffic Safety Commission, pushed the idea, and the public cooperated. And last year Maryland managed to get through New Year's without a traffic death, as compared to eight fatalities the year before.

Whether the coffee did it, or the publicity, or a combination of the two, cannot be determined, of course. Perhaps the emphasis placed on the danger—and folly—of mixing holiday liquor with gasoline made people thoughtful of themselves and others.

During the holidays, just as at any other time, it's better not to drive after drinking. But if there must be "one for the road," let it be a head-clearing draught of hot, black, steaming coffee. Add sugar to it and it helps even more.

Weather As News

Weather frequently is referred to as the favorite subject of conversation of rural yokels and city ditto, who are hard put to find something to talk about. But weather has become big news—front page news. Let it rain, or snow, or blow, and there is the weather in big type right on the front page.

It's all due to modern gadgets of living, it seems. A two-inch snowfall can inconvenience millions. An average amount of rainfall often becomes a near-tragedy because modern living is interrupted.

A recent snowfall in Kansas, and adjoining states, which mounted to seven inches in depth, made the headlines and picture pages as well. Thousands of motorists were stranded on the highways and there was hob to pay generally. But a reporter who leafed through files of a Kansas newspaper of 1888 found that in a comparative week in that year nine inches of snow fell and the blizzard that accompanied it has never been equalled for ferocity so early in the season.

But, as the reporter points out, transportation was not inconvenienced to an alarming extent chiefly because the principal method of transportation in that era was a vehicle called the "buggy." When an animal called a "horse" was hitched to the buggy, only the tallest snowdrifts were likely to prove impediments to locomotion.

How did the newspapers cover the storm of 1888? On page two, like this:

"The grandest snow storm that ever visited this section since its settlement, in fact the heaviest snow storm that has probably fallen in Kansas in a third of a century, was that of the night before last and yesterday. Surely nothing like it ever occurred in November.

"It will prove a great blessing, worth half a dozen ordinary rain showers and will fill the ground full to soaking, fill the fountains and start the streams. The prospects for wheat were never better."

Editorialgraphs

Some of the boys who sounded as if they would have to be coaxed to join Eisenhower's cabinet are now busily engaged in unpacking their bags.

Now that women have more than 50 per cent of the vote and 75 per cent of the wealth, perhaps a movement in behalf of men's rights is in order.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases

Don't Treat All Children The Same

Many emotional problems are traceable to an unwholesome home environment where all the attention was lavished on one child. Such examples of gross favoritism are well known and usually affect every one in the household. But what happens when all the offspring are treated alike? This is the better situation of the two but is far from ideal. As one parent has said, "When we throw the same thing at all of them it bounces back differently."

Each child has a personality of his own. He has individual needs and individual care is required if the youngster is to be happy and feel secure. Some require more attention than others but if the parents make a reasonable attempt to impress the tot with the fact that he is loved and wanted, half the battle is won.

These differences in our little ones make family life more interesting. They come into the same environment but almost immediately take on their own characteristics. One child is more demanding whereas another is easily satisfied. There are the good and the poor eaters, the untidy and the neat, and the fast and slow learners. Mary has no regard for clothes while Martha must wear a fresh dress every day. Roger carries the burdens of the world on his shoulders and Tommy is as carefree as a puppy. The sooner these personality traits are recognized and appreciated, the easier it becomes for the parents to guide their progeny. In addition, each child is permitted to progress at his own pace under this plan.

The repercussions from treating all children the same were discussed by Dr. T. F. Coats Jr., in Southern Medicine and Surgery. One of his patients, a girl of 20, was suffering from a state of severe anxiety and depression which necessitated sanatarium care. There was not much difference in the ages of her two older sisters, who had been treated like twins: Each received the same love, the same clothes, and the same birthday and Christmas gifts. The father and mother decided to follow a similar course with the two other daughters, but the youngest was not happy with the arrangement.

While Dr. Coats was treating this patient, she described her reactions at the age of 12, when, as usual, she and her next oldest sister were given identical presents. She felt that if her parents had really loved her they would have selected something special that she really wanted. In this respect the "same things" reverberated because they did not fit different personalities.

Problems along this line usually arise with each new addition to the family. Older youngsters may be forced to take a back seat while the new baby gets all the attention. To overcome such difficulties the venture should be made a joint affair. The infant will require the same eight hours of care daily that was given to the others when they were babies. To avoid misunderstandings and mental confusion, much can be done by encouraging cooperation in looking after the newcomer. The smaller tots may assist by bringing clothes from the dresser drawer, holding pins for the diapers, and burping baby brother now and then. It also is wise to tip off friends and relatives to pay some attention to the other children when visiting the new arrival.

TOMORROW: Slight, persistent bleeding may induce anemia.

PERNICIOUS ANEMIA

I. Z. writes: Are there any dietary restrictions for a person with pernicious anemia?

REPLY

No, unless certain foods lead to indigestion because of the lack of free hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Victims of pernicious anemia are encouraged to eat more, especially liver and other meat, and in this respect the diet is one of addition rather than omission.

EYELID OUTBREAK

M. G. writes: I have been troubled for four years with an annoying rash and itching on the skin of my upper eyelids. I have tried all kinds of salves but the eruption remains.

REPLY

When ordinary ointments fail in this condition the physician usually thinks of allergy. Nail polish is quoted as the most likely culprit for an eruption in this area.

DIABETES AND WORK

S. P. writes: My son has just received a diagnosis of diabetes. Is tractor work too hard on him?

REPLY

Ike Taking Leaf From FDR's Book; Plans Rest Between Sieges Of Office Grind; Mid-Pacific Conferences Have Four Major Objectives

WASHINGTON—General Eisenhower, who worked with and under Franklin Roosevelt all during World War II, is taking a leaf or two from FDR's book.

Roosevelt not only got away on a cruiser or yacht three or four times a year, but usually took members of the cabinet with him. It gave him a chance both to rest and consider long-range problems.

Eisenhower also plans frequent rests from the wear and tear of office grind. While at NATO in Paris he tried to spend at least part of every afternoon on the golf course. This, and a fairly rigid diet, kept him in good shape.

Meanwhile, the present mid-Pacific cruiser conferences, according to close advisers, have four objectives:

1. A decision on Korea has to be formulated almost right away. Even though Eisenhower isn't President yet, his general views will be honored by the Truman administration. And if there is to be any kind of offensive next spring, the supply lines have to start rolling almost immediately.

2. Get acquainted with the cabinet—Most of his cabinet Ike has met only once or twice. They need to get acquainted. Some domestic problems, such as taxes and budget, will be discussed; also Secretary-to-be of the Interior Douglas McKay is in charge of the Pacific islands. That's one reason he was invited.

3. Plan some speeches and prepare for some TV appearances—This was the main reason C. D. Jackson of Fortune magazine, head of the campaign speech-writers, and Emmett Hughes, another speech-writer, were sent for. Eisenhower will have to make some TV and radio statements shortly after his arrival back in the U. S.; also has major speeches to think about for the inauguaration period.

4. Major foreign policy — It's sometimes easier to formulate long-range policy when you are away from it. And Eisenhower now has a chance to debate with his new secretary of State the most important part of our entire foreign policy—the fact that the heart of the Korean War, as the heart of most of our troubles, lies in Moscow.

Taft's Throat

After Senator Taft issued his historic blast against Gen. Eisenhower's appointment of Martin Durkin as secretary of Labor, Senator Wayne Morse, Oregon's independent Republican, happened to meet Mark Trice, GOP secretary of the Senate.

"Would you like me to recommend a good political divorce lawyer?" wisecracked Morse, who broke with Eisenhower over the Morningside Heights "marriage" with Taft.

Trice, who has been a strong Taft supporter, shook his head ruefully.

"Our boy," he said, "certainly cut his own throat."

Adlai And Harry

Here are some of the things that happened between President Truman and Governor Stevenson during their confidential strategy meeting last week.

Actually one of the most important things occurred not at the White House but between a group of Southern senators who are working backstage to take the Democratic party away from Stevenson and run it from the Senate.

To this end, they have been telephoning various Democratic leaders around the country friendly to Sen. Richard Russell to urge him as national leader. However, they don't want to start a full-fledged campaign until after Sen. Lyndon Johnson is made Senate leader, because they fear Northern Democrats would balk at a Texan for Senate leader, if they knew Russell, a Georgian, was being groomed as national leader.

Stevenson had heard of the Southern strategy before he went to the White House, and talked it over with Truman. Here are some of the things they decided:

1. Stevenson, not Truman is to be the party's leader as far as the national committee is concerned. This was tacit recognition of the fact that Truman has a lot of ill-will in the South.

2. Stevenson told Truman he would come back to Washington after Congress reconvenes and visit with Democrats on Capitol Hill. He wants to get on personal terms with senators and congressmen. What they do in the next four years will be all-important to the Democratic party, Stevenson believes, and he wants to have a hand in it.

3. Stevenson is anxious to find a national chairman who can bridge any gap between Northern and Southern Democratic senators, and believes Sen. Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming is the most likely choice. Sen. Bill Fulbright of Arkansas has already sounded out O'Mahoney about taking the job, and he seems interested.

4. Stevenson told the President that he wants to keep Steve Mitchell as national chairman for the the time being in recognition of his hard work during the campaign. He said it was only fair to give Mitchell a chance to prove himself; also he, Stevenson, felt personally responsible for the campaign deficit and wanted Mitchell to remain until it's cleared up.

5. The governor told Truman he wanted to take a trip around the world to get reacquainted with foreign problems, though he will visit with Congress first.

6. Adlai emphasized that he didn't want anyone to get the idea that he was personally ambitious and already starting to run in 1956. For this reason, he said he had vetoed any idea of regular television reports to the nation and he would not make political speeches unless major issues came up. If any Democratic candidates invited him to speak during the 1954 congressional race, however, he said he would accept, though not seek, such invitations.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Soviet Anti-Semitism

The recent official murder of 11 Czechoslovakian Communists who were Jews represents no new departure in Marxian thinking. Marxism has always been anti-Jewish, as it has been anti-Catholic, anti-Protestant, anti-Moslem. Marxism is opposed to all forms of religion. When a Jew or a Christian or a Moslem is a Marxist, he disassociates himself from the faith of his fathers.

Although Karl Marx was born of Jewish parents who had been converted to Christianity, he was violently anti-Semitic. His article, "The Jewish Question," contains such a sentence as this:

"The emancipation of the Jews is in the last analysis the emancipation of mankind from Jewry."

It is true that a number of Jews were among the founders of the Bolshevik state in Russia. Stalin has killed them, until today only one remains in the Presidium, Lazar Kaganovitch.

During the Hitler-Stalin alliance period, Stalin got rid of his most capable minister of foreign affairs, Maxim Litvinov, because he was a Jew and therefore objectionable to Hitler.

In the philosophy of Marxism and in the Leninist-Stalinist interpretation of that philosophy, no individual can have a philosophic position, a religious faith, an approach to problems which differs from the declared attitude of the Soviet hierarchy. Stalin himself describes this position in his book, "Foundations of Leninism," which is the bible of Communists throughout the world:

"The party must first of all constitute the vanguard of the working class. The party must absorb all the best elements of the working class, their experience, their revolutionary spirit and their unbounded devotion to the cause of the proletariat. But in order that it may really be the vanguard, the party must be armed with a revolutionary theory, with a knowledge of the laws of the movement, with a knowledge of the laws of revolution. Without this it will be impotent to guide the struggle of the proletariat and to lead the proletariat. The party cannot be a real party if it limits itself to registering what the masses of the working class think or experience, if it drags along at the tail of the spontaneous movement, if it does not know how to overcome the inertia and the political indifference of the spontaneous movement, or if it cannot rise above the transient interests of the proletariat, if it cannot raise the masses to the level of the class interests of the proletariat. The party must take its stand at the head of the working class, it must see ahead of the working class, lead the proletariat and not trail behind the spontaneous movement . . ."

In other words, the party sets the pace and rejects deviations. Those who cannot go along must be purged and, if necessary, killed. The process of purging and killing is continuous in Communist parties throughout the world.

When in 1929, Stalin decided that the American Communist party must not be led by Jews, he actually arrested Jay Lovestone and Ben Gitlow, then the leaders of that party in America, and held them prisoner until he could reorganize the American party. Earl Browder, after years of hard work and unparalleled loyalty to Russia, was purged and driven from the Communist party when the line changed from co-operation with the United States to the cold war.

The reason for the purge of Jews from the Communist party in Romania and Czechoslovakia—and it will be done all over the world—is the new position that Stalin is taking of weaning the Arab states from the United States. The Arabs possess oil; but more, they hold a strategic position in the Moslem world throughout the Near East and in North Africa from Cairo to Casablanca. Russia is now infiltrating all Arab countries as part of the cold war.

Stalin therefore makes Jews, Zionists and the state of Israel the target for special enmity. He declares Israel to be an American satellite and Zionism an American weapon of war. If the Arabs fall for this propaganda, he will first move into Iran and then into Iraq, Syria, Saudi Arabia, Jordan, and Egypt.

This is a very serious problem for the United States because if Stalin captures Arab oil, our position, and that of our allies in the Mediterranean and Southern Europe, becomes imperilled. A new move has been made on the chess board of the permanent war.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—President Truman has suddenly discovered that General MacArthur knows something about the war in the Far East which might be helpful to the American people. For many months—in fact, since April 1951—General MacArthur has been on inactive duty and available to anybody in the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff or the White House for consultation. But he was never asked for his opinions. Having volunteered a few ideas to Mr. Truman early in 1951 which set off a chain of events that resulted in summary dismissal from his post, the former Eastern commander has maintained a discreet silence ever since.

Now, with the prospect of a new President in the White House, Gen. MacArthur volunteered publicly that he had a solution for the Far Eastern problem, and promptly President-elect Eisenhower said he was interested and would want any ideas he could get.

The contrast between the Eisenhower alertness to gather information from any competent source and Mr. Truman's long-time snub of the former Far Eastern commander is dramatized still further by the Truman statement now that, if Gen. MacArthur has any solution, he should send it at once to the White House.

Easy To Set

Since Mr. Truman is still President, he could command Gen. MacArthur to submit a memorandum, but it is not likely that this will be necessary, for, if the White House wants information from Gen. MacArthur, he probably would be glad to sit down with the Joint Chiefs and give them his ideas. This subject isn't anything that can be set down completely on paper but requires lengthy conferences.

It is significant that Gen. MacArthur speaks of the changed conditions in Korea, and it is also to be noted that Gen. Eisenhower, in one of his messages to the former Far Eastern commander this week, spoke of the necessity of making a plan that would bring peace—both men rather refuted any impression of an enlarged war. Actually Gen. MacArthur's proposals have been associated heretofore in the minds of his critics here and abroad with an all-out offensive. An examination of his proposals, as revealed to Congress and its joint investigating committee, will show that Gen. MacArthur favored:

First, a naval blockade of the China Coast so as to stop the smuggling of strategic materials into Communist areas. With this was to be applied an intensification of the whole economic embargo.

Second, the use of Chinese Nationalist troops to raid the mainland, but without the ordering of any American troops to assist in any such mainland invasion.

Third, the removal of restrictions on air reconnaissance of bases in Manchuria and along the China Coast if planes from that area continued their attacks in Korean territory.

While there were other MacArthur recommendations in addition, it is doubtful whether his plan today calls for any enlarged operations on the Korean peninsula. It could, however, involve attacks by amphibious landings or raids behind the Communist lines, and it could involve exerting pressure on the China mainland so as to cause the Communist Chinese to withdraw troops from Korea and thus compel a truce. But, whatever the plan is, the public isn't likely to know much about it for a while.

Gen. Eisenhower has great respect for Gen. MacArthur's military ability. These two men have had unprecedented responsibility in wartime and since. They talk the same language—the language of orderly and cautious military strategy. Neither one would embark on a reckless adventure, though each would not be averse to a calculated risk in a normal military operation.

What makes the whole problem complicated is the fact that Gen. Eisenhower, who after inauguration will have full responsibility so far as the United States is concerned, does not have control of the policies of our allies in Europe. They must agree to any new plans or proposals, and that's one of the frustrations that have produced the Korean stalemate. When 12 governments have to be consulted on each move, it means debates and ultimately compromises that weaken the proposal. In wartime the commander-in-chief of allied forces has had a wide discretionary authority. If some such setup can be developed now—so that Russia will know that Gen. Mark Clark, for instance, subject only to the commands of the Joint Chiefs of Staff here, has full authority to evolve a plan and put it into effect—it may prove a clincher in forcing an early truce.

Apart from the military aspects, the Eisenhower-MacArthur meeting has some political overtones. Many followers of MacArthur felt during the campaign that he should have been called on by Gen. Eisenhower, while some of the followers of Ike felt it was the other way around and that MacArthur, since he was keynoter of the Republican convention, should have offered his services for the political campaign. The forthcoming meeting between the two military leaders will wash out much of this coolness and bring about a better relationship not only between the generals but between factions inside the Republican party. It was a wise procedure on the part of both men.

Matter Of Fact

Planning For The Long Pull

WASHINGTON

Both President-elect Dwight Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles have been honestly appalled by the peculiar way the American government arrives at great decisions of foreign and defense policy. They have shared this emotion with virtually everyone who has had personal experience in this field. And they are both determined to do something about it.

The most significant proposal for doing something about it which Dulles has discussed with Eisenhower, has never been adequately described. What Dulles has in mind, albeit still rather tentatively, is a sort of national policy-planning staff, whose members will spend all their time and energy planning American strategy in the cold war.

To grasp the significance of this idea, it is necessary to understand how American policy is now made. It is only fair to say that President Harry S. Truman actually did "do something about it," when he accepted the proposal originated by the late James Forrestal for a National Security Council. On the National Security Council, all the chief policy-making officers of the government are supposed collectively to hammer out an agreed common policy.

The National Security Council has been a useful device. The American government has less of a tendency than in the past to pursue a half dozen mutually contradictory policies all at the same time. But the National Security Council, although it has helped to prevent chaos, has certainly failed to bring order into the policy-making process.

Policy Becomes Meaningless

This process usually operates about as follows. A "Policy Paper" is originated at some point in the government—perhaps in the State Department's own policy planning staff, perhaps in the Defense Department, or the Psychological Strategy Board, or the National Security Resources Board, or the Central Intelligence Agency, or some other department or agency with a claim to policy-making functions.

Often originating such a paper is itself an endless business—one important policy paper originated in the State Department required nine months in the process of its birth. Then when the paper is born, it must be "co-ordinated" with the other agencies and departments concerned. This is an even more endless business. By tortuous routes, the paper makes its way up to the senior staff of the National Security Council, consisting of subordinates designated by the actual members of the NSC. These subordinates are all busy men, who have many other things to do. Finally the paper is submitted to the members of the council, even busier men. Then, if he approves it, the paper is at last signed by the President.

At this point, the policy paper originated so long ago embodies the official policy of the United States. The trouble is that by this time the paper has usually been co-ordinated to death. The co-ordinating process has involved so many compromises that the paper is nothing but meaningless mush.

This is one reason why the United States tends often to act like some powerful but sluggardly and almost mindless animal, capable of reacting strongly only to specific stimuli — a crisis in Greece, perhaps, or an invasion of Korea. The idea Dulles has discussed with Eisenhower and others would radically alter the laborious and spasmodic process of making American policy.

Looking To Future

A staff of distinguished and experienced men would be recruited and placed under the direct control of the National Security Council. This staff might include officials on loan from individual departments, but it would be "owned," in bureaucratic parlance, by the NSC. Its members would have one job and one only—to plan American long-range policy in specific, realistic, and unmushy terms. To give this national staff authority and prestige, its chairman should himself be a member of the NSC.

As Dulles is well aware, there may be serious practical objections to this proposal. Above all, there is the problem of conflicting authority. What happens when the secretary of State himself, for example, strongly opposes the views of the national policy planning staff? But at least it is reassuring that Eisenhower and Dulles have been thinking in such terms.

To be fair again, since the war the Truman administration has not really done so badly in responding

Probing The Big Blow

To the ground bound residents of the lower latitudes, a hurricane presents one face. This is a gray mass of howling wind, water, and flying debris. To the scientist, calmly studying the blow with what is presumed to be detachment, the face is something else.

Hurricanes today have few secrets. The moment one starts making up in the closest storm kitchen, the eastern Caribbean, observers have it plotted, measured, and named. With long range radar, the speed and direction is figured with exquisite preciseness. Meanwhile hardy young men in hardy planes are making sewing motions in and out of the great revolving mass. They measure its width, the wind intensity, the condition of the middle "eye," and anything else of importance.

Sensitive and evocative men have described the feelings of a mere human when confronted by this natural phenomenon. Perhaps the senses are sharper when a man has deliberately placed himself at the mercy of this destructive beast so that others can know more about it.

It is known, for example, that the winds in the great whirling ring flatten the sea so that there is no perceptible wave trough or crest. The same winds put a hurricane hunter plane and crew to the cruelest sort of punishment. Anything not lashed down inside the craft becomes a darting missile. The plane groans and creaks; the wings seem to flap like a bird's. More often than not the tough paint film on the leading edges of the wings is worn completely away.

The contrast between the brute force of the winds and the calm of the "eye" in the center is almost a shock to the system. What does the "eye" look like? "It is a vast coliseum of clouds, 40 miles in diameter, whose walls rise like galleries in a great opera house to a height of 35,000 feet."

This is good writing, and better imagery. The young man who was among the few privileged to see the phenomenon has done a great service to bring the picture to life. On the same mission into the heart of the storm a companion plane disappeared and no trace of it has even been found. Nature's secrets aren't probed cheaply.

"One For The Road"

This being December, it's certainly not too early to start thinking about the problems connected with the holidays—including the parties which have been receiving increasing attention, during recent years. Which is just what the National Safety Council has been doing. And it has been thinking about those parties to good effect.

Stuart Little of the council recalls that the organization put on a campaign in a number of places last year that apparently helped cut the holiday mortality rate. It asked hosts and hostesses at Christmas and New Year parties to offer their guests one more drink before they left—but a drink of hot coffee, not liquor. That was to be the "one for the road."

In Boston Mayor Hynes made a special appeal that was given space in newspapers throughout New England. Hotels in a number of cities, including Boston, advertised that there would be a stirrup cup—of coffee—for guests at their parties. New Year's Eve and New Year's Day brought four fatilities in New England—but the year before there had been 13.

Maryland had a similar experience. Governor McKeldin with Paul E. Burke, director of the state Traffic Safety Commission, pushed the idea, and the public cooperated. And last year Maryland managed to get through New Year's without a traffic death, as compared to eight fatalities the year before.

Whether the coffee did it, or the publicity, or a combination of the two, cannot be determined, of course. Perhaps the emphasis placed on the danger—and folly—of mixing holiday liquor with gasoline made people thoughtful of themselves and others.

During the holidays, just as at any other time, it's better not to drive after drinking. But if there must be "one for the road," let it be a head-clearing draught of hot, black, steaming coffee. Add sugar to it and it helps even more.

Weather As News

Weather frequently is referred to as the favorite subject of conversation of rural yokels and city ditto, who are hard put to find something to talk about. But weather has become big news—front page news. Let it rain, or snow, or blow, and there is the weather in big type right on the front page.

It's all due to modern gadgets of living, it seems. A two-inch snowfall can inconvenience millions. An average amount of rainfall often becomes a near-tragedy because modern living is interrupted.

A recent snowfall in Kansas, and adjoining states, which mounted to seven inches in depth, made the headlines and picture pages as well. Thousands of motorists were stranded on the highways and there was hob to pay generally. But a reporter who leafed through files of a Kansas newspaper of 1888 found that in a comparative week in that year nine inches of snow fell and the blizzard that accompanied it has never been equalled for ferocity so early in the season.

But, as the reporter points out, transportation was not inconvenienced to an alarming extent chiefly because the principal method of transportation in that era was a vehicle called the "buggy." When an animal called a "horse" was hitched to the buggy, only the tallest snowdrifts were likely to prove impediments to locomotion.

How did the newspapers cover the storm of 1888? On page two, like this:

"The grandest snow storm that ever visited this section since its settlement, in fact the heaviest snow storm that has probably fallen in Kansas in a third of a century, was that of the night before last and yesterday. Surely nothing like it ever occurred in November.

"It will prove a great blessing, worth half a dozen ordinary rain showers and will fill the ground full to soaking, fill the fountains and start the streams. The prospects for wheat were never better."

How To Keep Well

Don't Treat All Children The Same

Many emotional problems are traceable to an unwholesome home environment where all the attention was lavished on one child. Such examples of gross favoritism are well known and usually affect every one in the household. But what happens when all the offspring are treated alike? This is the better situation of the two but is far from ideal. As one parent has said, "When we throw the same thing at all of them it bounces back differently."

Each child has a personality of his own. He has individual needs and individual care is required if the youngster is to be happy and feel secure. Some require more attention than others but if the parents make a reasonable attempt to impress the tot with the fact that he is loved and wanted, half the battle is won.

These differences in our little ones make family life more interesting. They come into the same environment but almost immediately take on their own characteristics. One child is more demanding whereas another is easily satisfied. There are the good and the poor eaters, the untidy and the neat, and the fast and slow learners. Mary has no regard for clothes while Martha must wear a fresh dress every day. Roger carries the burdens of the world on his shoulders and Tommy is as carefree as a puppy. The sooner these personality traits are recognized and appreciated, the easier it becomes for the parents to guide their progeny. In addition, each child is permitted to progress at his own pace under this plan.

The repercussions from treating all children the same were discussed by Dr. T. F. Coats Jr., in Southern Medicine and Surgery. One of his patients, a girl of 20, was suffering from a state of severe anxiety and depression which necessitated sanatarium care. There was not much difference in the ages of her two older sisters, who had been treated like twins: Each received the same love, the same clothes, and the same birthday and Christmas gifts. The father and mother decided to follow a similar course with the two other daughters, but the youngest was not happy with the arrangement.

While Dr. Coats was treating this patient, she described her reactions at the age of 12, when, as usual, she and her next oldest sister were given identical presents. She felt that if her parents had really loved her they would have selected something special that she really wanted. In this respect the "same things" reverberated because they did not fit different personalities.

Problems along this line usually arise with each new addition to the family. Older youngsters may be forced to take a back seat while the new baby gets all the attention. To overcome such difficulties the venture should be made a joint affair. The infant will require the same eight hours of care daily that was given to the others when they were babies. To avoid misunderstandings and mental confusion, much can be done by encouraging cooperation in looking after the newcomer. The smaller tots may assist by bringing clothes from the dresser drawer, holding pins for the diapers, and burping baby brother now and then. It also is wise to tip off friends and relatives to pay some attention to the other children when visiting the new arrival.

PERNICIOUS ANEMIA

I. Z. writes: Are there any dietary restrictions for a person with pernicious anemia?

REPLY

No, unless certain foods lead to indigestion because of the lack of free hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Victims of pernicious anemia are encouraged to eat more, especially liver and other meat, and in this respect the diet is one of addition rather than omission.

EYELID OUTBREAK

M. G. writes: I have been troubled for four years with an annoying rash and itching on the skin of my upper eyelids. I have tried all kinds of salves but the eruption remains.

REPLY

When ordinary ointments fail in this condition the physician usually thinks of allergy. Nail polish is quoted as the most likely culprit for an eruption in this area.

DIABETES AND WORK

S. P. writes: My son has just received a diagnosis of diabetes. Is tractor work too hard on him?

REPLY

No. Farming will do him no harm but his diet should be adjusted to supply the energy needed for heavy work. One of the many books on this disease should prove useful in your family. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a list of books on diabetes.

REPLY

Yes, because dilating the cervix and scraping the inner wall of the uterus (dilation and currettage) does not damage the organ and when healing takes place conception is again feasible.

6. Adlai emphasized that he didn't want anyone to get the idea that he was personally ambitious and already starting to run in 1956. For this reason, he said he had vetoed any idea of regular television reports to the nation and he would not make political speeches unless major issues came up. If any Democratic candidates invited him to speak during the 1954 congressional race, however, he said he would accept, though not seek, such invitations.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Soviet Anti-Semitism

The recent official murder of 11 Czechoslovakian Communists who were Jews represents no new departure in Marxian thinking. Marxism has always been anti-Jewish, as it has been anti-Catholic, anti-Protestant, anti-Moslem. Marxism is opposed to all forms of religion. When a Jew or a Christian or a Moslem is a Marxist, he disassociates himself from the faith of his fathers.

Although Karl Marx was born of Jewish parents who had been converted to Christianity, he was violently anti-Semitic. His article, "The Jewish Question," contains such a sentence as this:

"The emancipation of the Jews is in the last analysis the emancipation of mankind from Jewry."

It is true that a number of Jews were among the founders of the Bolshevik state in Russia. Stalin has killed them, until today only one remains in the Presidium, Lazar Kaganovitch.

During the Hitler-Stalin alliance period, Stalin got rid of his most capable minister of foreign affairs, Maxim Litvinov, because he was a Jew and therefore objectionable to Hitler.

In the philosophy of Marxism and in the Leninist-Stalinist interpretation of that philosophy, no individual can have a philosophic position, a religious faith, an approach to problems which differs from the declared attitude of the Soviet hierarchy. Stalin himself describes this position in his book, "Foundations of Leninism," which is the bible of Communists throughout the world:

"The party must first of all constitute the vanguard of the working class. The party must absorb all the best elements of the working class, their experience, their revolutionary spirit and their unbounded devotion to the cause of the proletariat. But in order that it may really be the vanguard, the party must be armed with a revolutionary theory, with a knowledge of the laws of the movement, with a knowledge of the laws of revolution. Without this it will be impotent to guide the struggle of the proletariat and to lead the proletariat. The party cannot be a real party if it limits itself to registering what the masses of the working class think or experience, if it drags along at the tail of the spontaneous movement, if it does not know how to overcome the inertia and the political indifference of the spontaneous movement, or if it cannot rise above the transient interests of the proletariat, if it cannot raise the masses to the level of the class interests of the proletariat. The party must take its stand at the head of the working class, it must see ahead of the working class, lead the proletariat and not trail behind the spontaneous movement . . ."

In other words, the party sets the pace and rejects deviations. Those who cannot go along must be purged and, if necessary, killed. The process of purging and killing is continuous in Communist parties throughout the world.

When in 1929, Stalin decided that the American Communist party must not be led by Jews, he actually arrested Jay Lovestone and Ben Gitlow, then the leaders of that party in America, and held them prisoner until he could reorganize the American party. Earl Browder, after years of hard work and unparalleled loyalty to Russia, was purged and driven from the Communist party when the line changed from co-operation with the United States to the cold war.

The reason for the purge of Jews from the Communist party in Romania and Czechoslovakia—and it will be done all over the world—is the new position that Stalin is taking of weaning the Arab states from the United States. The Arabs possess oil; but more, they hold a strategic position in the Moslem world throughout the Near East and in North Africa from Cairo to Casablanca. Russia is now infiltrating all Arab countries as part of the cold war.

Stalin therefore makes Jews, Zionists and the state of Israel the target for special enmity. He declares Israel to be an American satellite and Zionism an American weapon of war. If the Arabs fall for this propaganda, he will first move into Iran and then into Iraq, Syria, Saudi Arabia, Jordan, and Egypt.

This is a very serious problem for the United States because if Stalin captures Arab oil, our position, and that of our allies in the Mediterranean and Southern Europe, becomes imperilled. A new move has been made on the chess board of the permanent war.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—President Truman has suddenly discovered that General MacArthur knows something about the war in the Far East which might be helpful to the American people. For many months—in fact, since April 1951—General MacArthur has been on inactive duty and available to anybody in the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff or the White House for consultation. But he was never asked for his opinions. Having volunteered a few ideas to Mr. Truman early in 1951 which set off a chain of events that resulted in summary dismissal from his post, the former Eastern commander has maintained a discreet silence ever since.

Now, with the prospect of a new President in the White House, Gen. MacArthur volunteered publicly that he had a solution for the Far Eastern problem, and promptly President-elect Eisenhower said he was interested and would want any ideas he could get.

The contrast between the Eisenhower alertness to gather information from any competent source and Mr. Truman's long-time snub of the former Far Eastern commander is dramatized still further by the Truman statement now that, if Gen. MacArthur has any solution, he should send it at once to the White House.

Easy To Set

Since Mr. Truman is still President, he could command Gen. MacArthur to submit a memorandum, but it is not likely that this will be necessary, for, if the White House wants information from Gen. MacArthur, he probably would be glad to sit down with the Joint Chiefs and give them his ideas. This subject isn't anything that can be set down completely on paper but requires lengthy conferences.

It is significant that Gen. MacArthur speaks of the changed conditions in Korea, and it is also to be noted that Gen. Eisenhower, in one of his messages to the former Far Eastern commander this week, spoke of the necessity of making a plan that would bring peace—both men rather refuted any impression of an enlarged war. Actually Gen. MacArthur's proposals have been associated heretofore in the minds of his critics here and abroad with an all-out offensive. An examination of his proposals, as revealed to Congress and its joint investigating committee, will show that Gen. MacArthur favored:

First, a naval blockade of the China Coast so as to stop the smuggling of strategic materials into Communist areas. With this was to be applied an intensification of the whole economic embargo.

Second, the use of Chinese Nationalist troops to raid the mainland, but without the ordering of any American troops to assist in any such mainland invasion.

Third, the removal of restrictions on air reconnaissance of bases in Manchuria and along the China Coast if planes from that area continued their attacks in Korean territory.

While there were other MacArthur recommendations in addition, it is doubtful whether his plan today calls for any enlarged operations on the Korean peninsula. It could, however, involve attacks by amphibious landings or raids behind the Communist lines, and it could involve exerting pressure on the China mainland so as to cause the Communist Chinese to withdraw troops from Korea and thus compel a truce. But, whatever the plan is, the public isn't likely to know much about it for a while.

Gen. Eisenhower has great respect for Gen. MacArthur's military ability. These two men have had unprecedented responsibility in wartime and since. They talk the same language—the language of orderly and cautious military strategy. Neither one would embark on a reckless adventure, though each would not be averse to a calculated risk in a normal military operation.

What makes the whole problem complicated is the fact that Gen. Eisenhower, who after inauguration will have full responsibility so far as the United States is concerned, does not have control of the policies of our allies in Europe. They must agree to any new plans or proposals, and that's one of the frustrations that have produced the Korean stalemate. When 12 governments have to be consulted on each move, it means debates and ultimately compromises that weaken the proposal. In wartime the commander-in-chief of allied forces has had a wide discretionary authority. If some such setup can be developed now—so that Russia will know that Gen. Mark Clark, for instance, subject only to the commands of the Joint Chiefs of Staff here, has full authority to evolve a plan and put it into effect—it may prove a clincher in forcing an early truce.

Apart from the military aspects, the Eisenhower-MacArthur meeting has some political overtones. Many followers of MacArthur felt during the campaign that he should have been called on by Gen. Eisenhower, while some of the followers of Ike felt it was the other way around and that MacArthur, since he was keynoter of the Republican convention, should have offered his services for the political campaign. The forthcoming meeting between the two military leaders will wash out much of this coolness and bring about a better relationship not only between the generals but between factions inside the Republican party. It was a wise procedure on the part of both men.

Matter Of Fact

By STEWART ALSOP

Planning For The Long Pull

WASHINGTON

Both President-elect Dwight Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles have been honestly appalled by the peculiar way the American government arrives at great decisions of foreign and defense policy. They have shared this emotion with virtually everyone who has had personal experience in this field. And they are both determined to do something about it.

The most significant proposal for doing something about it which Dulles has discussed with Eisenhower, has never been adequately described. What Dulles has in mind, albeit still rather tentatively, is a sort of national policy-planning staff, whose members will spend all their time and energy planning American strategy in the cold war.

To grasp the significance of this idea, it is necessary to understand how American policy is now made. It is only fair to say that President Harry S. Truman actually did "do something about it," when he accepted the proposal originated by the late James Forrestal for a National Security Council. On the National Security Council, all the chief policy-making officers of the government are supposed collectively to hammer out an agreed common policy.

The National Security Council has been a useful device. The American government has less of a tendency than in the past to pursue a half dozen mutually contradictory policies all at the same time. But the National Security Council, although it has helped to prevent chaos, has certainly failed to bring order into the policy-making process.

Policy Becomes Meaningless

This process usually operates about as follows. A "Policy Paper" is originated at some point in the government—perhaps in the State Department's own policy planning staff, perhaps in the Defense Department, or the Psychological Strategy Board, or the National Security Resources Board, or the Central Intelligence Agency, or some other department or agency with a claim to policy-making functions.

Often originating such a paper is itself an endless business—one important policy paper originated in the State Department required nine months in the process of its birth. Then when the paper is born, it must be "co-ordinated" with the other agencies and departments concerned. This is an even more endless business. By tortuous routes, the paper makes its way up to the senior staff of the National Security Council, consisting of subordinates designated by the actual members of the NSC. These subordinates are all busy men, who have many other things to do. Finally the paper is submitted to the members of the council, even busier men. Then, if he approves it, the paper is at last signed by the President.

At this point, the policy paper originated so long ago embodies the official policy of the United States. The trouble is that by this time the paper has usually been co-ordinated to death. The co-ordinating process has involved so many compromises that the paper is nothing but meaningless mush.

This is one reason why the United States tends often to act like some powerful but sluggardly and almost mindless animal, capable of reacting strongly only to specific stimuli — a crisis in Greece, perhaps, or an invasion of Korea. The idea Dulles has discussed with Eisenhower and others would radically alter the laborious and spasmodic process of making American policy.

Looking To Future

A staff of distinguished and experienced men would be recruited and placed under the direct control of the National Security Council. This staff might include officials on loan from individual departments, but it would be "owned," in bureaucratic parlance, by the NSC. Its members would have one job and one only—to plan American long-range policy in specific, realistic, and unmushy terms. To give this national staff authority and prestige, its chairman should himself be a member of the NSC.

As Dulles is well aware, there may be serious practical objections to this proposal. Above all, there is the problem of conflicting authority. What happens when the secretary of State himself, for example, strongly opposes the views of the national policy planning staff? But at least it is reassuring that Eisenhower and Dulles have been thinking in such terms.

To be fair again, since the war the Truman administration has not really done so badly in responding

WITH EISENHOWER, (INS)—(delayed)—As this is written, I am not really "with Eisenhower." I wish I were. All four of his engines are working. On our press plane the outboard port engine has just gone on strike. We are miles out of Midway and soon will reach the next scheduled refueling base at Iwo Jima. There ain't nothing between except water, and as Everett Holles, the radio "pool" man on this trip, says, "It's all over your head."

We have dropped down from 14,000 feet to perhaps 4,000, and with elaborate unconcern Maj. Tom Dye, the aircraft commander, has told us that we're not going to Iwo but to Wake Island, where a Republican Marine named Devereaux—now in Congress—made a fine name for himself in the early days of World War II.

We might have made it all the way to Iwo in hot pursuit of Ike, it was explained, but even intrepid fly-boys like Dye and First Pilot Capt. George Martin of Baytown, Tex., and our high-powered navigator, Capt. Mel Bell, of Doland, S. D., who comes from a long line of homing pigeons, think it's kind of nutty to try to fly nine and a half more hours on three engines.

So we're going to Wake, "only a couple of hours away," a man from the cockpit said. "Only!" all of the bad swimmers on the press plane exclaimed simultaneously.

With that, somebody suggested that we start a poker game. The action was quite brisk. The boys were raising one another as if they loathed crash-landing with unspent office money.

(Later)

Now and then we'd look wanly out of the window at the militantly stilled prop, sticking up there defiantly. The remaining engines had more coal poured on them to give out with compensating horsepower. The plane kept boring through the air towards its new goal, Wake.

"Don't you think we ought to tell the brass in the other plane?" I suggested in a thin voice to Col. Paul Carroll, youngest living colonel in the press plane.

Carroll got off a message to the Eisenhower plane, miles up ahead of us, via a B-29 that was trailing us. For a long time there was no reply. Then came a soul-stirring, morale-lifting response. It read, "message received."

Back at Midway another Constellation, carrying a 13-man repair crew, tookoff and set a course for Wake. If it could quickly repair our engine (an injector pump was correctly diagnosed as the trouble) well and good. If it was going to take a lot of time, we'd take their plane and chase up to Iwo to catch up with Eisenhower.

(Later)

All Wake turned out to see our Connie land, followed along the runway by a fire truck. From the air, Wake had been ordered to keep the landing a secret; and to avoid sending any kind of report to Honolulu or San Francisco.

But the whole population of Wake was there, brandishing cameras, lifting children on shoulders to "see the general." Ike's trip was one of the world's best-kept secrets, but not on little Wake.

The repair job on the plane gave us a chance to ride around the place which the Japs took from a courageous little Marine holding force in the early days of the war. It is still littered with the gnarled and twisted rubbish of battle after more than ten years. A one-time Jap luxury liner, the Suva Maru, is beached and de-gutted, victim of U. S. Navy torpedoes and the sharp-toothed coral reef. We bypassed Wake during the great sweep toward Japan, isolated it from its supply lines, and 1,400 Jap garrison troops starved to death on a lonely Pacific island which now is a pleasant gas-stop on Pan-Am's flights to and from the Orient.

VEST POCKET STILL—Constructed of a couple of lard pails and a two-gallon can with cap, this gadget is capable of producing one and a half pints of illict moonshine on a single run, according to Oscar Cleghon, West Virginia liquor enforcement officer pictured holding it. The small still, captured on a raid in McDowell County, is complete with boiler, "thumping" keg and worm. A two-gallon container not shown provides the fermentation process.

Taft Fires First Squawk

Ike isn't in the White House and they're ringing his night bell.

Meaning the backseat drivers have ordered their 1953 models.

We thought Ike had done a job in picking out his cabinet. It is a good cross-section of who's who. Different from Franklin Delano's ha's ha.

But right here and now there are murmurs of mutiny on the slanted horizon about the size of a canape. Bob Taft beefed up a bellow that massaged the rafters.

Bobbert chafes over the appointment of Durkin go the labor swivel. Durkeroo voted for Adlai Stevenson right from the house to the barn. Just to make the putty all the harder, Durkin also opposed the Taft-Hartley law fang and claw.

When you smell burning feathers it isn't somebody curling ostrich plumes. It is somebody's goose being cooked.

We don't like to see Bob fly off the handle at half-mast. It's too early. The Democrats never started to quarrel until there was something to divide.

Let's calibrate Bob's squawk for weight and distance. He says the Durkin appointment is an insult to laboring men who ignored Durkin's copper-riveted hints to vote for Adlai. We oppose Taft when he goes for a short stroll on a complaint blank. There should be a Democrat in the GOP cabinet to tell the boys which offices are trapped with dictaphones.

When asked about the appointment, Adlai said, "no comments." Probably meant, "no commence."

That's the way it leans now. Ike hasn't even taken the sides off the red wagons. And Taft dropped a mickey in his beer.

to the tremendous challenges which have confronted a nation totally unprepared for them. But this country cannot go on forever imitating the "Perils of Pauline"—constantly pulling back at the last moment from the bottomless precipices which so unexpectedly open up before it. The United States must settle down for the long pull, for a painful test of staying power which, bar a world war, may last for a generation or more. And it is clearly this fact which Eisenhower and Dulles have very much in mind.

Your beauty and loveliness during the holidays depend on your planning and preparations now!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

With the rush on, it's perhaps timely to remind you that finding the perfect gift for each name on your list, devising the most enchanting decorations and providing all manner of entertainment will not make up to your family and friends for what they lose if you wind up both seedy and limp. For them, the crowning touch of any of the festivities is the pervasive glow of your presence, your radiant looks and spirits.

Loveliness Plan

To insure your lustrous appearance, plan now. As nothing prevents grooming slips and nerve-wracking scrambles like having all your clothes ready to slide into, decide what you'll wear for each festive occasion both in and outside your home. Actually write your plan on a sheet of paper — and along with it, a list of any needed repairs.

Be especially vigilant about refurbishing all accessories — shoes gloves, bags, hose, flowers, veils, scarves, jewelry, belts and trims of every sort.

Also make a place in your time budget from now until New Year's for the shampoos, sets and manicures that you anticipate needing. Since the beauty shops are especially rushed during this period, make any appointments you need well in advance.

Day-to-day Sparkle

Be especially faithful to your nightly beauty routine to assure your greatest loveliness. However late the hour or great your fatigue, do not fail to cleanse and lubricate your face, pin up your locks, check and repair manicure flaws. Be generous in your use of body and hand lotions, renew deodorants, remove fuzz and lay aside clothes that need attention on the morrow.

Your day-to-day sparkle depends on such rites, so let nothing interfere with them. There's nothing like finding your appearance up to par to set your spirits skyrocketing! Then you can be sure that your eyes, smile and voice project the essence of the season. That's when your own personal radiance becomes the greatest gift you can give to your family and friends!

YOUR POSTURE

To achieve grace of the highest degree—to make yours the posture ideal — to improve stance, figure, health and the appearance of your clothes as well, read the informative, easy-to-follow booklet "YOUR POSTURE". For a copy write to Secrets of Charm in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin to help cover cost.

New Congress' Problems Far Removed From Those Of First

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON—A new Congress will meet in January, but the problems it will face will be far removed from those which beset the first Congress to assemble in Washington 152 years ago this month.

The Congress which convened Nov. 22, 1800, met in the basement of an unfinished Capitol, in a new city peopled by only a few thousand residents and distinguished for its almost impassable streets and its lack of suitable accommodations.

The Congress, the sixth in the country's history, had held its first session in Philadelphia, voting before it adjourned to move the seat of the government to the new capital city in 1800.

It set Nov. 17, a Monday, as the date for the second session, but members were slow in arriving and when the day arrived a quorum was not present. Only 15 of the 32 senators and 42 of the 106 representatives were on hand.

Finally, five days later, Congress was able to advise President John Adams that it was ready to receive his message. Three inches of snow had fallen the day before and members grumbled at the difficulty they encountered in negotiating the dirt roads leading to the Capitol, which sat on top of a hill.

The President had arrived in Washington Nov. 1, making the journey from Philadelphia by carriage.

Adams in his address stated: "I congratulate the people of the United States on the assembling of Congress at the permanent seat of their government and I congratulate you, gentlemen, on the prospect of a residence not to be changed."

The President continued: "Although there is cause to apprehend that accommodations are not now so complete as might be wished, yet there is great reason to believe this inconvenience will cease with the present session."

This portion of the message scored a great hit with the assembled members and several heartfelt "amens" were heard. Many of the congressmen were experiencing difficulty in obtaining housing.

A large number lived in Georgetown, now part of Washington, but then outside the city. As a result, Congress for a while was compelled to adjourn in time to permit them to catch the return stage which left Tunnicliff's tavern around 4:30 p. m. Other members had obtained room and board nearer the Capitol, but many were forced to double up on sleeping accommodations.

While this was not entirely unexpected, members were nevertheless unhappy about the backward conditions that existed. Washington at the time consisted of only 8,500 inhabitants, including 2,000 slaves and 400 freedmen.

Ninety minutes before the time set for the joint session at noon the stage from Georgetown arrived safely with a large contingent of members. Other members arrived on horse, by coach, and on foot.

The joint session was held in the Senate chamber, in the basement of the incompleted Capitol. Only the foundations had been laid at the time for the rotunda (dome) and the House chamber. The roof of the Senate chamber was supported temporarily by timbers covered with plaster.

Vice President Thomas Jefferson not having arrived yet, the Senate selected John E. Howard, a senator from Maryland, as president pro tem.

President Adams drove up to the Capitol from the executive mansion, which was also unfinished, in a coach drawn by four horses, amid the criticism of some members who accused Adams of "putting on airs."

The small chamber was filled to capacity for the historic event. Gracing the rostrum from which Adams spoke were portraits of Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette, the gift of the French monarch to the Continental Congress.

Adams informed the members that the executive branch of the government was already established in the new capital and was conducting "the ordinary business of the government."

Another portion of Adams' address would score a tremendous hit with the 83rd Congress which convenes Jan. 3, if conditions made it possible for the new President to announce. Adams advised the Congress that he was discharging the Army. This was being done in accord with a law passed at the preceding session.

Adams was the last President to deliver a message in person until 1913, when Woodrow Wilson resumed the practice. Thomas Jefferson, who succeeded Adams, apparently thought the task of negotiating the swampy area between the executive mansion and the Capitol was too hazardous an undertaking.

New Congress' Problems Far Removed From Those Of First

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON—A new Congress will meet in January, but the problems it will face will be far removed from those which beset the first Congress to assemble in Washington 152 years ago this month.

The Congress which convened Nov. 22, 1800, met in the basement of an unfinished Capitol, in a new city peopled by only a few thousand residents and distinguished for its almost impassable streets and its lack of suitable accommodations.

The Congress, the sixth in the country's history, had held its first session in Philadelphia, voting before it adjourned to move the seat of the government to the new capital city in 1800.

It set Nov. 17, a Monday, as the date for the second session, but members were slow in arriving and when the day arrived a quorum was not present. Only 15 of the 32 senators and 42 of the 106 representatives were on hand.

Finally, five days later, Congress was able to advise President John Adams that it was ready to receive his message. Three inches of snow had fallen the day before and members grumbled at the difficulty they encountered in negotiating the dirt roads leading to the Capitol, which sat on top of a hill.

The President had arrived in Washington Nov. 1, making the journey from Philadelphia by carriage.

Adams in his address stated: "I congratulate the people of the United States on the assembling of Congress at the permanent seat of their government and I congratulate you, gentlemen, on the prospect of a residence not to be changed."

The President continued: "Although there is cause to apprehend that accommodations are not now so complete as might be wished, yet there is great reason to believe this inconvenience will cease with the present session."

This portion of the message scored a great hit with the assembled members and several heartfelt "amens" were heard. Many of the congressmen were experiencing difficulty in obtaining housing.

A large number lived in Georgetown, now part of Washington, but then outside the city. As a result, Congress for a while was compelled to adjourn in time to permit them to catch the return stage which left Tunnicliff's tavern around 4:30 p. m. Other members had obtained room and board nearer the Capitol, but many were forced to double up on sleeping accommodations.

While this was not entirely unexpected, members were nevertheless unhappy about the backward conditions that existed. Washington at the time consisted of only 8,500 inhabitants, including 2,000 slaves and 400 freedmen.

Ninety minutes before the time set for the joint session at noon the stage from Georgetown arrived safely with a large contingent of members. Other members arrived on horse, by coach, and on foot.

The joint session was held in the Senate chamber, in the basement of the incompleted Capitol. Only the foundations had been laid at the time for the rotunda (dome) and the House chamber. The roof of the Senate chamber was supported temporarily by timbers covered with plaster.

Vice President Thomas Jefferson not having arrived yet, the Senate selected John E. Howard, a senator from Maryland, as president pro tem.

President Adams drove up to the Capitol from the executive mansion, which was also unfinished, in a coach drawn by four horses, amid the criticism of some members who accused Adams of "putting on airs."

The small chamber was filled to capacity for the historic event. Gracing the rostrum from which Adams spoke were portraits of Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette, the gift of the French monarch to the Continental Congress.

Adams informed the members that the executive branch of the government was already established in the new capital and was conducting "the ordinary business of the government."

Another portion of Adams' address would score a tremendous hit with the 83rd Congress which convenes Jan. 3, if conditions made it possible for the new President to announce. Adams advised the Congress that he was discharging the Army. This was being done in accord with a law passed at the preceding session.

Adams was the last President to deliver a message in person until 1913, when Woodrow Wilson resumed the practice. Thomas Jefferson, who succeeded Adams, apparently thought the task of negotiating the swampy area between the executive mansion and the Capitol was too hazardous an undertaking.

Fourth Regional WSB's Industry Members Chart Course Next Week

RICHMOND, Va.—(AP)—Eight industry members of the fourth Regional Wage Stabilization Board, which represents all or part of five states and the District of Columbia, will decide here next week whether to resign.

Industry members of the National WSB and the regional boards in Chicago, Detroit and Boston already have walked out in protest of President Truman's recent decision to overrule WSB opposition to the $1.90 per day pay hike won by John L. Lewis for his United Mine Workers Union.

One of the regional board members here, Frank G. Louthan, said the industry members have made no decision on whether they will walk out pending a "jelling of the situation."

George E. Strong, chairman of the board, said he has "no idea" what course the industry members will follow.

The Regional WSB is made up of 24 members, eight each from industry, labor and the public. Six members sit at a time—two representatives from each of the three categories.

Louthan said he has suggested the industry members meet here next Tuesday or Wednesday when a meeting of the board is scheduled. He said that "we'll be guided by the situation in Washington as well as the action taken by members of other regional boards."

Chris H. Whiteman, another Richmond industry representative, concurred in the "wait and see" attitude.

The board serves Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, North Carolina, the District of Columbia and part of Tennessee.

Strong pointed out the eight industry members might consider the 430 petitions for adjustments pending before the regional board and decide not to walk out. He said the threat of industry tie-ups is more overriding here than with the "big board" because regional members "are closer to the grass roots."

He warned that an inactive board could affect production seriously. He also predicted that pressure for wage increases will continue to grow through the winter because of the tight labor market.

Besides Louthan and Whiteman, other industry members are Stark S. Dillard of Greensboro, N. C.; John J. Foster of Huntington, W. Va.; J. Edgar Kennedy of High Point, N. C.; Isaac E. Lewark of Clarksburg, W. Va.; and Glen H. Tresler and Richard H. Turk, both of Baltimore.

Charles Brooks Edward Dickel, and Leonard Miller, under the supervision of Lee Alexander and Lawrence Strem, were in charge of the stage.

Musical numbers for the program were directed by Miss Annetta Yates, instructor of vocal music.

This program, a tutoring project for junior high pupils who need scholastic help, is one of this year's activities of this Fort Hill Chapter. Officers of the group include Mary Hafer, president; Elizabeth Purinton, vice president; Shirley Brinkman, secertary, and Gerald Arthur, treasurer.

New members will be initiated from the Senior Class in January, and from the Junior Class in March.

20 Are Enlisted In Navy Reserve

Twenty of the 22 young area men recruited for the Naval Reserve were sworn into the Organized Surface Division 5-7 Wednesday in the Naval and Marine Reserve Training Center.

Officiating at the ceremony were Lt. Comdr. W. E. Woodson Jr., inspector-instructor, and Chief Petty Officer J. J. Ziner, Naval recruiter.

Two other recruits will be sworn into the CB unit here later, Cmdr. Woodson said.

Joining the surface division last night were Edward Clarence Athey, Byrd Arthur Gibson, Joe Ryan Gallen, David Harrison Kean, Donal Lewis Hartell, Donald Anthony Datri, Willard Oscar Athey Jr., all of Cumberland.

Harry Resley Hitchens, Donald Ellis Robeson, and Cleon Burdett Roberson, all of Frostburg; Walker Dixon Grose, Eckhart; Otis Watts, Route 1, Ridgeley; Robert Franklin Clark and Wayne Clifford Murphy, both of Lonaconing.

Ercel Edward Didawick, Homer Martin Shanholtz, Herman Cletus Nesmith and Charles Edward Roman, all of Berkeley Springs; Don Wesley Hockman, Romney, and Walter Raymond Ambrose Jr., Great Cacapon.

The two men who signed up for Seabee reserve are Raymond Elwood Allen, and Thomas Lee Morrison.

Resumes Teaching

LONACONING—Mrs. Forrest A. Simpson, of Nikep, who has been ill three weeks and a patient at Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, has returned to her teaching duties at Central Elementary School. She is fifth grade teacher.

Court Planning To Draw Jury Members Soon

In preparation for the January term of Circuit Court, which opens January 5, court attaches and one of the two associate judges will draw the names of 23 grand jury members and 25 petit jurors early next week.

Associate Judge George Henderson had been scheduled to draw the jury panel but he has been a patient in a Baltimore hospital and may not be able to do so. In that event the jury drawing will be by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris.

For the first time in the history of Allegany County jury service will be open to women. Voters at the general election on November 4 gave a majority in favor of women serving on juries.

The members of the petit jury for October have been excused by the court after one of the smallest court dockets in many months. Only 12 cases were tried before juries during the approximately two months the term lasted.

Clerk of Court Joseph E. Boden distributed checks to the jury members in the amount of $1,579.40. This included the daily pay for service and mileage for those living at a distance. Many cases set for trial were settled out of court while others were continued to the next term, according to Boden.

Cost of the October grand jury was $723.50 for the five days the body was in session.

Presidents William Henry Harrison and Benjamin Harrison were both descended from the Indian princess Pocahontas.

Creek Stench Draws Protest

Delegate Estel C. Kelly told the Mayor and Council yesterday it would be worth an expenditure of $10,000 to "clear up the stench" in Wills Creek.

Protesting the smell from the creek particularly in the summer time when water is low, Kelly said people on the West Side could not open their doors or sleep at night.

He proposed building a dam which would release water every 24 hours to flush the creek.

Kelly said firemen had done a good job last year in hosing the creek. The smell was reduced, he said.

Kelly was told by members of council that flood control work including the new dam in the Potomac over which the new industrial bridge will pass probably will remedy the situation. The city, meanwhile, it was said, will continue its temporary measures.

Kelly also said he and Delegate Fred B. Driscoll had been talking over the possibility of a public parking lot in the area back of the Girl Scout House or between Water Street and the Potomac River when flood work is completed. He said at least 200 cars could be parked there.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, said studies have already been made on the parking possibilities.

Driscoll added there would probably be room for an off-street parking building.

Zembower Heads LaVale Firemen

Cromwell Zembower was elected president of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company at the annual election Tuesday in the fire hall.

Zembower, an officer and trustee in the company for many years, is the immediate past state president of the Maryland State Firemen's Association.

Officers re-elected included Walter Alexander, treasurer for the 12th term; Eugene Kreissig, recording secretary; William Dressman, financial secretary, and Warren Livengood, chief, and Herman Shank, assistant fire chief.

Other officers are Henry Wintermyer, vice president; Brace Krimm, sergeant-at-arms; Bruce Long, two-year trustee, and J. K. Snyder, three-year trustee.

The firemen will serve the annual ladies auxiliary dinner tomorrow at 6 p. m. in the fire hall. Harry B. Klosterman and Zembower are co-chairmen of the committee.

The first electrocution for murder took place at Auburn prison in New York, Aug. 6, 1890.

There'll be a Christmas rush on Long Distance, too!

This year again, thousands upon thousands of people—friends and relatives who can't be together during the holidays—will be making those Christmas calls.

Service men and women will be calling, too—from camps and training centers in this country and from bases overseas.

All this means that Long Distance circuits will be tremendously busy on Christmas Eve and throughout Christmas Day. There may be some delay on calls made during these times.

To avoid the rush, and get faster Long Distance service, please make your calls before Christmas Eve or after Christmas Day. And you'll get even faster service if you'll always remember to give the operator the number of the party you're calling.

Thanks for your co-operation!

There'll be a Christmas rush on Long Distance, too!

This year again, thousands upon thousands of people — friends and relatives who can't be together during the holidays — will be making those Christmas calls.

Service men and women will be calling, too — from camps and training centers in this country and from bases overseas.

All this means that Long Distance circuits will be tremendously busy on Christmas Eve and throughout Christmas Day. There may be some delay on calls made during these times.

To avoid the rush, and get faster Long Distance service, please make your calls before Christmas Eve or after Christmas Day. And you'll get even faster service if you'll always remember to give the operator the number of the party you're calling.

Thanks for your co-operation!

Stark Is Found Not Guilty On Arson Charges

A wiry 68-year-old lumberman was found not guilty Wednesday in Somerset County (Pa.) Criminal Court on arson and attempted arson charges filed in connection with a fire at a saw mill owned by the Coddington Lumber Company of Friendsville.

Jacob Stark, of Glencoe, was acquitted on both counts after a jury deliberated about one-half hour. He denied accusations of a fire marshal and District Attorney Frank A. Orban Jr.

Shoe Demonstration

During Stark's trial the adage—If a shoe fits, wear it—found itself in the midst of testimony. An old pair of work shoes found under a cabin near where he lived was the center of attraction. A pair of overshoes also was found.

Stark was arrested after the Coddington sawmill burned November 1 in Northampton Township. Later it was discovered that an attempt was made to burn another nearby mill owned by the same firm.

On the witness stand, Stark denied setting fire to the sawmill. He also denied ownership of the shoes and rubbers.

At this point the defense attorney asked his client to try on the shoes. With apparent effort, Stark managed to get into one shoe and hobbled to the jury box to show that the footwear fit too snugly.

Orban then had his turn at shoe fitting. He asked the defendant to take off one of his two pairs of socks, and Stark protested he always wore two pairs of socks, "winter and summer." With one sock off, the process was repeated with similar results.

Went To Get Help

The district attorney claimed Stark discarded the shoes and rubbers after fire broke out so tracks could not be traced. A partly burned fuse found in a can of oil at the second sawmill also was introduced as evidence with the foot gear.

Stark testified he went into Glencoe to get help after he discovered the first sawmill blaze.

However, the prosecution contended the alarm had been sounded before Stark reached the mountain town. It also was charged that the defendant had been fired by the lumber company because he did not report for work regularly.

Stark, who said he also took care of horses at the two mills, remarked "I wasn't exactly fired." Then the case went to the jury.

Pence's Mother Hurt In Mishap

Mrs. Helen Pence of Fairmont, mother of City Recreation Director Robert E. Pence, was hospitalized after an auto wreck near Charleston Tuesday.

Mrs. Pence and her husband, John W. Pence, president of Fairmont State College, were enroute to Charleston to attend a meeting of the West Virginia State Board of Education.

Mrs. Pence pulled too far to the right to allow an on-coming truck to pass and the car overturned. She suffered minor injuries while her husband was not hurt. She was admitted to Charleston General Hospital for observation.

Freedom Drive Aid Is Sought

County school superintendents throughout Maryland have been asked by Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, state superintendent of schools, to cooperate in the anti-Communist movement being sponsored by the Crusade for Freedom.

"You are urged to see that all of our school children learn about the crusade and participate by sending personal messages abroad via the freedom-gram," he said.

For two years Maryland has been one of the leading states in obtaining signatures of individuals who have re-affirmed their belief in the dignity and right of men to be free, by signing the Freedom Scrolls.

Schools in Maryland, for the past two years, have explained to their students the battle against communism being waged by the crusade by means of beaming radio programs to persons behind the Iron Curtain.

Mountaineer Dance Is Planned Today

Former West Virginia University students of the tri-state area have completed plans for a "Mountaineer Dance" tonight at 9:30 at Minke's Cottage Inn.

The dance is open to all former students at West Virginia and their friends. There will be both round and square dancing.

Election Is Scheduled

The Police and Firemen's Welfare Association will nominate officers Monday at 8 p. m. in the squad room of the Public Safety Building.

LONACONING—Joseph Harris is able to be out after being confined to his home with illness.

Brooke's Holstein Wins November Butterfat Honors

Mary, a grade Holstein owned by I. L. Brooke and Sons, Pinto, was the champion butterfat producer in the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd improvement Association with 82 pounds of butterfat in 1,780 pounds of November milk.

The champion's butterfat percentage, according to figures prepared by Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, supervisors, is 4.6 per cent.

Second ranking in November was Mack, a registered Holstein owned by Lester Raines, Baltimore Pike, with 75 pounds of butterfat in 1,830 pounds of milk. Next was Christy, a grade Holstein belonging to Brinker Brothers, Springfield, W. Va., with 73 pounds of butterfat in 1,690 pounds of milk.

Raines had five of his cows among the top 11 butterfat producers last month. Two of them were in a three-way tie for sixth place and the other two were in a three-way deadlock for ninth place.

Other dairymen with a single cow on the honor roll were Ivan C. Wilson, Midland, fourth; John T. Mason, Cresaptown, fifth; Howard D. Llewellyn, Midland, tied for sixth, and Glen Savage Dairy, Inc., Mt. Savage, tied for ninth. Except for the Glen Savage cow, a grade Guernsey, all of the big butterfat producers are Holsteins.

The supervisors report that they checked 30 herds in the Tri-State area during November. The 569 cows yielded a total of 321,490 pounds of milk and 13,704 pounds of butterfat.

Two out of every five Illinois rural towns with less than 2,500 population have lost population in the last two years.

Play Equipment Stored For Winter

The City Recreation Department this week moved the last of its playground equipment to the city warehouse for winter storage.

The equipment had been left on school playgrounds the department uses in the summer so students could use it for several more months.

Robert E. Pence, recreation director, said the equipment will be reconditioned and stored, but will be taken back to the playgrounds as soon as the weather breaks next spring.

WHY USE BLACKWOOD?

JUST because a carpenter has a certain tool in his kit—that is no reason for him to use that particular implement on every job he tackles. It is the same with a device like the Blackwood convention. Some players use it willy nilly any time they consider the advisability of a slam contract. Others, who get more net value out of it, employ it only when the information it can elicit is helpful to the side, more helpful than some other knowledge that can be obtained in a different manner.

South's bid of 4-Spades was the very best available to him on his second turn. This pair was following the procedure of raising a major on the first round when holding four cards of it, to two, three or four, depending on the merit and kind of hand held. A deferred raise like this one, after bidding a different suit on the first turn, showed that South had only three cards of the original suit. A mere bid of 3-Spades at that stage would not have been sufficient to show the quality of South's good hand, so he bid four.

North was more than pleased by that call. Having five spades himself, he knew the side had eight trumps. With a much better holding than minimum for his calls already made, he was ready for a slam, and pondered over the best move to make in that direction. Though the pair was equipped with the Blackwood convention, he decided this was not a time to use it. If he had tried it, and South had shown the one missing ace, plus all missing kings, North still would not have been able to find out about the queen of spades, which might have been the decider between small and grand slam.

In a small slam, however, if South lacked the club A, he would obviously be that much stronger in secondary cards to help make the slam. So why use the Blackwood and thereby maybe merely give the defenders information useful to them? He therefore went directly from 4-Spades into the small slam, made easily with the loss of just one club trick.

Automobile Thefts Up Alarmingly; FBI Advises How To Keep Yours

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Correspondent

CHICAGO — Your automobile is more likely to be stolen sometime during the next 12 months than anything else you own.

That is the grim warning of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which this month is launching a crusade to cut down car stealing which it estimates now accounts for approximately $200 million worth of stolen property annually, and is on the increase.

Conferences are being held by the FBI and local law-enforcement officials in 100 cities to map a coordinated drive against auto thievery.

A similar crisis only a half century ago led to the formation of the Anti-Horse Thief Association to combat what then was becoming the leading type of larceny. The difference is that law enforcement machinery then was considered to have broken down in the face of the menace and private citizens took over, while today the FBI and local police are taking the lead.

They urge automobile owners to co-operate by taking these simple precautions:

1—Always lock both ignition and doors when car is left unattended.

2—Where possible, avoid parking in unlighted areas or overnight on the street.

3—Do not leave parked cars for extended periods without a regular check as to whether they still are there. A surprising number of automobiles are stolen right out of the garage.

4—Do not leave any articles of value in a parked car where the article can be seen by passersby.

In analyzing car thefts in 400 cities, the FBI has "typed" the auto thief. He either is a professional working in one of the big rings, or he is the "joyrider" who usually is a youngster who hops into a car and speeds off without thinking very clearly where he goes from there.

Both are frustrated by ordinary precautions, says the FBI, although it is acknowledged the use of "ignition jumpers" and devices for gaining entry into cars always makes them fairly vulnerable to seizure.

The FBI points out, however, that the professional usually has to work fast and with relative safety under his lawless code, so that he ignores all but "the sure touches." The kid tempted into a joyride is most quickly attracted by the car sitting with its keys left in it.

Insurance companies are in the act, too, pointing out that many of their policies now deny owners any recovery for a stolen car if its loss results from the owner's own negligence. Usually this consists of leaving the keys in the unattended car, often with the engine running.

The FBI also is enlisting the cooperation of public parking garages and local automobile dealers. Each is being asked to report any suspicious circumstances, and to aid in smashing the big interstate rings which are believed to be active.

Auto theft rings apparently have elaborate setups which literally redesign a stolen within a few hours, and grind down the engine block so that substitute motor numbers may be stamped in. They are regarded as particularly vicious because they supply stolen cars to be used in committing other crimes.

It is being pointed out that anyone who buys a stolen auto must give it up if it is identified even if he acquires it through a reputable dealer, because there is no way that you can get a good title to stolen property. So the FBI says the slogan is, "Let the buyer beware!" and he should carefully check all title documents and car numbers.

The trend of auto thievery has risen until now it totals 41 per cent of all larcenies, and it has soared 90 per cent in only five years. With a record-breaking 43 million cars on the road in the United States—a rise of 44 per cent since 1942—it is feared that it will continue to rise.

In 1948 there were 4,013 automobiles stolen in Chicago, of which 3,952 were recovered; 101 were stripped. In 1951 there were 7,287 stolen, 7,014 recovered, and 443 stripped. This year the total may go above 8,000.

The relatively high recovery figures indicate that despite its growing prevalence, stealing autos is an "unhealthy" practice. The aim of the law enforcement groups is to make it pay still less to criminals.

"Eternal vigilance on the part of the public" is the biggest ally now being sought in the crusade. This include not only locking cars and keeping an eye on them, but also not picking up hitchhikers or leaving the doors unlocked during night time driving. These practices, say the FBI, often leave the owner walking while a nervy thief speeds off with the car.

ALL BUT VANISHED—Here is the Tygart River just outside Elkins, and looking towards Norton on U. S. Route 119, at the height of the fall dry spell during which forest fires raged out of control throughout West Virginia for weeks. Other large streams took on a similar appearance, and the Holly River near Webster Springs was virtually bone dry at a spot where it normally is at least 15 feet wide.

My New York
by Mel Heimer

Through the dirty streets the matchbook covers, the papers, the cigaret butts, the rubbish swirls along by the gutters, and the sidewalks are almost empty as they glisten in the gray, foggy early afternoon. The city is a giant, homely, desolate dog standing submissively in the tub for its bath, and its fleas have gone deep into its fur, where no detergent will find them.

Down it comes, endlessly drumming across the tarred rooftops and the elevated stations, rolling slowly then quickly down window panes as if it were doing a beguine, making the neon lights of the Third Avenue saloons stand out bravely and sharply in the gloom. The Empire State Building's pin-pointed tower is buried out of sight in the mist and the limbs of the tired old trees in Central Park, stripped of their Paris gowns now, are shiny and black as they lift to the sky.

Under the shaky old train tracks over the Bowery, the windows of the cheap little restaurants are fogged and streaked with rainwater and dirt, and inside the pitiful cafes the broken old ones are dawdling over their six-cent bowls of soup, knowing a good thing never lasts forever but trying to stretch it out a little.

The rain is different on the Bowery from anywhere else. It is cold and sleety; it cuts through your clothes like a probing, impersonal X-ray; it chills you to whatever it is remains inside you, a heart or a soul or lungs and intestines.

Inside, with a door closed between you and it, is your only salvation. Even the dim, dank doorways where you spend so much of your lifetime, sprawling and snoring and twitching fitfully in your terrible, soaked dreams, are no help against the rain. Its fingers reach into the doorways and probe some more, turning you over and spitting impersonally on you as it studies you coldly.

Down in the Village, an amorous piano player leaves off telling a wistful little model how beautiful she is, and goes to the window and looks out at the gray, slanting sheets of water and remembers an unfinished fugue, or maybe something as simple as a little redhead in a Topeka night club. The rain will not change the wantoness of the amorous piano player; in a moment he will return to his whimsical pursuit of the floozie. However, just for now he stands by the window looking out, for this is beauty of its kind and there is something in his cheap, tinny insides that calls out softly the answering chord to the blurred, haunting cantata of the rain.

In the middle of the sinful city, where the unending tidal wave of rubes mushrooms dazedly past the movie houses and papaya-juice stands, the only pedestrians are heavily made-up showgirls skipping through the rain, hunting for cabs, and the dancehall doorways are full of the sideburned, suedeshod, empty men with the old eyes who on dryer days are on the street corners talking horses and show business and the big deals they have in the works.

The theater lights wiggle and shimmer. The men who flip the pancakes or shape the egg-mounds in the restaurant windows stand idly by, their audiences gone. Buses hiss by, almost skittering along on the wet macadam like old ladies hurrying home.

By the river fronts, the piers stretch faintly out into the greasy, choppy water, disappearing into the fog like ramps leading to purgatory. A tug's horn keens its tragic note. Fruit trucks roll by on the cobbly streets and fish lie still and unseeing in the barrels and trays of the markets, gusts of the rain brushing over them as if in benediction. Men in dirty white aprons, smoking cigars, their thick hands cold and smelly from the fish, sit quietly and look out at the downpour, talking of ships and politics and unions.

Inside? Inside, in the thousands of buildings spilling crazily through the roads of the island, it is like inside from the rain anywhere. A little boy in overalls looks out at the wet nothingness and in the kitchen his mother looks again at the cookbook to make sure how many tablespoonsful. A secretary bends lazily over a typewriter and a bank president says I forgot to drop the car off for a grease job. People stir slowly through their quiet rooms, sleepily, aimlessly, uncertainly, and a few of them here and there say to themselves the way people do, maybe this time it will never stop. Maybe it will rain forever.

How To Tell Diamonds From Rhinestones

It seems like every time I pick up a literary review section, I find someone has written another book about William Randolph Hearst, usually a stranger who never met him. These tomes deal mostly with the colorful days of his journalistic career and the characters he had around him. Those were good times in the newspaper business when you had to keep your head up, and it was dangerous to bend over to tie your shoe without looking behind you first.

John Wheeler

This all reminds me of an experience I had years ago which sharpened me up and taught me, if you expected to settle back on your heels, it would be a good thing to get into some quieter trade. I arrived in Seattle where I was struck by a daily feature appearing in the Post Intelligencer called "Ye Towne Gossip" written in a sort of blank verse form and signed K. C. B. It didn't take a Gallup poll for me to discover nearly everybody in town, who could read, was talking about it. The author's name was Kenneth C. Beaton, as I found out when I looked him up.

"What do you make here?" I asked him, cutting a lot of red tape and eliminating the persiflage.

"Fifty dollars a week," he answered with equal frankness.

"Let me take some of your columns along, because I think I can sell them, and we'll pay you 50 per cent of all income."

A week or so later, I arrived in San Francisco, and, as soon as I changed my collar, started making the rounds. I stopped to see one of the Hearst editors who greeted me affably. Then I told him about my Seattle discovery and showed him some samples.

"It's good stuff all right," he commented, "but we are so crowded and hard up for space, we just couldn't use it." How many times have I heard the same excuse in my long and varied career?

That evening we went together to a preview of the World's Fair, which shows how long ago it was, and among other attractions we took in on the midway was a number billed as "The Dance of the Girl with the Diamond Teeth." She appeared scantily clad for those days, and did a fairly sensational can-can while the spotlight shone on her form, especially her teeth which reflected the rays. The show didn't keep me awake that night. The next day I saw an imitation of my Seattle find in the Hearst paper. I called my friend.

"Say," I began, "I guess that girl we watched dance didn't have real diamonds in her teeth—just rhinestones."

"Why do you mention that?" he replied.

"Because if they had been genuine, you would have stolen them. I see you have an imitation of 'Ye Towne Gossip' in your paper today."

He laughed lightly.

"Just a coincidence," he answered. "An assessor brought one in the office this morning, and we thought we would run it."

There was no hard feeling on either side which shows the temper of the times. However, I put the proofs back in my bag, and left them there until I got to New York. Then I showed them to the editor of the old New York Daily Mail who agreed to pay $50 a week and Victor Lawson, the owner of the Chicago Daily News, promised to do likewise. I wired Beaton, offering him $100 weekly on a year's contract plus his expenses to come to New York. He replied,

"Have just made a deal with the San Francisco Examiner. Sorry."

Some time later I saw him.

"How much did you get from Hearst?" I asked.

"Seventy-five a week," he answered.

"Why didn't you come to New York?"

"Because my wife and I thought it would be shorter from San Francisco if we had to walk back."

It turned out to be a very successful feature and was widely published for years until he died. The author ultimately moved to New York. It also taught me a lesson. Don't offer a diamond for sale until you own it.

Discuss Plans For Summer Swim Courses

Howard E. Camp, Jr., eastern area Red Cross representative for first aid and water safety service, made his initial visit to the Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

Meeting with Mrs. Lee Witherup secretary, and James E. Kelly, local Red Cross water safety chairman, Camp discussed plans for the summer training courses.

Robert E. Pence, city recreation director, who was scheduled to meet with the group, through Mrs. Witherup, said the life saving courses last summer were a great accomplishment. He said he will continue to request life saving and life guard courses.

Kelly pointed out he plans to continue his training on a playground basis as in other years. In this way, groups from playgrounds, who are of the same age group and in the same neighborhood, may take the courses together.

As in the past, the free courses will be taught at Constitution Park with the City Recreation Department providing transportation.

PMA Committee Divides Funds

The Allegany County Production and Marketing Administration committee yesterday apportioned $28,292 in assistance for 1953 agricultural conservation practices among 652 farmer applicants, according to Albert O'Neal, committee chairman.

That means that the average grant for each cooperating farmer will be about $43.39.

Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover, committee clerk, reported she will notify all cooperating farmers either later this month or early in January concerning practices in which they can expect assistance.

During the year now ending $25,720 has been divided among 304 cooperating farmers, an average of $84.60 per farmer.

The past several months, PMA community committeemen in nine areas of the county have been contacting farmers throughout the county informing them of conservation practices being promoted in 1953.

Because they have stimulated more than twice as many farmers to take part in the program and the funds available are only slightly heavier than this year, the average farmer will get only about half as much in 1953.

England has had six reigning queens—Mary I, Elizabeth I, Mary II, Anne, Victoria and the present Elizabeth II.

Christmas Activities In Full Swing At East Side Fire Hall

East Side Fire Company has its Christmas activities in full swing.

The firemen are planning a Christmas party for children of the area, a Yule tree and decorations for the fire house at 411 Frederick Street and for the repair and distribution of toys for the needy children of the section.

The Christmas party will be held December 23 at 7 p. m. at the fire hall, with a program and refreshments distributed by Santa Claus.

The fire fighters are beginning to decorate the hall for Christmas and will erect and decorate a good sized tree.

Already in progress is the toy repair shop, where toys which have been donated are being repaired and painted for distribution to those who might otherwise not have enough toys on Christmas day.

The firemen said more toys, either new or those which can be repaired, must be secured if all are to be supplied.

Those who have toys to aid in the campaign were urged to bring them to the fire station or call 1407, so firemen can pick them up.

Marriage Licenses

John Raymond Fletcher, Woodbury, Pa., and Lois Alvera Kagarie, New Enterprise, Pa.

North End Field Is Set Afire

East Side firemen were called out shortly before 8:30 p. m. yesterday when a large vacant field at the end of Riehl Avenue in North End caught fire.

Firemen said the blaze apparently was set at two places, but caused no damage because the grass was extremely wet following Wednesday's all-day rain.

Two other companies answered calls yesterday, but neither alarm involved a fire.

West Side Company went to the apartment of R. E. McClellan at 303 Greene Street yesterday afternoon to remove a refrigerator which was leaking gas. There was no damage.

South Cumberland Company was called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Durbin at 1107 Virginia Avenue shortly after 6 p. m. when neighbors, alarmed by heavy smoke coming from the chimney, thought the Durbins' flue was afire. The family was burning papers in the furnace.

Discuss Plans For Summer Swim Courses

Howard E. Camp, Jr., eastern area Red Cross representative for first aid and water safety service, made his initial visit to the Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

Meeting with Mrs. Lee Witherup secretary, and James E. Kelly, local Red Cross water safety chairman, Camp discussed plans for the summer training courses.

Robert E. Pence, city recreation director, who was scheduled to meet with the group, through Mrs. Witherup, said the life saving courses last summer were a great accomplishment. He said he will continue to request life saving and life guard courses.

Kelly pointed out he plans to continue his training on a playground basis as in other years. In this way, groups from playgrounds, who are of the same age group and in the same neighborhood, may take the courses together.

As in the past, the free courses will be taught at Constitution Park with the City Recreation Department providing transportation.

PMA Committee Divides Funds

The Allegany County Production and Marketing Administration committee yesterday apportioned $28,292 in assistance for 1953 agricultural conservation practices among 652 farmer applicants, according to Albert O'Neal, committee chairman.

That means that the average grant for each cooperating farmer will be about $43.39.

Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover, committee clerk, reported she will notify all cooperating farmers either later this month or early in January concerning practices in which they can expect assistance.

During the year now ending $25,720 has been divided among 304 cooperating farmers, an average of $84.60 per farmer.

The past several months, PMA community committeemen in nine areas of the county have been contacting farmers throughout the county informing them of conservation practices being promoted in 1953.

Because they have stimulated more than twice as many farmers to take part in the program and the funds available are only slightly heavier than this year, the average farmer will get only about half as much in 1953.

England has had six reigning queens—Mary I, Elizabeth I, Mary II, Anne, Victoria and the present Elizabeth II.

Christmas Activities In Full Swing At East Side Fire Hall

East Side Fire Company has its Christmas activities in full swing.

The firemen are planning a Christmas party for children of the area, a Yule tree and decorations for the fire house at 411 Frederick Street and for the repair and distribution of toys for the needy children of the section.

The Christmas party will be held December 23 at 7 p. m. at the fire hall, with a program and refreshments distributed by Santa Claus.

The fire fighters are beginning to decorate the hall for Christmas and will erect and decorate a good sized tree.

Already in progress is the toy repair shop, where toys which have been donated are being repaired and painted for distribution to those who might otherwise not have enough toys on Christmas day.

The firemen said more toys, either new or those which can be repaired, must be secured if all are to be supplied.

Those who have toys to aid in the campaign were urged to bring them to the fire station or call 1407, so firemen can pick them up.

North End Field Is Set Afire

East Side firemen were called out shortly before 8:30 p. m. yesterday when a large vacant field at the end of Riehl Avenue in North End caught fire.

Firemen said the blaze apparently was set at two places, but caused no damage because the grass was extremely wet following Wednesday's all-day rain.

Two other companies answered calls yesterday, but neither alarm involved a fire.

West Side Company went to the apartment of R. E. McClellan at 303 Greene Street yesterday afternoon to remove a refrigerator which was leaking gas. There was no damage.

South Cumberland Company was called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Durbin at 1107 Virginia Avenue shortly after 6 p. m. when neighbors, alarmed by heavy smoke coming from the chimney, thought the Durbins' flue was afire. The family was burning papers in the furnace.

School Bus Driver Is Fined For Shooting Doe Illegally

A Paw Paw, W. Va. school bus drive was fined a total of $200 Wednesday in Trial Magistrate Court on two charges, one, of shooting from a paved highway and the second, for killing a doe fawn deer.

Carlton Parker, RFD 1, Paw Paw, paid $100 and cost for the second charge, but Magistrate J. Milton Dick suspended fine for the first count to which he pleaded guilty.

Parker was accused of the charges after he stopped his vehicle on Route 51, near Oldtown while driving students to Oldtown High School December 2.

Authorities said Parker stopped his vehicle and taking a "Japanese military rifle" from his seat, got out of the bus telling the passenger pupils to stay in their seats.

A student passenger, Miss Donna L. Crabtree, 15, RFD 1, Paw Paw, testified yesterday she saw Parker fire two shots at three deer located on an embankment near the road. She told the court one of the deer tumbled down the embankment near a creek about 300 yards from the highway.

While Parker was getting off the bus, two other buses laden with students of Oldtown High School, stopped behind the Parker bus.

Three other students in the second bus, told the court yesterday they also saw Parker shooting at the three deer and saw two of them running over the ridge after the shots were fired. Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke said from 75 to 100 students in the three buses witnessed the incident.

After Parker fired the shots, authorities added, he placed the rifle back in the bus and went down to the creek to investigate. When returning without his game and the pupils asked him why, he explained that he had probably only wounded the animal and it had fled. He said he only saw blood on the ground.

Minke, who preferred charges, testified that a witness who had seen the incident called him. He arrived at the scene to investigate —and found the deer had died after suffering for nearly three hours near the stream.

Minke also said he saw tracks in the two inches of snow near the animal and later identified them as tracks made from Parker's boots.

Parker will appear at a hearing Monday before the Allegany County Board of Education for further action.

In another case heard Tuesday, Eston Cyrus Champ, RD 2, Baltimore Pike, was fined $20 for hunting deer without a license. Costs of $2 were suspended.

Pleading guilty, Champ said he was on his own property, but Deputy Game Warden James J. Keating said the defendant was not near his land. Champ was arrested Saturday.

Another hunter, Clayton L. Smith, 614 Montreal Avenue, paid $10 fine after pleading not guilty to hunting without a license. Costs of $2 was suspended.

The defendant explained he was formerly from West Virginia and moved to Maryland two months ago and secured a permit. However Maryland gaming laws require that a person live in the state for six months before obtaining a license. Smith said he had a W. Va. hunting license.

He's Cat's Meow And Lion's Roar On Radio And TV

By MEL HEIMER
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK—Frank Milano imitates dogs on the radio—but before you decide to brush him off politely with "Oh, one of those, eh? How nice," look a little more closely at Frank. Here is an artist. Here is a master craftsman. Here is a man who, when asked by a program director to imitate a dog, replies: "Do you want a small dog or a big one?"

A man who observes nuances like that in his profession obviously is one of the greatest in his line. It is so with Frank Milano—who actually not only imitates dogs but is the creator of so many strange sounds on radio and television, from a talking motor boat to a strolling omnibus, that he is regarded as the No. 1 man in a trade whose members admittedly are scarce.

The Wilmington, Del., man, who really got started on his odd way through life by learning to imitate crickets as a little boy, is Little Nipper on those phonograph records, does the animals on the Bobby Benson program, sounds off for Gala-Poochie Pup and Poison Zoomack on the Rootie Kazootie TV show and has been, in the past, the "snap, crackle and pop" for a cereal commercial, an auto starter with a rundown battery, a motor boat on the Milton Berle show, a gorilla and even a mosquito. He has imitated virtually every sound but the voice of Tallulah, which, of course, is beyond duplication and perhaps better that way.

This business of being a sound-effects man with the voice is stimulating to serious-minded Frank, and he makes a good living from it—$35,000 to $50,000 a year—but it's hard work and you have to scratch around continually to find it. "Getting work in any specialty," he says, "is very tough. There's not much competition but a lot less work."

Now living in Greenwich Village, Milano is a onetime stock-company actor who turned to radio, became a job-relations trainer for the WMC during the war and later went overseas with a USO troupe led by Raymond Massey, for whom Frank did the Our Town animal sounds. The die was cast. When he returned to America, he abandoned straight acting and concentrated on noises.

Actors, as some of you may know, frequently use what is known as the Stanislavsky method of acting—trying to become, insofar as possible, the character they are playing. Well, Milano does it with his animals. He haunts Central Park zoo here in New York, watching the animals endlessly, trying to figure out why and how they act and sound, and finally, trying his voice out on them. They usually eye him abruptly with a "What was that, Jack?" startled expression on their faces.

Most of Frank's voices or sounds are done with his voice alone. An exception is a lion's roar, for which he's called on frequently and for which he tried, unsuccessfully, a megaphone, a small glass pitcher, a rolled laundry cardboard and even a ukelele sounding board.

To "get" the lion roar, he came up one day with an old-style butter-milk container through which he howled. It was perfect—but now he has a further problem, since they don't make that kind of container any more and he only has two of them left.

There's no doubt he's an ace at his work; when he did a dying horse on the Bobby Benson show recently, his last-gasp neighs were so effective that irate mothers wrote in by the score to say he had broken their children's hearts.

Then there's the achievement he's proudest of—imitating a squadron of B-36 planes that could talk. This one was so good that when he tried to sell it to an airline for a radio commercial, it was turned down as sounding "too macabre and eerie. He had done too good a job.

Another stone wall he ran into was when he worked for months to work out an eagle's cry for a drink sold in Canada and featuring an eagle as a trademark. Frank studied the eagles in the zoo until he was exhausted. He tried 300 different sounds and at last decided that an eagle sounded like a cross between a parrot, buzzard and crow.

Frank worked it out beautifully—and just as he did, a nation-wide publicity was given to a news story about an eagle that had picked up a little boy in Canada and tried to fly off with him. The publicity killed the idea of having the eagle talk as a commercial.

Like most serious artists, Milano won't kid his work. He won't even show his talents off, outside of work, except among close friends.

"I think what I do is just as dignified and important as straight acting," he says firmly. "Why shouldn't there be just as much art in portraying an animal or inanimate object convincingly as in playing a human being?"

ON STATE BOARD — E. C. Ather, Jr., Martinsburg farm equipment retailer, was named by Gov. Patteson to the West Virginia Aeronautics Commission to fill an unexpired term ending on June 30, 1954.

Russian Invents Stomach Camera

LONDON, Dec. 11 (AP)—A Russian has invented a camera which can take 12 photographs inside the stomach all at once, Moscow radio said today.

The broadcast said D. D. Maksutov had designed "in essence, not one but a dozen minute cameras squeezed together around a small electric bulb with a wolfram filament." Moscow said this is how it works:

"The cameras are lowered into the stomach with the aid of the usual rubber tube. Air is introduced which expands the stomach, and the correct situation of the cameras is checked by X-ray apparatus.

"The wolfram filament is ignited by electricity and in the blinding flash lasting the 100th part of a second, 12 pictures covering every part of the stomach are taken simultaneously."

Surgeons have praised the invention as a valuable aid, the broadcast said.

Rosenbergs Refused Stay Of Execution

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (INS) — Atomic spies Ethel and Julius Rosenberg have lost what may be the final round in their legal battle to escape death in the electric chair for espionage.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan denied a motion to stay execution and another to set aside their convictions by ruling that no substantial questions of law have been raised in the latest defense action.

The Rosenbergs, who have been denied review applications by the Supreme Court which upheld the sentence, are scheduled to die in Sing Sing Prison during the week of January 12.

Ike May Name Talbott As Secretary Of Air

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP)—Harold E. Talbott, a New York aircraft industrialist, said last night his name has been discussed as a possible secretary of air under President-elect Eisenhower.

At the same time he added: "I have not been offered, nor have I accepted any appointment. I have not been asked to serve nor have I agreed to serve."

He said the matter had been talked about and discussed to his knowledge but that he, himself, had no conversation with Eisenhower on the subject. Nor, he added, has he been consulted directly.

Girl Who Used To Be Man Will Tour U. S.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Dec. 11 (AP) — Christine Jorgensen, the 26-year-old American girl photographer who used to be a man, plans to make a nationwide, personal appearance tour of the United States to exhibit the color movie she has made of Denmark.

The curvaceous blonde, whose sex was changed by medical science, said today she plans to leave for New York Dec. 22 and presumably will spend Christmas with her parents in their Bronx home.

Russian Invents Stomach Camera

LONDON, Dec. 11 (AP)—A Russian has invented a camera which can take 12 photographs inside the stomach all at once, Moscow radio said today.

The broadcast said D. D. Maksutov had designed "in essence, not one but a dozen minute cameras squeezed together around a small electric bulb with a wolfram filament." Moscow said this is how it works:

"The cameras are lowered into the stomach with the aid of the usual rubber tube. Air is introduced which expands the stomach, and the correct situation of the cameras is checked by X-ray apparatus.

"The wolfram filament is ignited by electricity and in the blinding flash lasting the 100th part of a second, 12 pictures covering every part of the stomach are taken simultaneously."

Surgeons have praised the invention as a valuable aid, the broadcast said.

Rosenbergs Refused Stay Of Execution

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (INS) — Atomic spies Ethel and Julius Rosenberg have lost what may be the final round in their legal battle to escape death in the electric chair for espionage.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan denied a motion to stay execution and another to set aside their convictions by ruling that no substantial questions of law have been raised in the latest defense action.

The Rosenbergs, who have been denied review applications by the Supreme Court which upheld the sentence, are scheduled to die in Sing Sing Prison during the week of January 12.

Ike May Name Talbott As Secretary Of Air

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP)—Harold E. Talbott, a New York aircraft industrialist, said last night his name has been discussed as a possible secretary of air under President-elect Eisenhower.

At the same time he added: "I have not been offered, nor have I accepted any appointment. I have not been asked to serve nor have I agreed to serve."

He said the matter had been talked about and discussed to his knowledge but that he, himself, had no conversation with Eisenhower on the subject. Nor, he added, has he been consulted directly.

The curvaceous blonde, whose sex was changed by medical science, said today she plans to leave for New York Dec. 22 and presumably will spend Christmas with her parents in their Bronx home.

Oakland Girl Scouts Mark 24th Birthday With Party

OAKLAND — Girl Scout Troop 1 recently observed its 24th anniversary by holding a birthday party at the William James Hotel here.

About 100 persons attended the event, which included the presentation of the troop's annual Citizen of the Year award, and double "fly-up" ceremonies for Brownie and Intermediate Scouts.

This year's Citizen award went to Mrs. Lewis Jones for her previous Girl Scout work, her activities on the Garrett County Library Board, on the Youth Committee, and in church work.

Seven Brownies flew up to Intermediate rank and four Intermediates became Senior Girl Scouts at the service. They were: Brownie to Intermediate, Ann Lee Lohr, Gail Naylor, Barbara Germaine, Mary Mance, Charlotte Biser, Carol Sue Hardesty and Nancy Lee Record; Intermediate to Senior, Mary Ann Nally, Betty Biser, Judy Gallager and Joanne McCrobie.

First Class badges were presented to nine girls: Martha Sheehe, Mary Ann Nally, Brenda Davis, Patricia Winters, Barbara Lou Glotfelty, Judy Gallager, Lois Davis, Cynthia Nance and Roberta Sanders.

Avoiding Christmas Tragedy Noted In Fire Precautions

Now that Christmas tree-buying season is here, fire officials warn that special care must be exercised keep the highly combustible evergreens from turning Christmas into tragedy.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said a Christmas tree, chock full of pitch and resin, is one of the most combustible objects known. Once afire, it burns so rapidly that it's almost impossible to extinguish.

Reminding Cumberlanders that it was a Christmas tree fire which started the famed Hyndman, Pa., holocaust of Christmas Day, 1949, Chief Parker laid down safety rules for handling Yule trees:

1. Choose a small tree. It's less dangerous than a big one. Make sure it's still fairly fresh when you buy it.

2. Keep it outdoors until a few days before Christmas. Don't set it up too early. When you do erect the tree, put it in the coolest part of the house, away from fireplaces or radiators. Don't let it block an exit.

3. Stand it in water, or even better, use a live tree planted in a tub of earth.

4. Never use cotton or paper for decoration on or around a tree. Don't put electric trains under the tree.

5. Use only electric lights, never candles, and see that the wires are not frayed. Be sure the wiring sets for lights you buy are marked as having been inspected by Underwriters Laboratories, Inc.

6. Provide a switch some distance from the tree for turning tree lights on or off. Don't plug or unplug beneath the tree.

7. Throw away all gift wrappings as soon as the presents have been opened. Don't let them accumulate around the tree.

8. Don't leave tree lights burning when no one is home.

9. If needles near the lights begin to turn brown, move the lights.

10. Take down the tree and discard it as soon as the needles start to fall.

City Collects 84 Per Cent Of Total Levy

The City of Cumberland had collected 84 per cent of its $1,322,730 levy on November 30, as five months of the present fiscal year ended.

Collections on the tax levy were even better, at 96.6 per cent, according to a five-month report issued yesterday by Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor.

City spending was at the 42.4 per cent mark.

Finance Commissioner William V. Keegan termed the report "the best yet."

The report shows total collections were $1,109,436.38, or 84 per cent of the total levy.

This includes $2,171.72 of excess collections from state income tax. The city had expected to get $45,000 as its share.

Gibson said some additional money resulted from a drive of the tax department to collect taxes owed for the past several years.

The tax collections hit the $866,746.18 mark, which represents 96.6 of the levy. The account is sure to go over the top as the city recently mailed out some $63,000 of corporation tax bills.

All city accounts were about normal, except for the $8,050 contingent fund, which has dropped to $1,804.31, with seven months to go.

The Street Cleaning fund, which must take care of snow removal, still contains $39,651.87.

County Schools Preparing For Pre-Holiday Dinners

The Christmas meal for the public school cafeterias will be turkey —from three to three and one-half tons of it—William P. Cooper, director of school cafeterias for the Allegany County Board of Education, announced yesterday.

Cooper and Mrs. Gladys M. Eaton, supervisor of cafeterias and dietitian, figures that the cafeterias will serve the greatest number of lunches in the school year on that date.

There were 12,349 meals served at Thanksgiving and it is anticipated 13,500 will be served next week. There are 15,282 enrolled in school.

From 6,000 to 7,000 pounds of turkey will be used by the lunch program managers, an average of one-half pound per student.

To prepare for this big meal, the cafeteria managers will meet Saturday from 10 a. m. to noon at the Board of Education Building.

The menu calls for roast turkey with dressing, fruit or tomato juice, whipped potatoes, brown gravy, molded vegetable, fruit or cranberry salad, roll and butter, Christmas cookie, honey ball (a candy made from a combination of dried milk, peanut butter and honey) and milk.

As school recesses at 1 p. m. Tuesday, December 23, for the Christmas holiday, most of the schools will have their turkey dinners next week.

In the elementary schools, Christmas parties usually take up the lunch hour on the last full day of school before the holiday, Cooper pointed out.

Several schools have set their Yule dinner for Thursday, December 18, Cooper stated.

World catch of fish totals about 55 billion pounds annually.

Teen Party Season

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Assosiated Press Food Editor

What are you going to serve the young set during the holidays? After skating outings, pep rallies, platter parties, and just plain get-togethers, they'll want some sweet treats.

Here are two suggestions: The superb Date and Pecan Logs may be made ahead and chilled, then sliced just before serving. Holiday Doughnuts are prepared the easy way, from pancake ready-mix and flavored with grated rind. Serve them with mugs of hot spiced cider with cinnamon sticks for stirring and fun.

DATE AND PECAN LOGS

Ingredients: 2½ cups granulated sugar, 1 cup evaporated milk, 1½ cups chopped dates, 2 cups coarsely chopped pecans, ¼ cup maple or light corn syrup, ½ cup finely chopped pecans.

Method: Mix sugar and milk in heavy saucepan. Cook over medium heat to a soft ball stage (236F.), stirring constantly. Add dates. Cook again to a soft ball stage (236F.), stirring all the while to blend dates. Remove from heat. Stir in finely chopped pecans. Turn into buttered pan and spread mixture to cool. When cool enough to handle knead until creamy and stiff. Divide mixture into four parts and shape each into a roll. Pour syrup into a pie pan. Spread finely chopped pecans on a piece of waxed paper. Working with one roll at a time, first roll candy roll in syrup to coat, then in chopped pecans to coat evenly. Wrap each roll in waxed paper or aluminum foil. Let rolls stand at room temperature for about 2 hours. Chill until ready to use, then slice. Makes 1½ pounds.

HOLIDAY DOUGHNUTS

Ingredients: 3 cups pancake ready-mix, ⅔ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons grated orange rind, 2 eggs (beaten), ¾ cup milk, 2 tablespoons shortening (melted).

Method: Mix together pancake ready-mix sugar and orange rind. Combine beaten eggs and milk and add to dry ingredients; fold in melted shortening. (If dough seems too stiff, add a little more milk.) Roll dough to ⅜-inch thickness on lightly floured board; cut with floured doughnut cutter. Fry in deep hot fat (375F.) until brown. Drain on absorbent paper. If desired, fry doughnut "holes" and glaze with frosting made by combining ½ cup confectioners' sugar and 1 tablespoon orange juice.

HOLIDAY DOUGHNUTS — Made from pancake mix.

It's A Salad -- It's Christmassy

You'll have fun serving this jelled salad at your gayest events during the holiday season. It looks pretty and it tastes delicious, is rosy-red. Given the contrast of the fresh green of lettuce wedges, it's sheer delight to the eye . . . a note of holiday cheer on any dinner or buffet table. Then the taste! It's tart and refreshing . . . a fruity combination of apple, cranberry and orange. It's a salad crisp and crunchy to the teeth. You'll notice, too, that the crunchy pieces are evenly distributed all through the salad. The secret is canned apple sauce. It's canned apple sauce that provides smooth "body" for the chunky bits of cranberries, nuts and celery. The sauce is of just the right consistency to hold them so that they remain blended evenly throughout. It also bestows the delicious through-an'-through apple taste.

Apple Cranberry DeLuxe Salad

2 cups raw cranberries
1 orange, quartered
1 cup sugar
1½ cups canned apple sauce
2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
½ cup cold water
½ cup boiling water
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 cup diced celery
Salad greens
Mayonnaise

Using medium blade of food chopper, grind cranberries and orange (rind and pulp); add sugar. Mix well. Soften gelatine in cold water, let stand 5 minutes. Add boiling water to gelatine, stirring until dissolved. Combine cranberry mixture, apple sauce, walnuts, and celery; gradually add dissolved gelatine; mix thoroughly. Pour into 1½ quart ring mold, which has been rinsed in cold water. Chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens. Serve with mayonnaise. Yields 8 servings.

Christmas Mince Turnovers

No holiday delicacy carries more of the old-time traditions and associations of good eating and festivity than mince pies. These "delicious-scented, blissgiving pies" share blue ribbon honors with plum puddings and fruit cakes.

Old superstitions cling to many of Yuletide foods, including the belief that to refuse a piece of mince pie at Christmas dinner means ill luck for the year. In parts of Europe, the fruits and spices of the "minc'd pyes" symbolized the Magi's gifts to the Christ Child.

These mince turnovers, baked by the neighborhood baker, are given an added festive note, and a new taste sensation when served with the rum butter sauce.

Rum Butter Sauce

1 tablespoon cornstarch
⅓ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅛ cup water
1 egg yolk, beaten
½ tablespoon butter or margarine
½ tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 teaspoons rum
1 egg white, stiffly beaten

Combine cornstarch, sugar and salt in top of a double boiler. Add water and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Gradually add cornstarch mixture to beaten egg yolk. Return to pan and cook for five additional minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and add butter, lemon juice, lemon rind and rum; cool. Fold stiffly beaten egg whites into sauce mixture. Serve either hot or cold.

Yield: 1⅛ cups Rum Butter Sauce.

Coconut Pie Supreme

3 tablespoons sugar; 6 tablespoons flour; ¼ teaspoon salt; 2 cups milk; 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten; 1-½ cups shredded coconut; 1-½ teaspoons vanilla; 1 tablespoon butter; 2 egg whites; 4 tablespoons sugar; 1 baked 9-inch pie shell.

Combine sugar, flour,, and salt in double boiler. Add milk and egg yolks, stirring until smooth. Then add 1 cup of the coconut. Cook over boiling water 5 minutes, or until thickened, stirring constantly. Cover and cook 10 minutes longer. Remove from heat and add vanilla and butter.

Beat egg whites until foamy, add 4 tablespoons sugar gradually, and beat until stiff. Fold in hot mixture. Cool. Turn into cold pie shell and sprinkle with remaining ½ cup coconut, plain or toasted.

Cookies For Santa

CHRISTMAS TREE COOKIES — Hang them on the tree.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Have plenty of cokies on hand this holiday time for all ages. Let the young members of the family help with the mixing and decorating, and hang some of their masterpieces on the Christmas tree.

The older members of the family will enjoy a cookie and coffee party. If you're fortunate enough to have a 12-cup coffeemaker with a heat control, it will be easy to have plenty of the good beverage on hand. A coffeemaker such as this has a chrome finish and it's handsome enough to bring to the serving table. Once you press the cover on, it cannot fall out even when the pot is tilted, and it has a non-tippable base. Once the coffee has percolated to its full flavor peak, the automatic heat-control shuts off the current. When the coffee cools, the thermostat goes on again and stays on long enough to keep the coffee hot without reaching the boiling point.

Perfect with coffee or milk are these cookies. Economical nonfat dry milk is used in them so that young nibblers will get extra nutrition. In addition, nonfat dry milk gives the cookies extra flavor and a lovely golden color. Here's the recipe.

Christmas Tree Cookies

Ingredients: 2 cups sifted flour, ⅓ cup nonfat dry milk powder, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup shortening, 1½ cups sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 eggs.

Method: Sift together flour, nonfat dry milk, baking powder and salt. Cream shortening, sugar and vanilla. Beat in eggs thoroughly, one at a time. Blend in sifted dry ingredients. Divide cookie dough mixture in half; wrap in waxed paper and chill at least one-half hour. Roll one half of the dough at a time to ⅛-inch thickness. Cut into desired shapes. Make a hole near the top of each cookie with a sharp knife. Decorate cookies with colored sugar, sprinkles, or candied fruits before baking. Bake in a moderate (375 degree F.) oven until cokies are golden brown, 5 to 7 minutes. Remove from baking sheet and cool. If desired, plain cookies may be decorated with colored frosting. If holes have cooked together, gently punch out once again with a sharp-pointed knife. Insert string or wire ornament hook and hang on Christmas tree.

Gives Recipe For Perfect Pie Crust

It's fun to get back into the kitchen and do some baking after, perhaps, neglecting it in the past months. Your family is sure to appreciate this idea, too. And in the field of desserts, pie holds its own.

For pie at its best follow these tips given. See that your ingredients are chilled. First, sift the flour (1 cup for a single crust pie) with the salt (1 teaspoon). Cut the lard (4 to 6 tablespoons) into the flour-salt mixture until the crumbs are about the size of dried peas. Then add the water (2 to 4 tablespoons) a teaspoonful at a time. Mix it quickly through the mixture. Enough water has been added when the dough forms a soft ball.

Roll the dough to ⅛ inch thickness, and it's ready to line your pie pan. If you want a two crust pie, simply double these ingredients.

Bread Stuffed

Give frankfurters a bread stuffing. Partially cut through the franks lengthwise, then fill with a bread stuffing prepared of small cubes of bread, grated onion and finely chopped parsley. Wrap stuffed franks with bacon slices and bake in a roasting pan on a rack in a moderate oven for about 30 minutes.

Cookies For Santa

CHRISTMAS TREE COOKIES — Hang them on the tree.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Have plenty of cokies on hand this holiday time for all ages. Let the young members of the family help with the mixing and decorating, and hang some of their masterpieces on the Christmas tree.

The older members of the family will enjoy a cookie and coffee party. If you're fortunate enough to have a 12-cup coffeemaker with a heat control, it will be easy to have plenty of the good beverage on hand. A coffeemaker such as this has a chrome finish and it's handsome enough to bring to the serving table. Once you press the cover on, it cannot fall out even when the pot is tilted, and it has a non-tippable base. Once the coffee has percolated to its full flavor peak, the automatic heat-control shuts off the current. When the coffee cools, the thermostat goes on again and stays on long enough to keep the coffee hot without reaching the boiling point.

Perfect with coffee or milk are these cookies. Economical nonfat dry milk is used in them so that young nibblers will get extra nutrition. In addition, nonfat dry milk gives the cookies extra flavor and a lovely golden color. Here's the recipe.

Christmas Tree Cookies

Ingredients: 2 cups sifted flour, ⅓ cup nonfat dry milk powder, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup shortening, 1½ cups sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 eggs.

Method: Sift together flour, nonfat dry milk, baking powder and salt. Cream shortening, sugar and vanilla. Beat in eggs thoroughly, one at a time. Blend in sifted dry ingredients. Divide cookie dough mixture in half; wrap in waxed paper and chill at least one-half hour. Roll one half of the dough at a time to ⅛-inch thickness. Cut into desired shapes. Make a hole near the top of each cookie with a sharp knife. Decorate cookies with colored sugar, sprinkles, or candied fruits before baking. Bake in a moderate (375 degree F.) oven until cokies are golden brown, 5 to 7 minutes. Remove from baking sheet and cool. If desired, plain cookies may be decorated with colored frosting. If holes have cooked together, gently punch out once again with a sharp-pointed knife. Insert string or wire ornament hook and hang on Christmas tree.

Cakes And Cookies With Christmas Holiday Spirit

Happy holidays are here again and thoughts turn to food with a Christmas spirit. Crisp, prettily decorated cookies and picture-book cakes do much to add to the festivities of the holiday season.

Cranberry molasses cake topped with a wreath of green angelica and chopped red cranberries will be a sparkling dessert for any Yuletide meal. It also may be enjoyed throughout the fresh cranberry season. The Connecticut spice cake is a delicious, economical fruit cake that retains its moisture for a long time. Bake two before the Christmas rush and keep one for the New Year's celebration.

MOLASSES CRANBERRY CAKE

- 2 cups sifted enriched flour
- 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅔ cup butter or margarine
- ¾ cup sugar
- ½ cup unsulphured molasses
- 2 whole eggs plus 1 egg yolk
- ½ teaspoon lemon extract
- ⅔ cup milk

Heat oven to 375°F. (moderate). Sift together first 3 ingredients. Cream together butter or margarine and sugar. Blend in molasses. Stir in ½ cup flour mixture. Beat in eggs and lemon extract. Stir in remaining flour mixture alternately with milk. Beat batter ½ minute. Bake 25 minutes in two well-greased, lightly floured, round, 8" layer cake pans. Turn out on wire rack to cool. Frost with cranberry frosting.

Cranberry frosting: Cream ⅓ cup butter or margarine with 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar until fluffy. Beat in 1 unbeaten egg white. Stir in 2 more cups sifted confectioners' sugar alternately with 2 tablespoons milk. Place a layer of cake on plate; spread with frosting. Put 1 cup raw cranberries through food chopper, using coarse blade; sprinkle one-half over the frosted cake layer. Spread a thin layer of frosting on the bottom side of the other layer; place over frosted layer with frosted side down. Cover top and sides of cake with remaining frosting. Sprinkle remaining ground cranberries around edge of cake to form a wreath; garnish with angelica or citron cut in small pieces. YIELD: 12 servings.

YULE LOGS

- 2½ cups sifted enriched flour
- ½ cup sifted confectioners' sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¾ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup unsulphured molasses
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup nuts, chopped confectioners' sugar

Sift together first 3 ingredients. Cut in butter or margarine until mixture resembles corn meal. Stir in molasses and vanilla. Chill until dough is stiff enough to handle (about 3 hours). Shape pieces of dough to resemble logs, 3" long; roll in chopped nuts and place on ungreased cooky sheets. Bake 15 minutes in a preheated moderately slow oven (325° F.). While cookies are warm and before removing from cooky sheet, sprinkle them lightly with confectioners' sugar. Cool on wire rack. YIELD: 4 dozen.

Cranberry Time

Cranberries, with their bright color and tangy flavor, are traditionally good holiday eating. The fruit was originally called the craneberry because of the resemblance of the plant's blossoms to the head of a crane. Entertain your family with this bit of knowledge while they're eating a big Christmas morning bowl of hot cereal topped with cranberry sauce.

Cakes And Cookies With Christmas Holiday Spirit

Happy holidays are here again and thoughts turn to food with a Christmas spirit. Crisp, prettily decorated cookies and picture-book cakes do much to add to the festivities of the holiday season.

Cranberry molasses cake topped with a wreath of green angelica and chopped red cranberries will be a sparkling dessert for any Yuletide meal. It also may be enjoyed throughout the fresh cranberry season. The Connecticut spice cake is a delicious, economical fruit cake that retains its moisture for a long time. Bake two before the Christmas rush and keep one for the New Year's celebration.

MOLASSES CRANBERRY CAKE

- 2 cups sifted enriched flour
- 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅔ cup butter or margarine
- ¾ cup sugar
- ½ cup unsulphured molasses
- 2 whole eggs plus 1 egg yolk
- ½ teaspoon lemon extract
- ⅔ cup milk

Heat oven to 375°F. (moderate). Sift together first 3 ingredients. Cream together butter or margarine and sugar. Blend in molasses. Stir in ½ cup flour mixture. Beat in eggs and lemon extract. Stir in remaining flour mixture alternately with milk. Beat batter ½ minute. Bake 25 minutes in two well-greased, lightly floured, round, 8" layer cake pans. Turn out on wire rack to cool. Frost with cranberry frosting.

Cranberry frosting: Cream ⅓ cup butter or margarine with 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar until fluffy. Beat in 1 unbeaten egg white. Stir in 2 more cups sifted confectioners' sugar alternately with 2 tablespoons milk. Place a layer of cake on plate; spread with frosting. Put 1 cup raw cranberries through food chopper, using coarse blade; sprinkle one-half over the frosted cake layer. Spread a thin layer of frosting on the bottom side of the other layer; place over frosted layer with frosted side down. Cover top and sides of cake with remaining frosting. Sprinkle remaining ground cranberries around edge of cake to form a wreath; garnish with angelica or citron cut in small pieces. YIELD: 12 servings.

YULE LOGS

- 2½ cups sifted enriched flour
- ½ cup sifted confectioners' sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¾ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup unsulphured molasses
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup nuts, chopped
- confectioners' sugar

Sift together first 3 ingredients. Cut in butter or margarine until mixture resembles corn meal. Stir in molasses and vanilla. Chill until dough is stiff enough to handle (about 3 hours). Shape pieces of dough to resemble logs, 3" long; roll in chopped nuts and place on ungreased cooky sheets. Bake 15 minutes in a preheated moderately slow oven (325° F.). While cookies are warm and before removing from cooky sheet, sprinkle them lightly with confectioners' sugar. Cool on wire rack. YIELD: 4 dozen.

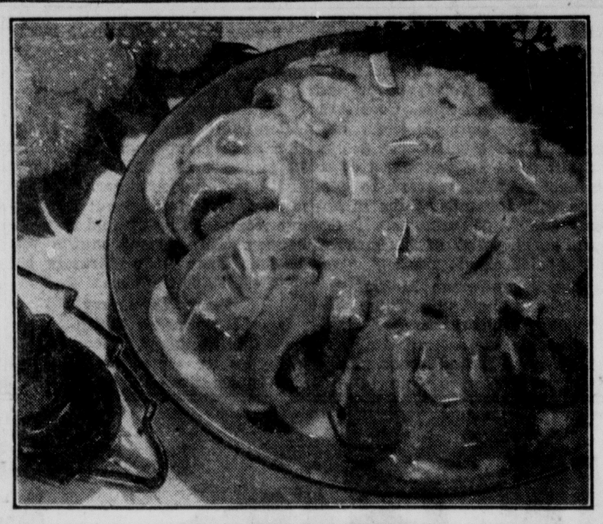
Creamed Chicken Wreath

The memory lingers on happily after Christmas when you serve saved-over turkey or chicken creamed style in a biscuit wreath.

You're practically all set with this dish when you start with condensed cream of chicken soup. It's the perfect sauce for dolling up a little cubed cooked chicken or turkey. Ladle the hot creamy blend over the flaky biscuit ring; and there's a combination that will fetch the family to the table in a hurry. With this easy-made sauce and prepared biscuit mix for the wreath, you'll find dinner almost gets itself.



CREAMED CHICKEN IN BISCUIT WREATH is a dish that turns a meal into a feast.

Creamed Chicken in Biscuit Wreath

¼ cup finely chopped green pepper; 1 tablespoon butter, melted; 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of chicken soup; ¼ cup milk; 1 cup diced cooked chicken or turkey; ¼ cup chopped pimiento.

Cook green pepper until tender in butter in a saucepan. Stir in soup, then milk. Heat slowly, stirring constantly. Add chicken and pimiento; continue cooking about 10 minutes. Serve creamed chicken in biscuit wreath. Makes 6 servings.

BISCUIT WREATH: Mix 2 cups biscuit mix with 2-3 cup milk (or make up your favorite biscuit recipe based on 2 cups flour). Roll biscuit dough into a rectangle about 16 inches long. Spread with 1 tablespoon melted butter; sprinkle with 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Roll as for jelly roll and pinch edges together. Shape into ring; cut almost through ring at intervals so it is divided into 6 sections. Bake at 450°F. for about 10 minutes or until done. Place on platter; pour creamed chicken over it.

An old-fashioned ice pick will take the place of a punch to make holes in a leather belt. Pierce evenly from both sides.

Cookies For Gift Giving Claim Brazil Nut Flavor

TREASURE'S where you find it, and what cove for loot is better than the kitchen when cookies are a-baking. Brazil nuts in a filled-type cookie and in nuggets dipped in confectioners' sugar are fair bounty for any pirate. See recipes elsewhere on this page.

A black and white picture must do the tempting, but how we wish you could actually see and sample these two prized Brazil nut cookies. The two-layer round cookies with the star shaped opening are taste surprises. The flaky crust is rich with gold-colored cheese, and the center filling contains chopped Brazil nuts and dates. Yes, cheddar cheese gives a most interesting flavor contrast to the Brazil nut and fruit sweet filling.

The Brazil nut ball-shaped cookies melt in the mouth thanks to the combination of ground Brazil nuts, shortening and sugar. The cookies are dipped in confectioners' sugar while warm from the oven. They disappear on sight and tasting.

YIELD: 2 dozen rounds.

Brazil Nut Snowballs

Creamed Chicken Wreath

The memory lingers on happily after Christmas when you serve saved-over turkey or chicken creamed style in a biscuit wreath.

You're practically all set with this dish when you start with condensed cream of chicken soup. It's the perfect sauce for dolling up a little cubed cooked chicken or turkey. Ladle the hot creamy blend over the flaky biscuit ring; and there's a combination that will fetch the family to the table in a hurry. With this easy-made sauce and prepared biscuit mix for the wreath, you'll find dinner almost gets itself.

CREAMED CHICKEN IN BISCUIT WREATH is a dish that turns a meal into a feast.

Creamed Chicken in Biscuit Wreath

¼ cup finely chopped green pepper; 1 tablespoon butter, melted; 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of chicken soup; ¼ cup milk; 1 cup diced cooked chicken or turkey; ¼ cup chopped pimiento.

Cook green pepper until tender in butter in a saucepan. Stir in soup, then milk. Heat slowly, stirring constantly. Add chicken and pimiento; continue cooking about 10 minutes. Serve creamed chicken in biscuit wreath. Makes 6 servings.

BISCUIT WREATH: Mix 2 cups biscuit mix with 2-3 cup milk (or make up your favorite biscuit recipe based on 2 cups flour). Roll biscuit dough into a rectangle about 16 inches long. Spread with 1 tablespoon melted butter; sprinkle with 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Roll as for jelly roll and pinch edges together. Shape into ring; cut almost through ring at intervals so it is divided into 6 sections. Bake at 450°F. for about 10 minutes or until done. Place on platter; pour creamed chicken over it.

An old-fashioned ice pick will take the place of a punch to make holes in a leather belt. Pierce evenly from both sides.

Cookies For Gift Giving Claim Brazil Nut Flavor

TREASURE'S where you find it, and what cove for loot is better than the kitchen when cookies are a-baking. Brazil nuts in a filled-type cookie and in nuggets dipped in confectioners' sugar are fair bounty for any pirate. See recipes elsewhere on this page.

Give That Leftover Turkey The Lure Of The Tropics

You were smart to buy a great big turkey because that is how to save. The bigger the turkey, the more meat for the money. But now come the leftover turkey meals. Don't let them be just turkey warmed in gravy. Vary the leftover dishes and you'll be glad tom turkey is still around.

A really novel use of leftover turkey is turkey salad tropical. Cold, cooked turkey meat is mixed with fascinating fixings like sliced or diced fully ripe bananas, diced pineapple and a bit of crispy celery pieces to give it that crunchiness you like. See the tropical influence? And those substantial bananas help stretch the turkey to serve more folks with salad. Poultry and fruit are one of the better food combinations, and turkey, chicken or duck in a salad with ripe, mellow bananas is really different and delicious. Make Turkey Salad Tropical your best turkey salad meal.

Turkey Salad Tropical

- 1 cup sliced or diced, ripe bananas* (1 to 2 bananas)
- ½ cup drained, diced, canned pineapple
- 1 to 1½ cups diced cooked turkey
- ½ to 1 cup diced celery
- 2 tablespoons chopped, sweet pickle
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon mayonnaise or salad dressing
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- Lettuce
- Salad greens for garnish

*Use fully ripe bananas . . . yellow peel flecked with brown.

Combine bananas and pineapple. Add turkey, celery, pickle and salt. Mix together mayonnaise or salad dressing and mustard and add to banana mixture. Mix lightly. Combine 2 or 3 crisp lettuce leaves to form a cup and arrange on each salad plate. Fill each lettuce cup with salad mixture. Garnish salad with crisp salad greens. Four to six servings.

Important: For additional color and texture contrast, cold, cooked peas, crisp carrot strips or radishes may be arranged on each salad.

Creamy Green Pea Soup

3 tablespoons butter; ¼ cup diced onion; 3 tablespoons flour; 4 cups milk, 2 teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper; 1 cup cooked peas whole or partially mashed; ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce (optional).

Melt butter in saucepan, add diced onion and cook until tender, do not brown. Blend in flour; gradually add milk, while stirring. Cook over low heat until smooth and thickened, stirring constantly. Add seasonings, peas and Worcestershire sauce; Serve garnished with chopped parsley or grated cheese if desired. Serves 6.

Cranberry Surprises For Yuletide

Holiday seasons are full of food surprises, and one of the best to be found is Cranberry Christmas Tree Pie. Fragrant with fruit, it's a delicious pie served warm with steaming cups of coffee. Fruits are turning up in new ways in muffins and relishes, too. Fresh from the oven, Cranberry Lemon muffins are wonderful on a chilly day. Muffins make such a difference to improve a meal, and it's the fresh cranberries and lemon that do so much to improve the muffins. New in the relish line is Tangy Cranberry-Horseradish, so good with the rich meats that are served in the winter months.

Cranberry Christmas Tree Pie
(Makes 1 9-inch pie)

- 1 package prepared pastry mix
- ¾ cup water
- 3 cups fresh cranberries
- 2 cups apples, pared and sliced
- 2½ cups sugar
- ½ cup flour
- ½ cup chopped nuts

Prepare pie crust according to package directions. Combine water, cranberries and apples in saucepan. Cover. Cook 5 minutes. Mix together sugar and flour; add to cranberry mixture; cover and cook 5 minutes longer. Cool. Stir in nuts. Pour into pie shell. Roll out top of pie crust. Cut a design in the form of a Christmas tree in the center. Adjust crust to pie. Brush with top milk. Bake in hot oven, 400°F, 35 minutes. If desired, garnish tips of "branches" with candied cranberries.

Cranberry-Lemon Muffins
(Makes about 12 muffins)

- 1 cup fresh cranberries, chopped
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- ¼ cup sugar
- 2 cups prepared biscuit mix
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- ¾ cup milk
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 2 tablespoons salad oil

Combine cranberries, lemon rind and ¼ cup sugar. Let stand 10 minutes. Combine biscuit mix and 3 tablespoons sugar. Combine milk, egg, and salad oil; stir into dry mixture. Lightly fold in cranberries. Fill greased muffin tins ⅔ full. Bake in moderately hot oven 400°F. 20 minutes.

Tangy Cranberry Horseradish Relish
(Makes about 2 cups)

- 2 cups fresh cranberries
- 1 apple, cored and peeled
- 2 stalks celery (½ cup diced)
- ½ cup sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons horseradish

Force cranberries, apples and celery through coarse blade of food chopper. Add remaining ingredients to cranberry mixture. Mix well. Allow relish to blend 3-4 hours before serving.

A big bowl of hot chicken or celery soup is a popular lunch dish on chilly December days. Have a surprise in store for your family next time. Saute shredded almonds in butter, blend in your favorite cereal flakes, then sprinkle on the soup before serving.

Candy Wreaths And Snow Men

December twenty-fourth is just three days removed from the shortest day in the year — but try and convince the small-fry of that! For them, there's no longer, duller day than the day before Christfas. But why reserve all of the excitement for Christmas day? Getting ready for Christmas can be almost as much fun as Christmas itself. Give the children a hand in the preparations. Turn them loose in the kitchen to make some Christmas candy wreaths or snow men. They'll have fun, and time will fly.

Christmas Wreaths

- ½ pound sweet milk chocolate
- ¼ pound unsweetened chocolate
- 3½ cups whole wheat flakes
- red candy decorations

Melt chocolates over hot but not boiling water; stir in whole wheat flakes, mixing until cereal is well-coated. Place spoonfuls of mixture on waxed paper and with two forks form into wreaths. Decorate with tiny red candies to represent berries or lights. Set in a cool place until chocolate hardens. Tie with ribbon bows if desired.

Yield: 10 wreaths (3 inches in diameter).

Note: ¾ pound of sweek milk chocolate or semi-sweet chocolate may be used in place of chocolate specified in recipe.

Cereal Snow Men

- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 1 pound marshmallows
- 10 cups oven-popped rice cereal

Cook butter and marshmallows over boiling water until syrupy, stirring frequently. Measure cereal into greased large bowl and pour on marshmallow mixture, stirring briskly. Form into balls in three sizes, about 1½-inch, 3-inch, and 3½ inch diamenter. Fasten these together with toothpicks to form snow men. Use currants and cloves for faces and buttons down front of "coat." Make hats from heavy black paper, and scarves from bits of red ribbon.

- ½ cup flour
- ½ cup chopped nuts

Prepare pie crust according to package directions. Combine water, cranberries and apples in saucepan. Cover. Cook 5 minutes. Mix together sugar and flour; add to cranberry mixture; cover and cook 5 minutes longer. Cool. Stir in nuts. Pour into pie shell. Roll out top of pie crust. Cut a design in the form of a Christmas tree in the center. Adjust crust to pie. Brush with top milk. Bake in hot oven, 400°F, 35 minutes. If desired, garnish tips of "branches" with candied cranberries.

Cranberry-Lemon Muffins
(Makes about 12 muffins)

- 1 cup fresh cranberries, chopped
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- ¼ cup sugar
- 2 cups prepared biscuit mix
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- ¾ cup milk
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 2 tablespoons salad oil

Combine cranberries, lemon rind and ¼ cup sugar. Let stand 10 minutes. Combine biscuit mix and 3 tablespoons sugar. Combine milk, egg, and salad oil; stir into dry mixture. Lightly fold in cranberries. Fill greased muffin tins ⅔ full. Bake in moderately hot oven 400°F. 20 minutes.

Tangy Cranberry Horseradish Relish
(Makes about 2 cups)

- 2 cups fresh cranberries
- 1 apple, cored and peeled
- 2 stalks celery (½ cup diced)
- ½ cup sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons horseradish

Force cranberries, apples and celery through coarse blade of food chopper. Add remaining ingredients to cranberry mixture. Mix well. Allow relish to blend 3-4 hours before serving.

A big bowl of hot chicken or celery soup is a popular lunch dish on chilly December days. Have a surprise in store for your family next time. Saute shredded almonds in butter, blend in your favorite cereal flakes, then sprinkle on the soup before serving.

Candy Wreaths And Snow Men

December twenty-fourth is just three days removed from the shortest day in the year — but try and convince the small-fry of that! For them, there's no longer, duller day than the day before Christfas. But why reserve all of the excitement for Christmas day? Getting ready for Christmas can be almost as much fun as Christmas itself. Give the children a hand in the preparations. Turn them loose in the kitchen to make some Christmas candy wreaths or snow men. They'll have fun, and time will fly.

Christmas Wreaths

- ½ pound sweet milk chocolate
- ¼ pound unsweetened chocolate
- 3½ cups whole wheat flakes
- red candy decorations

Melt chocolates over hot but not boiling water; stir in whole wheat flakes, mixing until cereal is well-coated. Place spoonfuls of mixture on waxed paper and with two forks form into wreaths. Decorate with tiny red candies to represent berries or lights. Set in a cool place until chocolate hardens. Tie with ribbon bows if desired.

Yield: 10 wreaths (3 inches in diameter).

Note: ¾ pound of sweek milk chocolate or semi-sweet chocolate may be used in place of chocolate specified in recipe.

Cereal Snow Men

- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 1 pound marshmallows
- 10 cups oven-popped rice cereal

Cook butter and marshmallows over boiling water until syrupy, stirring frequently. Measure cereal into greased large bowl and pour on marshmallow mixture, stirring briskly. Form into balls in three sizes, about 1½-inch, 3-inch, and 3½ inch diamenter. Fasten these together with toothpicks to form snow men. Use currants and cloves for faces and buttons down front of "coat." Make hats from heavy black paper, and scarves from bits of red ribbon.

WESTERNPORT — The regular dinner meeting of the Westernport and Luke Lions Club was held in the Sunday School room of Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church last night. A surprise program was presented and it will be decided when the second meeting of the month will be held as it falls on December 25.

He was found approximately 300 yards from his farm home. Sheriff M. R. Hott, who investigated, said he was told a shot was heard shortly after Cosner had left his house, but that his wife and grandson had not attributed any significance to the sound. Coroner A. L. Russell issued a verdict of death by self-inflicted gunshot wound.

A native of Grant County, he was a son of the late Adam and Nancy (Cooper) Cosner, and had resided in Hampshire County about 18 years. Both he and Mrs. Cosner had been in ill health in recent months.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Margaret C. (Buckbee) Cosner; a daughter, Mrs. Lyle Michael, of Arthur, W. Va.; and ten grandchildren, two of whom, Earl and Glen Michael, resided with their grandparents.

Services were conducted yesterday at the Thrush Funeral Home, Romney. Rev. Lowell R. Rogers, Keyser, officiated, after which the body was taken to the Lahmansville Church for additional services. Interment was in Lahmansville Cemetery.

Friday is the traditional Mohammedan Sabbath.

Athey Gets Hipsley Award At Fort Hill Grid Banquet

Dick Harlow Speaks At Boosters' Affair

Ronald Athey, tackle and co-captain of Fort Hill High School's city championship football team, received The James H. Hipsley, Sr., Memorial Award at the annual Fort Hill Booster Club dinner, held last night at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, in honor of the champions.

The award that goes annually on the basis of playing ability, loyalty and quality of sportsmanship, was presented to Athey by Victory D. Heisey, principal of Fort Hill High School.

Principal speaker was Richard Cresson "Dick" Harlow, former college football and boxing coach.

Calls Warner Greatest

The former Colgate, Penn State and Western Maryland head grid coach, referred to Glenn "Pop" Warner as the greatest of football mentors "who was 50 years ahead of his time." The speaker also stated that the Carlisle Indians would have been the greatest attraction in football today if they were now in their prime.

Harlow also stated that Jim Thorpe was the "greatest football player of all-time."

"Dick" said that football doesn't build character. "The boys already have character," he added.

"Never underestimate an opponent," Harlow declared. "Our country has never learned that and our overconfidence has cost money and lives."

"We have always fought best when we were scared."

One of the main things that football does is that it teaches discipline, the speaker said. "Many don't like it, that's why we have prisons."

Keeping in condition is another important item, Harlow stressed. The Romans, he pointed out, refused to fight their own battles and as a consequence the Roman empire fell.

Says Tatum Will Stay

Tommy Mont, assistant coach at the University of Maryland, expressed regrets for Coach Jim Tatum who was unable to be present because he is attending a Southern Conference meeting. Mont stated that there is no ill feeling between Tatum and President Byrd and "Big Jim" will be back coaching at College Park next year.

John Alderton, co-captain of Maryland, spoke about the Terps losing their last two games and admitted that Ole Miss and Alabama were good teams and played better than Maryland. He predicted that Maryland will do well next year with Cumberlanders like Lattimer, Decker and Beightol doing their share.

Coach Hahn acknowledged the aid given by the Boosters' Club that sent him to the LSU-Maryland game, congratulated the boys on their good season, thanked the parents and remarked: "Football gives boys something no other sport contributes." He then introduced the seniors on the Fort Hill squad.

Trophy Is Presented

William McProuty and Joseph Pellerzi, assistant coaches, spoke briefly, and the Times-News Trophy was presented by J. Suter Kegg, sports editor of the Times. The trophy was retired by Fort Hill this year.

Dr. Ralph Roth said he wasn't the team's physician but "he was "Gassy" Hull's personal doctor." The local physician presented Booster Club awards and certificates to the coaches and players. A corsage was pinned on the Football Queen, Miss Sarah Clapp, by Ronald Athey.

Donald Mason, president of the Boosters Club, gave the Address of Welcome. Dr. George Simons was toastmaster and the invocation was delivered by Rev. Kenneth W. Grove, of Emmanuel Methodist Church.

Ole Miss Voted Surprise Team Of Grid Season

Win Over Maryland Was Biggest Upset

BY HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP) — The football experts, who couldn't see the Mississippi Rebels at all when the 1952 football season started, conceded today that an undefeated season, a Sugar Bowl invitation and the biggest upset of the season had made Ole Miss the surprise team of the year.

In picking the order of finish in the Southern Conference before the season started, the experts rightly gave Georgia Tech the call. And they weren't overly surprised when Tech finished with eleven straight victories.

Ole Miss wasn't figured to do much and its rating didn't improve when it played tie games with Kentucky and Vanderbilt, neither of which was highly rated.

Upset Of Terps Tops

Then the Rebels, improving from week to week, began to roll. They beat Tulane, Arkansas, Louisiana State and Houston by convincing margins then topped it off with a 21-14 triumph over highly rated Maryland. That victory was tabbed as the season's biggest upset by the sports writers and broadcasters replying to The Associated Press post-season questionnaire. Today the same group designated Mississippi as the most surprising team.

Ole Miss finished the season with eight victories and two ties and will meet Georgia Tech in the Sugar Bowl Jan. 1. That was enough to satisfy 27 of the experts who participated in the balloting. Twenty-two chose Pittsburgh, 18 Yale and 16 Notre Dame.

Pitt was a surprise two ways. Coach Red Dawson's Panthers, after absorbing a beating from Oklahoma, bounced back to beat Notre Dame, 22-19, and Army, 22-14. Then they were the victims of a 16-0 upset at the hands of West Virginia. The final count was six victories and three defeats.

The Notre Dame team, short of manpower in Coach Frank Leahy's pre-season analysis, was tied by Pennsylvania and beaten by Pitt in its first three games. After that the Irish lost only to National Champion Michigan State, numbering the champions of four major conferences among its seven victims.

Yale Team Surprised

Yale, which had a miserable 1951 season and did not have the benefit of spring practice, acquired a brand new head coach only three weeks before the start of practice. Naturally not much was expected under such circumstances, but somehow the Elis under Jordan Olivar's coaching won seven of their nine games, losing only to Navy and Princeton, two of the top Eastern powers.

Players To See Game

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 11 (AP)—University of Oklahoma regents, in a defiant gesture toward a Big Seven Conference bowl ban, voted today to send the football team to the Orange Bowl—as spectators.

Bruce High Cops Third Straight

WESTERNPORT, Dec. 11 — Bruce High School's floormen made it three in a row for the season by turning back an Alumni quint tonight, 74-50.

Bruce held a 37-26 lead at halftime.

In the preliminary game, Bruce High's girls swamped Keyser High School, 53-8. Metz and Wilkinson led the attack with 13 points each. The lineups:

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII by the Complainant, Betty Whitten, from the Respondent, Jimmy Junior Whitten.

The Bill of Complaint states that the Complainant is an adult resident of Allegany County where she has resided for more than one year prior to the filing of the Bill of Complaint; that the parties were married on December 8, 1944 by a duly ordained minister in Elkton, Cecil County, Maryland; and thereafter, the parties lived in various states, and although the conduct of the Complainant was always kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Respondent did, without any just cause or reason, abandon and desert her on or about March 12, 1948, and that such abandonment has continued interruptedly for at least eighteen months and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that two children were born of said marriage, Joe Junior Whitten, May 9, 1946, and Charles Wesley Whitten, October 26, 1947, who are now in the custody of the Complainant. The Bill further recites that the Respondent is a non-resident of the State of Maryland and his last known address appears in the heading of the suit.

It is thereupon, this 20th day of November, 1952, by the Circuit Court of Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that the Complainant cause a copy of this Order to be published in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 22nd day of December, 1952, giving notice to the said absent Respondent of the purpose of this suit and warning him to appear in this Court on or before the 8th day of January, 1953, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree shall not be passed as prayed.

Dick Harlow Speaks At Boosters' Affair

Ronald Athey, tackle and co-captain of Fort Hill High School's city championship football team, received The James H. Hipsley, Sr., Memorial Award at the annual Fort Hill Booster Club dinner, held last night at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, in honor of the champions.

The award that goes annually on the basis of playing ability, loyalty and quality of sportsmanship, was presented to Athey by Victory D. Heisey, principal of Fort Hill High School.

Principal speaker was Richard Cresson "Dick" Harlow, former college football and boxing coach.

Calls Warner Greatest

The former Colgate, Penn State and Western Maryland head grid coach, referred to Glenn "Pop" Warner as the greatest of football mentors "who was 50 years ahead of his time." The speaker also stated that the Carlisle Indians would have been the greatest attraction in football today if they were now in their prime.

Harlow also stated that Jim Thorpe was the "greatest football player of all-time."

"Dick" said that football doesn't build character. "The boys already have character," he added.

"Never underestimate an opponent," Harlow declared. "Our country has never learned that and our overconfidence has cost money and lives."

"We have always fought best when we were scared."

One of the main things that football does is that it teaches discipline, the speaker said. "Many don't like it, that's why we have prisons."

Keeping in condition is another important item, Harlow stressed. The Romans, he pointed out, refused to fight their own battles and as a consequence the Roman empire fell.

Says Tatum Will Stay

Tommy Mont, assistant coach at the University of Maryland, expressed regrets for Coach Jim Tatum who was unable to be present because he is attending a Southern Conference meeting. Mont stated that there is no ill feeling between Tatum and President Byrd and "Big Jim" will be back coaching at College Park next year.

John Alderton, co-captain of Maryland, spoke about the Terps losing their last two games and admitted that Ole Miss and Alabama were good teams and played better than Maryland. He predicted that Maryland will do well next year with Cumberlanders like Lattimer, Decker and Beightol doing their share.

Coach Hahn acknowledged the aid given by the Boosters' Club that sent him to the LSU-Maryland game, congratulated the boys on their good season, thanked the parents and remarked: "Football gives boys something no other sport contributes." He then introduced the seniors on the Fort Hill squad.

Trophy Is Presented

William McProuty and Joseph Pellerzi, assistant coaches, spoke briefly, and the Times-News Trophy was presented by J. Suter Kegg, sports editor of the Times. The trophy was retired by Fort Hill this year.

Dr. Ralph Roth said he wasn't the team's physician but "he was "Gassy" Hull's personal doctor." The local physician presented Booster Club awards and certificates to the coaches and players. A corsage was pinned on the Football Queen, Miss Sarah Clapp, by Ronald Athey.

Donald Mason, president of the Boosters Club, gave the Address of Welcome. Dr. George Simons was toastmaster and the invocation was delivered by Rev. Kenneth W. Grove, of Emmanuel Methodist Church.

Ole Miss Voted Surprise Team Of Grid Season

Win Over Maryland Was Biggest Upset

BY HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP) — The football experts, who couldn't see the Mississippi Rebels at all when the 1952 football season started, conceded today that an undefeated season, a Sugar Bowl invitation and the biggest upset of the season had made Ole Miss the surprise team of the year.

In picking the order of finish in the Southern Conference before the season started, the experts rightly gave Georgia Tech the call. And they weren't overly surprised when Tech finished with eleven straight victories.

Ole Miss wasn't figured to do much and its rating didn't improve when it played tie games with Kentucky and Vanderbilt, neither of which was highly rated.

Upset Of Terps Tops

Then the Rebels, improving from week to week, began to roll. They beat Tulane, Arkansas, Louisiana State and Houston by convincing margins then topped it off with a 21-14 triumph over highly rated Maryland. That victory was tabbed as the season's biggest upset by the sports writers and broadcasters replying to The Associated Press post-season questionnaire. Today the same group designated Mississippi as the most surprising team.

Ole Miss finished the season with eight victories and two ties and will meet Georgia Tech in the Sugar Bowl Jan. 1. That was enough to satisfy 27 of the experts who participated in the balloting. Twenty-two chose Pittsburgh, 18 Yale and 16 Notre Dame.

Pitt was a surprise two ways. Coach Red Dawson's Panthers, after absorbing a beating from Oklahoma, bounced back to beat Notre Dame, 22-19, and Army, 22-14. Then they were the victims of a 16-0 upset at the hands of West Virginia. The final count was six victories and three defeats.

The Notre Dame team, short of manpower in Coach Frank Leahy's pre-season analysis, was tied by Pennsylvania and beaten by Pitt in its first three games. After that the Irish lost only to National Champion Michigan State, numbering the champions of four major conferences among its seven victims.

Yale Team Surprised

Yale, which had a miserable 1951 season and did not have the benefit of spring practice, acquired a brand new head coach only three weeks before the start of practice. Naturally not much was expected under such circumstances, but somehow the Elis under Jordan Olivar's coaching won seven of their nine games, losing only to Navy and Princeton, two of the top Eastern powers.

Players To See Game

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 11 (AP)—University of Oklahoma regents, in a defiant gesture toward a Big Seven Conference bowl ban, voted today to send the football team to the Orange Bowl—as spectators.

Betty Whitten, R.F.D. No. 1, Box 325, Frostburg, Maryland, Complainant, vs. Jimmy Junior Whitten, c/o Mrs. Elsie Judge, 1131 S. Sheridan Ave., Ottumwa, Iowa, Respondent, No. 22977 Equity, in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII by the Complainant, Betty Whitten, from the Respondent, Jimmy Junior Whitten.

The Bill of Complaint states that the Complainant is an adult resident of Allegany County where she has resided for more than one year prior to the filing of the Bill of Complaint; that the parties were married on December 8, 1944 by a duly ordained minister in Elkton, Cecil County, Maryland; and thereafter, the parties lived in various states, and although the conduct of the Complainant was always kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Respondent did, without any just cause or reason, abandon and desert her on or about March 12, 1948, and that such abandonment has continued interruptedly for at least eighteen months and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that two children were born of said marriage, Joe Junior Whitten, May 9, 1946, and Charles Wesley Whitten, October 26, 1947, who are now in the custody of the Complainant. The Bill further recites that the Respondent is a non-resident of the State of Maryland and his last known address appears in the heading of the suit.

It is thereupon, this 20th day of November, 1952, by the Circuit Court of Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that the Complainant cause a copy of this Order to be published in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 22nd day of December, 1952, giving notice to the said absent Respondent of the purpose of this suit and warning him to appear in this Court on or before the 8th day of January, 1953, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree shall not be passed as prayed.

Fred Haney Signs One-Year Contract To Manage Pirates

Skippered Two Flag Winners At Hollywood

Former Big League Player Was Manager Of 1939-41 Browns

BY JOE BRADIS

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11 (AP)—Fred Haney, who won two pennants in four years as skipper of the Pacific Coast League Hollywood Stars, took on the biggest managerial headache of his baseball career today—pulling the Pittsburgh Pirates out of the National League cellar.

Haney signed a one-year contract as Pirate manager to succeed Billy Meyer who resigned. Meyer, bothered by stomach trouble, said he couldn't take another season at the helm of the rookie-dotted Bucs.

Neither the Pirates nor Haney disclosed how much money the new 54-year-old manager will draw. Haney piloted the St. Louis Browns from 1939 through 1941.

Gets One-Year Contract

Signing of Haney surprised no one. But his one-year contract surprised everybody. There had been considerable conjecture Haney wanted more than a one-year pact, the kind General Manager Branch Rickey prefers to dish out. But Haney flew here from the coast, talked with Rickey and the agreement was sealed.

Haney said he signed because Rickey wanted him to. He said he felt obligated to Rickey for helping his Hollywood club.

Haney returned to baseball in 1949 with Hollywood after six years as a radio commentator. He agreed to do so on one stipulation—that he get a working agreement with the Brooklyn Dodgers, then bossed by Rickey. Hollywood won the pennant in 1949 and finished third in 1950.

Rickey shifted to Pittsburgh and continued the working agreement with Hollywood. The Pacific Coast League team finished second in 1951 and easily won the 1952 flag with a bunch of Pirate castoffs.

Played With Four Teams

Haney broke into the major leagues in 1922 with the Detroit Tigers. He also played briefly with the Boston Red Sox, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals.

Haney's job next year will be the biggest he's tackled. The Pirates finished 1952 with the worst record in more than 60 years, losing 112 games, one short of the club mark set in 1890.

Ford Is Leader In Miami Open

New Yorker Posts 67 For One-Stroke Edge

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 11 (AP)—Unaffected by gusty winds that raked the Miami Springs municipal golf course, Doug Ford, 30-year-old Harrison, N. Y., professional, fired a three-under-par 67 today to snatch the first-round lead in the $10,000 Miami Open Tournament.

Blasting low and amazingly accurate tee shots into the teeth of the wind, Ford registered a 33-34—67 over the 7,010-yard course to move out in front of a field of 166 players from 39 states and six foreign nations.

Trailing by one stroke with 68s were Art Wall Jr., 29-year-old Honesdale, Pa., pro, and the veteran Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N. C.

With Defending Champion Sam Snead in Hollywood to make a movie, the tournament became a wide-open affair. Because of Slammin' Sam's five championships, the Miami Open has been known in recent years as "Snead's Tournament."

In fourth place with 69s were Jack Burke, Houston, Tex.; Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Dick Chapman, Pinehurst, N. C., and John Cusano, Miami.

Mounties Battle Terps Tomorrow

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 11 (AP) — A West Virginia University basketball squad long on spirit and fight begins a tough three-contest road trip Saturday night at Maryland.

The Mountaineers, now 3-0, will go after their third Southern Conference victory with the hope that Freshman Willie Bergines, 6-6 Beckley product, continues his rapid improvement.

Bergines has moved into the starting combination with the only four WVU holdovers from a year ago. He has scored well from close in, with an eight-point average for three games, and is a strong rebounder close to the boards.

Maryland has eight lettermen back from last year, including highscoring forwards Gene Shue and Don Moran.

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 11 (INS) — The Pacific Coast Conference today placed its stamp of approval on the annual Rose Bowl Game and will invite the Big Ten to renew the existing contract for another three-year period.

PCC athletic directors and faculty representatives, at their annual winter meeting in Pasadena, thus erased speculation that the conference might abandon the football bowl classic at the conclusion of the present contract with the Tournament of Roses Association.

The current agreement between the PCC and the Big Ten expires after the 1954 game.

Robinson Agrees To Title Match

LONDON, Dec. 11 (INS)—British promoter Jack Solomons said today that Sugar Ray Robinson's manager, George Gainford, has agreed by cable to terms for a June 9 Robinson-Randy Turpin middleweight title fight at London's White City Stadium.

Solomons said Robinson has not signed an agreement but that Gainford's cables, which he considers equivalent to a legal contract, have been filed with the British Boxing Board of Control.

Turpin defeated Robinson for the title in July, 1951, but Robinson regained the crown two months later.

Boxing Must Be Made Safer, Medical Association Says

Journal Swings At NBA And State Commissions

By ROBERT GOLDSTEIN

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 (AP) — The Journal of the American Medical Association today called for an all-out effort-including a redesigned boxing glove—to cut "the high incidence of deaths and injuries" in the ring.

It urged research and renewed action all along the line to protect professional fighters.

In a swing at the National Boxing Association and most state boxing commissions, the Journal said professional boxing deserves to be labeled, "the nation's most dangerous trade." It added:

Must Be Made Safer

"Boxing can be and must be made a safer sport."

The Journal said the NBA should "immediately establish" an accident and fatality committee. This body, the Journal added, would "record the annual boxing death rate, conduct precise analytical studies of the causes of death in the ring and institute remedies to improve the protective equipment."

Similar steps taken years ago by football authorities, the Journal said, has reduced fatalities in that sport 50 per cent.

Need Medical Supervision

The Journal complimented the New York State Boxing Medical Advisory Board for providing a "completely equipped medical examining office" but added that "other state legislatures have failed to enact laws to set up similar medical advisory groups even though there is a need for such medical supervision in all the states."

It rapped the NBA as having failed thus far to "interest the boxing commissions in other states in a health maintenance and safety program" along the lines adopted in New York.

The Journal complained that no official effort is being made to compile the annual death rate from boxing but it said that Dr. Vincent A. Nardiello, physician at Madison Square Garden, reports that 87 boxers are known to have died throughout the world since 1946-47 of them in the U. S.

The Journal made no precise recommendation for a safer boxing glove, but said:

Should Improve Gloves

"The boxing gloves that deal out the lethal blows need to be definitely improved so that a greater measure of protection is offered to the boxer's brain, skull and mandible lower jaw....."

Capon Bridge High Drops 43-42 Battle To Virginia Quint

CAPON BRIDGE, W. Va., Dec. 11 — James Wood High School of Winchester, Va., won a thriller from Capon Bridge High's basketeers Tuesday night by the score of 43-42.

Larry Saville made a layup shot just as the final buzzer sounded and was fouled in the act of shooting. The spectators, thinking the game was over, had to be cleared from the court so Saville could attempt his foul shot that would have tied up the game. He missed, however, and the visitors won by a point.

Saville, Jimmy Sirbaugh and Wendell Ullery accounted for 33 of Capon's 42 tallies. Seartz paced the winners with 10 points.

Capon Bridge held a 22-18 edge at halftime.

Fred Haney Signs One-Year Contract To Manage Pirates

Skippered Two Flag Winners At Hollywood

Former Big League Player Was Manager Of 1939-41 Browns

BY JOE BRADIS

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11 (AP)—Fred Haney, who won two pennants in four years as skipper of the Pacific Coast League Hollywood Stars, took on the biggest managerial headache of his baseball career today—pulling the Pittsburgh Pirates out of the National League cellar.

Haney signed a one-year contract as Pirate manager to succeed Billy Meyer who resigned. Meyer, bothered by stomach trouble, said he couldn't take another season at the helm of the rookie-dotted Bucs.

Neither the Pirates nor Haney disclosed how much money the new 54-year-old manager will draw. Haney piloted the St. Louis Browns from 1939 through 1941.

Gets One-Year Contract

Signing of Haney surprised no one. But his one-year contract surprised everybody. There had been considerable conjecture Haney wanted more than a one-year pact, the kind General Manager Branch Rickey prefers to dish out. But Haney flew here from the coast, talked with Rickey and the agreement was sealed.

Haney said he signed because Rickey wanted him to. He said he felt obligated to Rickey for helping his Hollywood club.

Haney returned to baseball in 1949 with Hollywood after six years as a radio commentator. He agreed to do so on one stipulation—that he get a working agreement with the Brooklyn Dodgers, then bossed by Rickey. Hollywood won the pennant in 1949 and finished third in 1950.

Rickey shifted to Pittsburgh and continued the working agreement with Hollywood. The Pacific Coast League team finished second in 1951 and easily won the 1952 flag with a bunch of Pirate castoffs.

Played With Four Teams

Haney broke into the major leagues in 1922 with the Detroit Tigers. He also played briefly with the Boston Red Sox, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals.

Haney's job next year will be the biggest he's tackled. The Pirates finished 1952 with the worst record in more than 60 years, losing 112 games, one short of the club mark set in 1890.

Ford Is Leader In Miami Open

New Yorker Posts 67 For One-Stroke Edge

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 11 (AP)—Unaffected by gusty winds that raked the Miami Springs municipal golf course, Doug Ford, 30-year-old Harrison, N. Y., professional, fired a three-under-par 67 today to snatch the first-round lead in the $10,000 Miami Open Tournament.

Blasting low and amazingly accurate tee shots into the teeth of the wind, Ford registered a 33-34—67 over the 7,010-yard course to move out in front of a field of 166 players from 39 states and six foreign nations.

Trailing by one stroke with 68s were Art Wall Jr., 29-year-old Honesdale, Pa., pro, and the veteran Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N. C.

With Defending Champion Sam Snead in Hollywood to make a movie, the tournament became a wide-open affair. Because of Slammin' Sam's five championships, the Miami Open has been known in recent years as "Snead's Tournament."

In fourth place with 69s were Jack Burke, Houston, Tex.; Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Dick Chapman, Pinehurst, N. C., and John Cusano, Miami.

Mounties Battle Terps Tomorrow

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 11 (AP) — A West Virginia University basketball squad long on spirit and fight begins a tough three-contest road trip Saturday night at Maryland.

The Mountaineers, now 3-0, will go after their third Southern Conference victory with the hope that Freshman Willie Bergines, 6-6 Beckley product, continues his rapid improvement.

Bergines has moved into the starting combination with the only four WVU holdovers from a year ago. He has scored well from close in, with an eight-point average for three games, and is a strong rebounder close to the boards.

Maryland has eight lettermen back from last year, including highscoring forwards Gene Shue and Don Moran.

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 11 (INS) — The Pacific Coast Conference today placed its stamp of approval on the annual Rose Bowl Game and will invite the Big Ten to renew the existing contract for another three-year period.

PCC athletic directors and faculty representatives, at their annual winter meeting in Pasadena, thus erased speculation that the conference might abandon the football bowl classic at the conclusion of the present contract with the Tournament of Roses Association.

The current agreement between the PCC and the Big Ten expires after the 1954 game.

Robinson Agrees To Title Match

LONDON, Dec. 11 (INS)—British promoter Jack Solomons said today that Sugar Ray Robinson's manager, George Gainford, has agreed by cable to terms for a June 9 Robinson-Randy Turpin middleweight title fight at London's White City Stadium.

Solomons said Robinson has not signed an agreement but that Gainford's cables, which he considers equivalent to a legal contract, have been filed with the British Boxing Board of Control.

Turpin defeated Robinson for the title in July, 1951, but Robinson regained the crown two months later.

Roofers Seek Players

Boxing Must Be Made Safer, Medical Association Says

Journal Swings At NBA And State Commissions

By ROBERT GOLDSTEIN

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 (AP) — The Journal of the American Medical Association today called for an all-out effort-including a redesigned boxing glove—to cut "the high incidence of deaths and injuries" in the ring.

It urged research and renewed action all along the line to protect professional fighters.

In a swing at the National Boxing Association and most state boxing commissions, the Journal said professional boxing deserves to be labeled, "the nation's most dangerous trade." It added:

Must Be Made Safer

"Boxing can be and must be made a safer sport."

The Journal said the NBA should "immediately establish" an accident and fatality committee. This body, the Journal added, would "record the annual boxing death rate, conduct precise analytical studies of the causes of death in the ring and institute remedies to improve the protective equipment."

Similar steps taken years ago by football authorities, the Journal said, has reduced fatalities in that sport 50 per cent.

Need Medical Supervision

The Journal complimented the New York State Boxing Medical Advisory Board for providing a "completely equipped medical examining office" but added that "other state legislatures have failed to enact laws to set up similar medical advisory groups even though there is a need for such medical supervision in all the states."

It rapped the NBA as having failed thus far to "interest the boxing commissions in other states in a health maintenance and safety program" along the lines adopted in New York.

The Journal complained that no official effort is being made to compile the annual death rate from boxing but it said that Dr. Vincent A. Nardiello, physician at Madison Square Garden, reports that 87 boxers are known to have died throughout the world since 1946-47 of them in the U. S.

The Journal made no precise recommendation for a safer boxing glove, but said:

Should Improve Gloves

"The boxing gloves that deal out the lethal blows need to be definitely improved so that a greater measure of protection is offered to the boxer's brain, skull and mandible lower jaw....."

Capon Bridge High Drops 43-42 Battle To Virginia Quint

CAPON BRIDGE, W. Va., Dec. 11 — James Wood High School of Winchester, Va., won a thriller from Capon Bridge High's basketeers Tuesday night by the score of 43-42.

Larry Saville made a layup shot just as the final buzzer sounded and was fouled in the act of shooting. The spectators, thinking the game was over, had to be cleared from the court so Saville could attempt his foul shot that would have tied up the game. He missed, however, and the visitors won by a point.

Saville, Jimmy Sirbaugh and Wendell Ullery accounted for 33 of Capon's 42 tallies. Seartz paced the winners with 10 points.

Capon Bridge held a 22-18 edge at halftime.

Tony DeSpirito's Hopes For Record Get Severe Jolt

Jockey Given 10-Day Suspension At Miami

MIAMI, Dec. 11 (AP)—Jockey Tony DeSpirito's hopes for smashing the all-time American record for winning races were blasted today when he was suspended for 10 days for hindering another mount.

Tropical Park stewards "reluctantly" suspended the 17-year-old Lawrence, Mass. rider until Christmas Eve.

The game little apprentice jockey, who rode his first winner at Sunshine Park last Jan. 22, will be eligible to ride again on his 18th birthday, Christmas Eve, and will have only seven racing days left at Tropical Park.

If he flies to Havana for Sunday racing, as previously planned, it will give him eight racing days, but he would need 19 winners to break the record.

His suspension will be honored at all race tracks in this country, Canada, Cuba and Mexico.

DeSpirito's mount, Braseda, finished first in yesterday's fourth, but was disqualified and dropped to third, behind Barths-Belle and Prairie Kid, after Jockey Freddie Ryan, astride Prairie Kid, lodged a claim of foul.

DeSpirito, admitted his mount swung in against Prairie Kid, but said he didn't believe it warranted a suspension.

"I didn't think it was that bad," he commented.

Tony DeSpirito's Hopes For Record Get Severe Jolt

Jockey Given 10-Day Suspension At Miami

MIAMI, Dec. 11 (AP)—Jockey Tony DeSpirito's hopes for smashing the all-time American record for winning races were blasted today when he was suspended for 10 days for hindering another mount.

Tropical Park stewards "reluctantly" suspended the 17-year-old Lawrence, Mass. rider until Christmas Eve.

DeSpirito, with 370 winners this year, was driving to break the record of 388 set in 1906 by Walter Miller and equalled in 1950 by Joe Culmone and Willie Shoemaker.

The game little apprentice jockey, who rode his first winner at Sunshine Park last Jan. 22, will be eligible to ride again on his 18th birthday, Christmas Eve, and will have only seven racing days left at Tropical Park.

If he flies to Havana for Sunday racing, as previously planned, it will give him eight racing days, but he would need 19 winners to break the record.

His suspension will be honored at all race tracks in this country, Canada, Cuba and Mexico.

DeSpirito's mount, Braseda, finished first in yesterday's fourth, but was disqualified and dropped to third, behind Barths-Belle and Prairie Kid, after Jockey Freddie Ryan, astride Prairie Kid, lodged a claim of foul.

DeSpirito, admitted his mount swung in against Prairie Kid, but said he didn't believe it warranted a suspension.

"I didn't think it was that bad," he commented.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 11 (INS)—Pardon the cliche, but "out of the mouth of babes, etc." applies in the case of Betty Grable and Nunnally Johnson. Betty, who has spent most of the past year on suspension, was sent the script of "How To Marry a Millionaire" by Nunnally. He had no word and wondered.

He happened to drive his 10-year old daughter, Christy, to school where Vicki James, Betty's youngest, goes. Vicki said to Nunnally, "My mother read your script last night. She loves it and she is going to do it."

While "How To Marry a Millionaire" is suggested by Zoe Akins' play, "The Greeks Had a Word for It," it's a complete rewrite and bears small resemblance to the original play.

This is also Lauren Bacall's first at 20th Century-Fox on her new contract.

When Rosalind Russell's picture, "Never Wave at a WAC" has its premiere in Washington on Feb. 4. Mrs. Eisenhower, the new first lady will be there. The new President, himself, will try to make it, but he cannot promise. Mamie and Ike are both good friends of Roz.

Freddie Brisson, who is just back from Washington, arranged to have the premier following the inauguration, in Washington in the hope that the Eisenhowers can be in the audience. General Omar Bradley has already accepted.

Roz is rehearsing in New York for "Wonderful Town," the musical version of "My Sister, Eileen," so Freddie and Lance will go east for Christmas.

The success of Tyrone Power in "John Brown's Body," is one of those things that happens with Paul Gregory's plays plus the great stars who are presented.

Ty, who's in Michigan now, played to a capacity house in Detroit in one of the worst storms of the year. He has been offered a ten week guarantee for the Shubert Theatre on Broadway and was told that he can count on an advance sale of $300,000. It's my guess that Ty will take it.

Linda Christian, who moved to New York when Ty went on the road, has been with him in Michigan. Ty is a good actor and this is going to make him bigger than ever.

One of the very best of the TV directors, Will Cowan, has just received the exhibitors' annual award for "the outstanding two reel musical series for 1952"—and this is the fifth consecutive year that Cowan and Universal-International have received this honor.

Will directed a TV film which I made for Colgate, and for the first time in my life I could bear to look at myself.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Illy MacMurray looks so well and has gained back all the weight she lost, and you can bet she owes some of that health to the wonderful care Fred gave her.

Jimmy Cagney has to drop 25 pounds for his role in "A Lion Is in the Street" at Warners. That weight sure does creep up when you're not looking.

Gloria Swanson is in excellent condition following a checkup at Mayo Clinic.

Doris Duke is putting together an act which she will take on tour of military hospitals.

Yvonne De Carlo, who gets into print almost more than any girl I know, has arranged to have Argentine Actor Carlos Thompson test with her when he arrives in ten days.

Speaking of foreign actors, saw Ginger Rogers at Chasen's with Jacques Bergerac. Ginger is still beaming.

Letitia Fairbanks and Carl Neubert a Mocambo twosome. I didn't know that Letitia had obtained a divorce. It was kept very quiet.

Spencer Tracy has been offered a fabulous amount by a concert bureau to travel across the country reading excerpts from American literature. Spence is just the one who could do it, too.

Arthur Schwartz is going on tour with "Bandwagon," in which 22 of his songs are played.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Man Succumbs After Shooting Vet Official

Shot twice by a disgruntled neighbor who died of a heart attack minutes later, H. Rudolph Waltman, 39, Cumberland Road, Bedford, was reported improving yesterday in Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

His assailant, Paul A. Stump, 58, died on the cellar steps of his home after wounding Waltman in the neck and chest Tuesday night.

Waltman told State Police that Stump "had a grudge against me" about various matters for the past four years. He added:

"I had just parked my truck (about 7:30 p. m.) and was coming out of the garage when he shot me. There were at least four shots. Two of them hit me."

After shooting Waltman, Stump is believed to have entered his own home through a cellar door and was attempting to climb steps when he collapsed. He had been under a physician's care for several months and only recently was released from a hospital after being treated for a severe heart ailment.

Wilmont Smith, a friend who Stump previously had called and told to "come over right away," was with him when he died.

Chef de gare of the 40 & 8 in Bedford County, Stump was active in other affairs of veterans' organizations, the Bedford Volunteer Fire Company, and the Boy Scouts.

Employed as a dispatching clerk at the Bedford Postoffice, he had been on sick leave since early fall.

He is survived by his widow, the former Lydia Weyant; and one son Paul Jr.; his mother, Mrs. Walter Stump, a brother, Arthur Stump, Wernersville, and a sister, Mrs. Charles Bohn, of Sinking Springs.

Over $500 Raised In Rocket Revue

More than $500 was raised by the one-night performance of Rocket Revue, a show presented last week at Allegany High School auditorium by employes of the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory for the annual Christmas basket fund.

Besides employes at ABL, the show included some members of their families. The Rocket Revue was witnessed by more than 1,000 persons and will be an annual event. It is believed to have been the first variety show ever put on by an industrial group in Cumberland.

About 100 needy families will receive a Christmas basket as a result of the work done by the ABL employes who several years ago got the idea of helping persons they knew personally who had a pretty dismal outlook for the Christmas holidays. The first year a total of eight baskets were distributed.

Lou Baker is chairman of the Christmas basket program and employes at ABL who know of needy families may contact him. Baker checks with various relief agencies to avoid duplication of gifts. The baskets this year will contain canned goods, fresh meat (chicken or ham), milk, bread, fruit, potatoes, flour and other staples. Toys for families with children will be included.

Animals feel pain less than humans do. Their nervous systems do not seem to be as highly organized.

Coal mines of Alabama produced 13½ million tons of coal in 1951.

Escape Into Reality

The great plot of our time, the one that withstands the wear and tear of repetition more successfully than any other at the moment, is escape from behind the iron curtain countries into the fresh air of the Western world. If I've seen it once, I've seen it a hundred times. This great all-purpose plot has everything — suspense, Communist villainy, and that most important ingredient of almost every movie I ever saw, the chase.

John Crosby

Just now, the TV program working this old mine most assiduously is "Biff Baker, U.S.A.," a filmed series out of Hollywood. You could hardly ask for anything more splendidly American than this. Mr. Baker, played by Alan Hale, Jr., is an American business man, a type that has been almost wholly neglected on television. He is a well-fed blonde-type actor exuding American prosperity. The Communist devils by way of contrast are thin, hawkfaced types, presumably hungry. Hale is also jovial, open-faced and faintly redolent of Princeton. In other words, a walking companion of the sturdier American virtues.

In his travels behind the iron curtain countries, he is accompanied by his wife (Randy Stuart) and the two of them, while presumably trying to drum up a little honest trade, are everlastingly having to outwit the Commies. They do this with magnificent ease that it makes you wonder whether the Communists are half so clever as we had been led to believe? Through all their hairbreadth escapes, this couple play house in a manner that can only be described as adorable, kissing and fondling one another with almost as much resourcefulness as they employ in giving the hotfoot to the Communists.

Actually, raillery aside, this isn't a bad adventure series if you don't mind escaping from the iron curtain once a week. In the last one I saw, Mr. Hale and Miss Stuart were smuggling an American flier out of Czechoslovakia with vast ingenuity. There was, according to my count, one slugging and one change of costume which is below par for the course. It ended with Mr. Hale sending his car crashing through the barrier at the border in a hail of bullets — a sequence I must have seen several thousand times now.

The theme of escape into some Never-Never land is, of course, as old as time. But the theme has been changed. It used to be an escape into Shangri-La where the birds sang all day long and every vista was enchanting. Now you have only to escape from the nightmare of communism into our own workaday world. That's enchantment enough. It's a wonderfully ironic commentary on the state of the world that the state of escapist literature has got so close to earth.

"The Toronto Globe and Mail" brings the late word on the animal kingdom, something I like to keep abreast of. A farmer named Russell Fleming of Whitby which is about 25 miles east of Toronto, has installed a television set in his barn. Originally he put it there to help divert the hired hands but the cows have taken to looking at it, too. Fleming says milk production is up 15 gallons daily and that the cows seem to prefer Arthur Godfrey and Eddie Cantor to the other lads.

I'm not sure I believe any of this but the story was accompanied by a picture of a cow staring moodily at the set, straight into the eyes of Kate Smith who was smiling prettily. It was a gruesome sight. The cow bore an expression not much different from any television viewer — docile, passive, uncomplaining. You got the feeling she was taking Kate Smith either because she hadn't yet learned how to switch channels or possibly because there weren't any other channels to switch to. It was a depressing study in uncritical acceptance.

As animals go, I prefer the cat which insisted on listening to John Gambling every morning and howled with displeasure when he was turned off. Or the other cat which pounced on the TV set and turned it off rather than watch the Westminster Kennel Club show. These were animals with minds of their own. I don't think cows are ready for television yet, not even for Kate Smith.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Lillie M. Lashley, who passed away 1 year ago today, December 12, 1951.

Sad and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all;
A bitter grief, a shock severe,
It was to part with one so dear.
We often sit and think of you,
And speak of how you died,
To think you could not say goodbye
Before you closed your eyes.
For all of us you did your best,
God grant you eternal rest.

BENJAMIN H. LASHLEY and CHILDREN

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Lillie M. Lashley, who passed away 1 year ago today, December 12, 1951.

Sad and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all;
A bitter grief, a shock severe,
It was to part with one so dear.
We often sit and think of you,
And speak of how you died,
To think you could not say goodbye
Before you closed your eyes.
For all of us you did your best,
God grant you eternal rest.
BENJAMIN H. LASHLEY and CHILDREN

Trade Lacking, Prices Move Unevenly On Stock Market

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP)—Stock prices moved unevenly in today's market. Trends were lacking as gains and losses were scattered in every section of the list.

Not one of the fifteen most active issues declined, although four closed unchanged.

The Associated Press 60-stock average dropped ten cents to $113.40. Industrials and rails each were off ten cents, utilities were unchanged.

Heaviest traded issue of the day was Packard. It reached a new high of 5½ and closed at that level, up ⅛.

Following Packard on the activity list were Pepsi-Cola, up ⅜ at 10⅛, Missouri Pacific preferred up 1½ at 43⅜, New York Central up ¼ at 22, and Loew's up ¾ at 12⅞. Twentieth Century-Fox was seventh most active, ¾ higher at 14.

Texas & Pacific Railway spurted 3½ points to close at 124 after directors declared a $2 extra dividend which will bring this year's payments to $7 against $6 a year ago.

Other stocks on the upside included Northern Pacific up 1⅛ at 78¼, Nickel Plate ahead a point at 47⅝, Johns-Manville, Certain-Teed, Bethlehem Steel, Douglas Aircraft, Zenith Radio, Emerson Radio, Philco, Warner Brothers, North American and Youngstown Sheet & Tube.

Losses were registered for Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Goodrich, Goodyear, Studebaker, J. I. Case, American Smelting, Consolidated Natural Gas and Consolidated Edison.

Trade Lacking, Prices Move Unevenly On Stock Market

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP)—Stock prices moved unevenly in today's market. Trends were lacking as gains and losses were scattered in every section of the list.

Not one of the fifteen most active issues declined, although four closed unchanged.

The Associated Press 60-stock average dropped ten cents to $113.40. Industrials and rails each were off ten cents, utilities were unchanged.

Heaviest traded issue of the day was Packard. It reached a new high of 5½ and closed at that level, up ⅛.

Following Packard on the activity list were Pepsi-Cola, up ¾ at 10⅛, Missouri Pacific preferred up 1½ at 43⅜, New York Central up ¼ at 22, and Loew's up ¾ at 12⅞. Twentieth Century-Fox was seventh most active, ¾ higher at 14.

Texas & Pacific Railway spurted 3½ points to close at 124 after directors declared a $2 extra dividend which will bring this year's payments to $7 against $6 a year ago.

Other stocks on the upside included Northern Pacific up 1⅛ at 78¼, Nickel Plate ahead a point at 47⅝, Johns-Manville, Certain-Teed, Bethlehem Steel, Douglas Aircraft, Zenith Radio, Emerson Radio, Philco, Warner Brothers, North American and Youngstown Sheet & Tube.

Losses were registered for Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Goodrich, Goodyear, Studebaker, J. I. Case, American Smelting, Consolidated Natural Gas and Consolidated Edison.

Cumberland Man Dies In Three-Car Collision

William L. Raith, 23, Killed Instantly

A local youth was killed late last night when his car collided head-on with another on State Route 36 near Shaft. Five persons in the other car were injured, none critically.

Dead is William Louis Raith, 23, of 110 Independence Street. State Police said he was killed instantly.

In Miners Hospital at Frostburg are Mrs. Ethel Mae Snyder, 30, of Mt. Savage, in fair condition with multiple cuts; her sons, Raymond Harold Snyder, 14, with slight cuts; Irvin Leroy Sperry, 19, of Mt. Savage, in fair condition with serious head injuries; Mrs. Anna A. Lavin, 39, of 105 Mt. Pleasant Street, Frostburg, with leg and back injuries, and Richard Leon Gomer, 11, of Zihlman, with cuts.

Hospital attaches said Sperry was the most seriously injured, but was not in critical condition.

State Police said the accident occurred at about 10:30 p. m. half a mile south of Shaft.

Raith, who was driving south, crossed the center line of the roadway on a straight stretch of highway, police said, and nicked the rear fender of a car being driven in the opposite direction by Webster Arnold Dayton Jr., 28, of Bowman's Addition.

Then the Cumberland man's car smashed head-on into the vehicle driven by Mrs. Snyder, which was following Dayton's car. The impact spun Raith's sedan completely around and threw him out the right side of the machine. His skull was fractured.

Troopers said both cars were demolished by the impact. Dayton escaped injury, as did another of Mrs. Snyder's sons, Francis Edward Snyder, 16.

Investigating officers said the cause of the accident could not be determined late last night. At the scene were Troopers First Class Harry Bosley and William F. Baker and Troopers Donald R. Wade and Patrick J. Stakem.

Allegany County escaped snow which last night was falling west of Cumberland. Maryland State Police said no chains were necessary on highways west of Frostburg which were covered with slush. The Queen City had a rather gloomy day yesterday as temperature reached 40 according to Constitution Park weather station. Low was 33, and mercury remained at that point at 8 p. m. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 74 per cent. The Weather Bureau predicted rather cloudy with high readings between 40 and 48 degrees today with light snow likely.

Christmas Trees Provide Revenue For Farmers

34 Million Needed In United States

Some 34 million Christmas trees will be used in the United States this year—enough so that seven out of every eight homes can have the traditional Yuletide symbol.

District Forester William H. Johnson emphasized yesterday that this tremendous demand shows the opportunity for revenue from an additional crop for the farmers of Western Maryland.

Derive Revenue

Farmers who have been planting evergreens as a soil conservation measure are deriving considerable revenue from the sale of trees removed in thinning operations.

For instance, in Garrett County, one farmer effortlessly obtained $500 from a two-acre tract. A representative of the State Department of Forests and Parks came to his evergreen plantation and marked a number of trees that could be removed for sale so that the remaining trees would have more room for growth. The department then obtained a buyer who came to the man's land and removed 500 trees and gave the farmer $500. Johnson said that all the farmer had to do was accept the money.

Farmers who plant evergreens on land not being used productively find they can thin trees every eight or 10 years and derive an income from the removed trees.

24,500,500 From U. S.

Out of the great annual harvest of about 34 million trees, some 24,500,000 are cut in the United States. The rest are shipped in from Canada.

As the national population has increased in recent years so has the demand for Christmas trees. Thus, the annual harvest now is about five million more than the last estimate made five years ago.

Practically all species of evergreen are used for Christmas trees although the balsam fir is most abundant and the Douglas fir is a close second. Together, these firs make up well over half the trees on Christmas markets. Other popular trees include black spruce, eastern red cedar, white spruce and Scotch pine.

Most Christmas trees come from natural wooded areas or pasture lands. Only about seven per cent come from tree plantations which yield one-and-one-half million trees for the holiday trade each year, according to Johnson.

Out of the six most popular species of Christmas trees, the Scotch pine is the only one that is not a native of the United States and thus is always plantation grown. Scotch pines have become popular because they are easily trained and pruned into shapely bushy trees that bring good prices on the market.

County Man Back In Jail After Five Days Away

Frederick Rankin, about 50, of Borden Mines, was back in the County Jail yesterday — only five days after leaving that place of detention.

Rankin was first brought to the jail Thursday, December 4, after Frostburg Trial Magistrate James Carter had convicted him of a motor vehicle law violation and fined him a total of $111.50. The fine was paid Saturday and Rankin became a free man.

Wednesday night his wife obtained an assault warrant, charging that he had threatened her with a shot gun. State Troopers Donald R. Wade and Patrick J. Stakem arrested Rankin.

Frostburg Trial Magistrate Fred Crowe heard the case yesterday afternoon and sentenced Rankin to 30 days in the County Jail.

Deaf School Pupils Move To New Rooms

Potential Fire Danger Is Reason For Action

Thirty girl students at West Virginia School for the Deaf at Romney were evacuated from the third floor of an ancient building yesterday in compliance with an order by the West Virginia State Board of Education.

Stanley R. Harris, superintendent of the Schools for the Deaf and the Blind, said the 30 girls, four teachers and a cook were moved off the top floor and into first— and second-floor quarters.

The state board Wednesday ordered Harris to evacuate the third floor of the 82-year-old brick building because of a potential fire danger.

Harris said he was "in complete agreement" with the order because the top story of the structure presented a definite fire hazard.

The 35 occupants of the condemned quarters yesterday moved into dormitory rooms, three living rooms and a recreation room on the two lower floors.

Harris said he would "willingly comply with all requests by the state fire marshal" to safeguard the building.

The Board of Education handed down its ruling Wednesday after State Fire Marshal C. A. Raper said the building was dangerous. The board also ordered employment of another night watchman to guard against fires. Harris said there are now two such employes.

Clinics Set Today

Child hygiene clinics will be held today at 10 a. m. in Potomac Park and Midland.

Driver Finds It Doesn't Pay To Tear Up Ticket

It just doesn't pay to tear up a parking ticket, especially if the cop who wrote it is still around.

Officer R. M. Nuse tagged a car the other day for parking overtime on a yellow line. A few minutes later, someone told him the driver had torn up the ticket, strewn it on the sidewalk, and had driven away.

Nuse yesterday filed two charges against the man who was identified as the driver. Ross Keller Jr., 425 Franklin Street, posted $5 bond on a charge of littering the streets, and $1 on the parking charge.

Snow Falls In Nearby Hills

Highways in several parts of the Tri-State area became slippery last night as temperatures eased downward and snow began to fall in some mountainous sections.

A light snow in the Grantsville region made U. S. Route 40 slippery and slushy, but State Police said chains were not necessary. State Roads Commission cinder crews, however, were called out.

In the Elkins, W. Va., area, several highways were partly covered by a thin layer of snow, but Hampshire County was clear.

At Somerset, Pa., most of the snow which fell Wednesday night had melted, but some roads were icy and drivers were urged to move carefully. Cinder crews were called out.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford said there was no snow in that area.

The Weather Bureau, however, predicted snow flurries for today in western counties, and light snows tomorrow.

STAG NIGHT — Area male shoppers thronged Rosenbaum's store last night to participate in the first Stag Night for shoppers attempted here. In addition to a score of prizes given away, the pretty sales girls were able to give undivided attention to the men shoppers as they selected all kinds of dainty gifts for wife, mother, sister or sweetheart. To add to the gaiety of the affair Christmas music and popular tunes were heard over the store's broadcasting system and refreshments were served on the third floor. In the top photo, Schell Miller of Narrows Park, a Kelly-Springfield Tire Company staff worker is seen examining some blouses. The clerk is Mrs. Rose Soehner, Gephart Drive. Just behind them, John Cheney, LaVale, an employe of Buchanan Lumber Company, is talking over a purchase with Miss Gay Pentoney, 23 Fifth Street. In the lower candid photo, B. F. Hotchkiss Jr., 64 Greene Street, an employe of the Stores Department of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, examines a beautiful gown, while Mrs. Eugenie Kraft, 80 Greene Street, tells him about it. The Stag Night was so successful that Rosenbaum's said they will hold it again next holiday season.

City Will Check On Federal Aid For Belt Route

Engineering Staff Is Busy On Survey

The city is looking into the possibility that the proposed Industrial Boulevard in South Cumberland may be built as a federal aid project.

C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, this week wrote to the Maryland State Roads Commission asking if the SRC has any plans for relocating Route 51 and for an opinion as to whether the work could be financed as a federal aid project.

Was In Survey

One big point in its favor, so far as getting federal aid, is that the proposed belt route would in part follow the plans for Route C in the Cumberland Traffic Survey made in 1949-50 by the Maryland State Roads Commission.

The traffic study called for the route to begin at Route 51 near the city limits, follow along the north and east side of the B. and O. tracks to a point in the vicinity of Third and Thomas Streets, go north across the tracks, thence along the bed of the C. and O. Canal to connect with the proposed crosstown viaduct just south of the Western Maryland station.

By making use of Thomas Street, however, the plan now under study makes the route possible with existing streets, with the exception of about a mile of new construction in extending Montreal Avenue to Route 51.

Expedite Survey

The city engineering staff has been pushing toward completion a survey of the route and part of the data being secured in the field is being compiled at City Hall.

Just what the cost will be cannot be estimated accurately until the survey is completed.

A $978,000 civic improvement plan which has the blessing of city officials included several phases of the Industrial Route.

Included were $500,000 for the Montreal Avenue extention work, $100,000 for connections between Montreal Avenue and Thomas Street, $8,000 for widening a short block on Thomas Street and $30,000 for widening South Mechanic and Orchard Streets. Total cost would be over $638,000.

Local Soldier Named Unit Instructor Here

Will Begin Duties With Army Reserve

A Cumberland soldier has been assigned as assistant unit instructor at the local Organized Army Reserve Corps, according to reserve officials.

Arriving in the United States February 1, 1947 at Fort Dix, N. J., he was discharged and came back to Cumberland to join Company C, Maryland National Guard. After six months with the local Guard, he re-enlisted in the Army at Fort Jackson, S. C. in November, 1947.

Korean Service

Then in February, 1948, he was sent to Korea with the 5th Regimental Combat Team which is now part of the 24th Division. In June, 1949, he left for Hawaii with his outfit which was sent to the Schofield Barracks as a reserve unit in the Pacific.

He came back to this country in May, 1950 and was assigned to Fort Riley, Kansas, where he was discharged November 3, 1952.

City Hall Work Not Listed In Urgent Projects

Work Would Have Cost About $80,000

The $80,000 City Hall remodeling project failed to make the grade Wednesday morning when the Mayor and Council sat down to place its stamp of approval on suggested civic improvement projects.

Approved for action, either immediate or future, were projects estimated to cost about $978,000, including such major jobs as the Frederick-Bedford Street improvement and the proposed Industrial Highway linking Mechanic Street and Oldtown Road by way of Fifth Street.

Would Cost $80,000

The City Hall improvement work was suggested by Mayor Roy W. Eves shortly after the new city administration took office April 1.

The $80,000 estimate for the work was broken down as follows:

Furniture and equipment for the interior of the building, $9,290.50.

The cost for interior alterations was estimated at $15,306.85.

Asphalt tile for covering floors of offices and other rooms would cost about $2,500.

Heating plant improvements were estimated to cost $1,000.

Rewiring Needed

Another $5,000 would be needed for improving exterior entrances of the building.

Rewiring of the entire building, lighting and sound equipment was estimated to cost $20,000.

An air conditioning plant for the building was estimated at $4,421.20.

Sandblasting of the exterior of the stone structure was to cost about $5,735.

Other items were a microfilm set up, $5,000; contingencies, $6,746.45, and $5,000 for extras not included in the estimates.

To Nominate Officers

The Police and Firemen's Welfare Association will nominate officers for 1953 at a meeting Monday at 8 p. m. in the squad room of the Public Safety Building.

Attorney Calls Parkway Project Sound Business

W. Md. Economic Advantages Listed

W. Earle Cobey, former city attorney, told Mt. Savage Lions Club members last night that the development of the C. and O. Canal Parkway was good, sound business.

Speaking at a meeting of the organization at St. George's Episcopal Church, Cobey pointed out that if Washington and Frederick Counties opposed the project, the parkway should at least be built from Cumberland to Hancock.

Cobey urged all persons in Western Maryland to push the proposal. The resulting tourist trade would be equivalent to a small industry, he declared.

Economic Reason

The state of Maryland already has $25,000,000 tied up in the C. and O. Canal with no way of ever being reimbursed, but by purchasing right-of-way land along the canal, needed for the projects the state would realize some return from its investment, be noted.

Cobey especially stressed the "good business" advantages for Western Maryland and Cumberland. Even if the parkway was built from Cumberland to Hancock, this city would be the center of an excellent water-level highway north and south, he said.

This short distance from the parkway would eliminate the many mountains and hills between here and Hagerstown.

At the same time, Cobey added, the lower part of Maryland could not object to developing the upper section of the C. and O. Canal Parkway. A large budget has been proposed for the development of recreational areas in the state, but at the same time there are no accesses to those areas. The Parkway would help develop the recreational facilities."

Cheap Development

In building the road from Cumberland to Hancock, the state would be developing the cheapest section of the project. Land between here and Hagerstown is far cheaper than in Washington and Frederick counties, Cobey explained.

Another reason why the proposed road is a sound business proposition for Western Maryland, he said, is because it would draw tourist travelers from toll highways.

Since the C. and O. Parkway would be toll free, he explained, tourists and other travelers would seek the new road at Cumberland to avoid the other water-level toll highways. This would draw trade from motorists traveling both south and north.

The section between here and Hagerstown is the most scenic in the entire state, he said. In building the road, the Paw Paw and other existing subways could be utilized to serve the highway.

At last night's meeting, Cobey also gave a history of the old C. and O. Canal to the present day.

Chest Campaign Meets Agencies' Budgets Goal

USO Drive Below Goal Of $5,000

The Cumberland Community Chest fund drive has reached $101,723.31, it was announced last night during an executive committee meeting.

Although the campaign has ended, the Chest has received $506.77 since its final report last Friday. Officials said they have hopes that additional money will be raised in the next several days.

The Chest drive has not yet met its goal of $102,977.76, which includes Cumberland's $2,000 share of the USO county goal of $5,000, but pledges assures the budgets of nine local Chest agencies.

When the campaign was started the agreement was that workers collect the $100,977.76 Chest goal first, and all over that figure would go to the USO.

From Cumberland's pledges so far, the USO will receive $745.55 with additional donations expected. So far in the county, only two communities have reported. These are Eckhart with $24.75, and Midland, which reported $59.30.

Co-chairman of the county USO drive are J. Leo Delaney and Thomas G. Kilduff.

This makes $829.60 collected for the USO drive in the county. The Allegany County goal is $5,000. Since the county USO drive was slow in starting, additional reports are expected soon.

The Chest treasurer's report for November follows: receipts, $3,419.52; total disbursements during November, $7,545.15; balance cash, $1,600.36, and total receipts from 1951-52 pledges to December 1 were $98,047.85.

At last night's meeting, plans were discussed for the annual meeting to elect directors to the Chest. It will be held sometime in January. A nominating committee will be appointed next week.

Community Chest agency allotments for 1952-53 are: Associated Charities, $26,968; Baby Welfare Society, $2,790; Boy Scouts, $8,000; Girl Scouts, $8,272; Jewish Welfare Society, $1; Keating Memorial Day Nursery, $5,883.

Salvation Army, $15,646; Travelers Aid Society, $2,000; and Central YMCA, $21,208.94.

Christmas Trees Provide Revenue For Farmers

34 Million Needed In United States

Some 34 million Christmas trees will be used in the United States this year—enough so that seven out of every eight homes can have the traditional Yuletide symbol.

District Forester William H. Johnson emphasized yesterday that this tremendous demand shows the opportunity for revenue from an additional crop for the farmers of Western Maryland.

Derive Revenue

Farmers who have been planting evergreens as a soil conservation measure are deriving considerable revenue from the sale of trees removed in thinning operations.

For instance, in Garrett County, one farmer effortlessly obtained $500 from a two-acre tract. A representative of the State Department of Forests and Parks came to his evergreen plantation and marked a number of trees that could be removed for sale so that the remaining trees would have more room for growth. The department then obtained a buyer who came to the man's land and removed 500 trees and gave the farmer $500. Johnson said that all the farmer had to do was accept the money.

Farmers who plant evergreens on land not being used productively find they can thin trees every eight or 10 years and derive an income from the removed trees.

24,500,500 From U. S.

Out of the great annual harvest of about 34 million trees, some 24,500,000 are cut in the United States. The rest are shipped in from Canada.

As the national population has increased in recent years so has the demand for Christmas trees. Thus, the annual harvest now is about five million more than the last estimate made five years ago.

Practically all species of evergreen are used for Christmas trees although the balsam fir is most abundant and the Douglas fir is a close second. Together, these firs make up well over half the trees on Christmas markets. Other popular trees include black spruce, eastern red cedar, white spruce and Scotch pine.

Most Christmas trees come from natural wooded areas or pasture lands. Only about seven per cent come from tree plantations which yield one-and-one-half million trees for the holiday trade each year, according to Johnson.

Out of the six most popular species of Christmas trees, the Scotch pine is the only one that is not a native of the United States and thus is always plantation grown. Scotch pines have become popular because they are easily trained and pruned into shapely bushy trees that bring good prices on the market.

Weather

Allegany County escaped snow which last night was falling west of Cumberland. Maryland State Police said no chains were necessary on highways west of Frostburg which were covered with slush. The Queen City had a rather gloomy day yesterday as temperature reached 40 according to Constitution Park weather station. Low was 33, and mercury remained at that point at 8 p. m. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 74 per cent. The Weather Bureau predicted rather cloudy with high readings between 40 and 48 degrees today with light snow likely.

County Man Back In Jail After Five Days Away

Frederick Rankin, about 50, of Borden Mines, was back in the County Jail yesterday — only five days after leaving that place of detention.

Rankin was first brought to the jail Thursday, December 4, after Frostburg Trial Magistrate James Carter had convicted him of a motor vehicle law violation and fined him a total of $111.50. The fine was paid Saturday and Rankin became a free man.

Wednesday night his wife obtained an assault warrant, charging that he had threatened her with a shot gun. State Troopers Donald R. Wade and Patrick J. Stakem arrested Rankin.

Frostburg Trial Magistrate Fred Crowe heard the case yesterday afternoon and sentenced Rankin to 30 days in the County Jail.

Ice Cream, Milk Conference Set

The annual milk and ice cream conference will be held here January 9 under the sponsorship of the Allegany County Health Department.

The meeting will be held from 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. in the Health Department Training Center, Union Street County Building.

Principal speakers will be O. S. Sager, Washington, of the Bureau of Dairy Husbandry, Department of Agriculture; C. B. A. Bryant, R. H. Haycock and O. M. Moore, representing suppliers and the dairy industry.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, and J. B. Dowling, state sanitarian, will be co-chairmen.

Deaf School Pupils Move To New Rooms

Potential Fire Danger Is Reason For Action

Thirty girl students at West Virginia School for the Deaf at Romney were evacuated from the third floor of an ancient building yesterday in compliance with an order by the West Virginia State Board of Education.

Stanley R. Harris, superintendent of the Schools for the Deaf and the Blind, said the 30 girls, four teachers and a cook were moved off the top floor and into first—and second-floor quarters.

The state board Wednesday ordered Harris to evacuate the third floor of the 82-year-old brick building because of a potential fire danger.

Harris said he was "in complete agreement" with the order because the top story of the structure presented a definite fire hazard.

The 35 occupants of the condemned quarters yesterday moved into dormitory rooms, three living rooms and a recreation room on the two lower floors.

Harris said he would "willingly comply with all requests by the state fire marshal" to safeguard the building.

The Board of Education handed down its ruling Wednesday after State Fire Marshal C. A. Raper said the building was dangerous. The board also ordered employment of another night watchman to guard against fires. Harris said there are now two such employes.

Clinics Set Today

Child hygiene clinics will be held today at 10 a. m. in Potomac Park and Midland.

Driver Finds It Doesn't Pay To Tear Up Ticket

It just doesn't pay to tear up a parking ticket, especially if the cop who wrote it is still around.

Officer R. M. Nuse tagged a car the other day for parking overtime on a yellow line. A few minutes later, someone told him the driver had torn up the ticket, strewn it on the sidewalk, and had driven away.

Nuse yesterday filed two charges against the man who was identified as the driver. Ross Keller Jr., 425 Franklin Street, posted $5 bond on a charge of littering the streets, and $1 on the parking charge.

Snow Falls In Nearby Hills

Highways in several parts of the Tri-State area became slippery last night as temperatures eased downward and snow began to fall in some mountainous sections.

A light snow in the Grantsville region made U. S. Route 40 slippery and slushy, but State Police said chains were not necessary. State Roads Commission cinder crews, however, were called out.

In the Elkins, W. Va., area, several highways were partly covered by a thin layer of snow, but Hampshire County was clear.

At Somerset, Pa., most of the snow which fell Wednesday night had melted, but some roads were icy and drivers were urged to move carefully. Cinder crews were called out.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford said there was no snow in that area.

The Weather Bureau, however, predicted snow flurries for today in western counties, and light snows tomorrow.

STAG NIGHT — Area male shoppers thronged Rosenbaum's store last night to participate in the first Stag Night for shoppers attempted here. In addition to a score of prizes given away, the pretty sales girls were able to give undivided attention to the men shoppers as they selected all kinds of dainty gifts for wife, mother, sister or sweetheart. To add to the gaiety of the affair Christmas music and popular tunes were heard over the store's broadcasting system and refreshments were served on the third floor. In the top photo, Schell Miller of Narrows Park, a Kelly-Springfield Tire Company staff worker is seen examining some blouses. The clerk is Mrs. Rose Soehner, Gephart Drive. Just behind them, John Cheney, LaVale, an employe of Buchanan Lumber Company, is talking over a purchase with Miss Gay Pentoney, 23 Fifth Street. In the lower candid photo, B. F. Hotchkiss Jr., 64 Greene Street, an employe of the Stores Department of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, examines a beautiful gown, while Mrs. Eugenie Kraft, 80 Greene Street, tells him about it. The Stag Night was so successful that Rosenbaum's said they will hold it again next holiday season.

City Will Check On Federal Aid For Belt Route

Engineering Staff Is Busy On Survey

The city is looking into the possibility that the proposed Industrial Boulevard in South Cumberland may be built as a federal aid project.

C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, this week wrote to the Maryland State Roads Commission asking if the SRC has any plans for relocating Route 51 and for an opinion as to whether the work could be financed as a federal aid project.

Was In Survey

One big point in its favor, so far as getting federal aid, is that the proposed belt route would in part follow the plans for Route C in the Cumberland Traffic Survey made in 1949-50 by the Maryland State Roads Commission.

The traffic study called for the route to begin at Route 51 near the city limits, follow along the north and east side of the B. and O. tracks to a point in the vicinity of Third and Thomas Streets, go north across the tracks, thence along the bed of the C. and O. Canal to connect with the proposed crosstown viaduct just south of the Western Maryland station.

By making use of Thomas Street, however, the plan now under study makes the route possible with existing streets, with the exception of about a mile of new construction in extending Montreal Avenue to Route 51.

Expedite Survey

The city engineering staff has been pushing toward completion a survey of the route and part of the data being secured in the field is being compiled at City Hall.

Just what the cost will be cannot be estimated accurately until the survey is completed.

A $978,000 civic improvement plan which has the blessing of city officials included several phases of the Industrial Route.

Included were $500,000 for the Montreal Avenue extention work, $100,000 for connections between Montreal Avenue and Thomas Street, $8,000 for widening a short block on Thomas Street and $30,000 for widening South Mechanic and Orchard Streets. Total cost would be over $638,000.

Local Soldier Named Unit Instructor Here

Will Begin Duties With Army Reserve

A Cumberland soldier has been assigned as assistant unit instructor at the local Organized Army Reserve Corps, according to reserve officials.

He is Sgt. First Class James D. Simmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Simmons, 621 Frederick Street. Sgt. Simmons was sent to the local Reserve Corps several days ago.

A veterans of eight years service in the Army, Sgt. Simmons first entered the service January 5, 1944 in his last year of school at Allegany High School.

In Europe

He received his basic training at Camp Blanding, Fla., and later joined the 66th Infantry Division at Camp Rucker, Ala. After advanced training there, he was dispatched with the unit to Europe.

In ETO he served with the 66th Infantry Division in England, France and Germany. In February, 1945, he was wounded in action in France and spent over a month in a hospital at Rennes, France. Later he joined his unit which pushed on into Germany.

Sgt. Simmons returned to the United States January 6, 1946 and in April of that year was assigned to Europe again with the Occupation Army in the 716th Engineer Depot Company.

Arriving in the United States February 1, 1947 at Fort Dix, N. J., he was discharged and came back to Cumberland to join Company C, Maryland National Guard. After six months with the local Guard, he re-enlisted in the Army at Fort Jackson, S. C. in November, 1947.

Korean Service

Then in February, 1948, he was sent to Korea with the 5th Regimental Combat Team which is now part of the 24th Division. In June, 1949, he left for Hawaii with his outfit which was sent to the Schofield Barracks as a reserve unit in the Pacific.

He came back to this country in May, 1950 and was assigned to Fort Riley, Kansas, where he was discharged November 3, 1952.

Sgt. Simmons re-enlisted at Baltimore December 3, 1952 and was assigned to the local OARC.

The local veteran is married to the former Arlene Bennett, of Headsville, W. Va. and the couple have a 13-month-old son, James Edward. At present they are living with Sgt. Simmons' parents.

The body will remain at the George Funeral Home.

City Hall Work Not Listed In Urgent Projects

Work Would Have Cost About $80,000

The $80,000 City Hall remodeling project failed to make the grade Wednesday morning when the Mayor and Council sat down to place its stamp of approval on suggested civic improvement projects.

Approved for action, either immediate or future, were projects estimated to cost about $978,000, including such major jobs as the Frederick-Bedford Street improvement and the proposed Industrial Highway linking Mechanic Street and Oldtown Road by way of Fifth Street.

Would Cost $80,000

The City Hall improvement work was suggested by Mayor Roy W. Eves shortly after the new city administration took office April 1.

The $80,000 estimate for the work was broken down as follows:

Furniture and equipment for the interior of the building, $9,290.50.

The cost for interior alterations was estimated at $15,306.85.

Asphalt tile for covering floors of offices and other rooms would cost about $2,500.

Heating plant improvements were estimated to cost $1,000.

Rewiring Needed

Another $5,000 would be needed for improving exterior entrances of the building.

Rewiring of the entire building, lighting and sound equipment was estimated to cost $20,000.

An air conditioning plant for the building was estimated at $4,421.20.

Sandblasting of the exterior of the stone structure was to cost about $5,735.

Other items were a microfilm set up, $5,000; contingencies, $6,746.45, and $5,000 for extras not included in the estimates.

To Nominate Officers

The Police and Firemen's Welfare Association will nominate officers for 1953 at a meeting Monday at 8 p. m. in the squad room of the Public Safety Building.

Attorney Calls Parkway Project Sound Business

W. Md. Economic Advantages Listed

W. Earle Cobey, former city attorney, told Mt. Savage Lions Club members last night that the development of the C. and O. Canal Parkway was good, sound business.

Speaking at a meeting of the organization at St. George's Episcopal Church, Cobey pointed out that if Washington and Frederick Counties opposed the project, the parkway should at least be built from Cumberland to Hancock.

Cobey urged all persons in Western Maryland to push the proposal. The resulting tourist trade would be equivalent to a small industry, he declared.

Economic Reason

The state of Maryland already has $25,000,000 tied up in the C. and O. Canal with no way of ever being reimbursed, but by purchasing right-of-way land along the canal, needed for the projects the state would realize some return from its investment, be noted.

Cobey especially stressed the "good business" advantages for Western Maryland and Cumberland. Even if the parkway was built from Cumberland to Hancock, this city would be the center of an excellent water-level highway north and south, he said.

This short distance from the parkway would eliminate the many mountains and hills between here and Hagerstown.

At the same time, Cobey added, the lower part of Maryland could not object to developing the upper section of the C. and O. Canal Parkway. A large budget has been proposed for the development of recreational areas in the state, but at the same time there are no accesses to those areas. The Parkway would help develop the recreational facilities."

Cheap Development

In building the road from Cumberland to Hancock, the state would be developing the cheapest section of the project. Land between here and Hagerstown is far cheaper than in Washington and Frederick counties, Cobey explained.

Another reason why the proposed road is a sound business proposition for Western Maryland, he said, is because it would draw tourist travelers from toll highways.

Since the C. and O. Parkway would be toll free, he explained, tourists and other travelers would seek the new road at Cumberland to avoid the other water-level toll highways. This would draw trade from motorists traveling both south and north.

The section between here and Hagerstown is the most scenic in the entire state, he said. In building the road, the Paw Paw and other existing subways could be utilized to serve the highway.

At last night's meeting, Cobey also gave a history of the old C. and O. Canal to the present day.

Chest Campaign Meets Agencies' Budgets Goal

USO Drive Below Goal Of $5,000

The Cumberland Community Chest fund drive has reached $101,723.31, it was announced last night during an executive committee meeting.

Although the campaign has ended, the Chest has received $506.77 since its final report last Friday. Officials said they have hopes that additional money will be raised in the next several days.

The Chest drive has not yet met its goal of $102,977.76, which includes Cumberland's $2,000 share of the USO county goal of $5,000, but pledges assures the budgets of nine local Chest agencies.

When the campaign was started the agreement was that workers collect the $100,977.76 Chest goal first, and all over that figure would go to the USO.

From Cumberland's pledges so far, the USO will receive $745.55 with additional donations expected. So far in the county, only two communities have reported. These are Eckhart with $24.75, and Midland, which reported $59.30.

Co-chairman of the county USO drive are J. Leo Delaney and Thomas G. Kilduff.

This makes $829.60 collected for the USO drive in the county. The Allegany County goal is $5,000. Since the county USO drive was slow in starting, additional reports are expected soon.

The Chest treasurer's report for November follows: receipts, $3,419.52; total disbursements during November, $7,545.15; balance cash, $1,600.36, and total receipts from 1951-52 pledges to December 1 were $98,047.85.

At last night's meeting, plans were discussed for the annual meeting to elect directors to the Chest. It will be held sometime in January. A nominating committee will be appointed next week.

Community Chest agency allotments for 1952-53 are: Associated Charities, $26,968; Baby Welfare Society, $2,790; Boy Scouts, $8,000; Girl Scouts, $8,272; Jewish Welfare Society, $1; Keating Memorial Day Nursery, $5,883.

Salvation Army, $15,646; Travelers Aid Society, $2,000; and Central YMCA, $21,208.94.
